R. L. DOWNING A CONVERT.

Announces His Conversion In a Dramatic Manner In Washington M. P. Church—A Great Meeting.

Robert L. Downing, the well-known actor, has forsaken the stage for the church. He announced that he was converted last Tuesday evening at a revival service at the Rhode Island Avenue Methodist Protestant Church, as announced in the NEWS last week. Friday night he mounted the pulpit of that church and made his first address as a Christian.

Mr. Downing had been touring the Western States in recent months in a play from his own pen denominated, "A Voice from the Wilderness." It dealt with the life of John the Baptist and had a Biblical theme. About a month ago he returned to his home in Washington for a rest, and was preparing to give a presentation of his play at a local theatre. His conversion has changed his plans. He declares he will not again appear upon the stage. His contracts have been canceled and he will become an evangelist.

When Mr. Downing returned to Washington he took up his residence at 51 Rhode Island avenue, within a stones throw of the church. He began attending the revival services, which have been in grogress there for five weeks under the direction of Rev. J. M. Gill, the pastor, and Rev. B. F. Campbell, an evangelist from New York.

Mr. Downing last Tuesday night went up to the altar rail and declared his intention of "giving himself over to God." The service was largely attended and the spirit of the evangelists had deeply swayed the congregation, which was singing "Almost Persuaded." Some one in the audience was heard to suddenly cry out in a loud voice, "I will!" Rev. Dr. Gill and the evangelist saw Mr. Downing advancing toward the front of the church, with his arms lifted in the air in a gesture of supplication. When he reached the altar-rail he uttered a a prayer before he knelt with the rest.

Big Crowd Hears Actor.

Mr. Downing has attended every evening of the revival since his conversion. He was persuaded to enter the pulpit last Friday night, when Rev. Mr. Campbell was called to New York for a lecture Friday evening the greatest crowd the church has accommodated in its history assembled to hear Mr. Downing speak. There were probably 2,000 persons present, 600 standing throughout the entire service, which was conducted by Rev. John M. Gill, the pastor.

Mr. Downing said that he had met with success on the stage; that he had been chasing the bubble of worldly fame; that he had met with financial success, but that the moment of his conversion was the happiest in his entire career. He said he had been asked since his conversion what he intended to do. His reply was that he had nothing to do; his career had been changed, and he had forsaken the stage forever. He advised all who wished to be good Christians to abandon the theatre and the world and to work for Christ. He then announced his purpose of becoming a preacher of the Gospel.

Since then arrangements have been in progress for Mr. Downing to take up evangelistic work. The pastor of Ryland Methodist Episcopal Church in Southeast Washington, and the pastor of the Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church have already called for his aid in revivals. Mr. Downing is being prepared for this evangelistic work by the pastor under whose auspices he was converted, Rev. Dr. Gill.

Began Stage Career In Baltimore.

Mr. Downing has been connected with the stage for more than 30 years. Those Baltimoreans who knew the old company organized by the late John T. Ford will recall that Mr. Downing was a member of that dramatic company when it toured the South during the season of 1876-77, with Mary Anderson as the leading lady. Mr. Downing has been best known as a Shakespearean and heroic Roman player, but he has enacted many roles in his time. When he was the husband of Eugenia Blair he made a long tour with her. In that period he appeared as Orso, in "Helena," in 1895; as David Laroque, in the play of that name, in 1897, and as Putman, in "Putman;" Nero, in "The Gladiator," and Hervoy, in "In Search of Happiness," all in 1896. He has been seen many times in Spartacus and Othello. In 1903 and 1904 he went en tour in "Hon. John North," a play dealing with politics.

Mr. Downing was born in Washington in 1857 and entered the theatrical profession at Baltimore in 1876. He has acted with such stars as Mary Anderson, Edwin Booth, John McCullough, John E. Owens and Joseph Jefferson. Since 1889 he has starred under his own management as Virginius, Spartacus, Othello Ingemar and in other heroic roles. His residence for many years was Edgemore, near Bennings, D. C.

Rev. J. M. Gill Lived In Maryland.

The pastor of the church where the conversion occured, Rev. Dr. Gill, is a native of Virginia, but is well known in Maryland. Educated at Western Maryland College, Westminister, he completed his studies at Johns Hopkins University, and was stationed in Baltimore for six years as pastor of the Harford Avenue Methodist Protestant Church and three years as pastor of the Mount Royal Metodist Protestant Church. From there he went to Chestertown, Md., as pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church for five years.

Seven year ago he came to Washington as pastor of the little one-story, vine covered Methodist Protestant Church at the southeast corner of Twelfth and M streets northwest. The old church was sold to the Seventh Day Adventists and the Methodists Protestant congregation, then consisting of only 42 members, bought a lot at the intersection of Florida avenue and North Capitol street with the proceeds. The church did not have money enough to build at once and pitched a tent, in which services were held. That was five years ago. Today the congregation has replaced the tent with a fine new church and has 700 members and 732 Sunday-school members.

25,000 Telegraph Operators

WANTED IMMEDIATELY

The great railroad sytems and commercial telegraph companies need more operators and the demand is growing continuously. The pay has nearly doubled within the past year and there is not a first-class operator who wants work out of employment to-day.

Telegraphy is one of the very best professions and the best stepping stone to positions of commercial and business influence. Operators receive salaries ranging from $40 to $225 per month and thousands who started as operators are now receiving salaries of thousands of dollars annually. More than half the great railroad officials began as operators. Hundreds of them have become bankers. At one time the Senate of the United States had six members and a score of clerks at salaries ranging from $2,500 to $5,000, all of whom began life as operators. Andrew Carnegie and W. H. Olliver, world-famous as successful business men, began as telegraphers, as did also Thomas A. Edison and hundreds of others.

Young Man, If You Want an Easy Pleasant and Profitable Position,

LEARN TELEGRAPHY—The Principal of the Atlantic Telegraph Institute has taught scores of operators and not a single one is now unemployed. During his twenty odd years of service as a telegrapher he has managed offices for the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., and during the last administration of President Cleveland was the official telegrapher of the U. S. Senate, in which pasition, by unanimous endorsement of the Senate (with but a single exception) he was continued under President McKinley until forced by sickness in his family to relinquish the work.
