Easter was duly observed in the three churches last Sunday by special music, floral decorations and sermons bearing upon the subject of the Resurrection.

THE CIGARETTE SMOKER.

Elbert Hubbard isn't the best authority in the world on all subjects, but he is unquestionably correct in pronouncing against the use of cigarettes, especially the young. He says: "As a close observer and employer of labor for over twenty-five years, I give you this: Never advance the pay of a cigarette smoker; never promote him; never trust him to carry a roll to Garcia, unless you do not care for Garcia and are willing to lose the roll. Cigarette smoking begins with an effort to be smart. It soon becomes a pleasure, a satisfaction, and serves to bridge over a moment of nervousness or embarassment. Next it becomes a necessity of life, a fixed habit. This last stage soon evolves into a third condition a stage of fever and unrestful, wandering mind, accompained by loss of moral and mental control." Inevitably cigarette smoking impairs health, lessens usefulness and jeopardizes happiness, and all without compensation worthy of the name. All smokers are not effected to same degree, but there is none who would not be better off without the habit.

WHAT "SING A SONG OF SIX PENCE" MEANS.

You all know this rhyme, but have you ever heard what it really means? The four and twenty blackbirds represent the twenty-four hours. The bottom of the pie is the world, while the top crust is the sky that over arches it. The opening of the pie is the day dawn, when the birds begin to sing, and such a sight is fit for a king. The King, who is represented sitting in his parlor counting out his money, is the sun, while the gold pieces that slip through his fingers as he counts them, are the golden sunbeams. The Queen, who sits in the dark kitchen, is the moon, and the honey with which she regales herself is the moonlight. The industrious maid who is in the garden at work before her King—the sun—has risen, is the day dawn, and the clothes she hangs out are the clouds. The bird who so tragically ends the song by "nipping off her nose" is the sunset.

So we have the whole day, if not in a nutshell, in a pie.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Powell, trimmer in H. F. Jefferson's large millinery parlors, has been quite sick during the week.

Mr. William C Townsend, one of the Seventh District's prominent farmers has been quite ill during the week. He was reported improved yesterday.

Mrs. William R. Pippin is spending Easter with her mother in Baltimore.

SALARIES TO BE INCREASED?

Under Terms of General Educational Act Recently Passed Salaries May Be Increased Nearly Four Thousand Dollars.

Under the general educational act passed by the recent Legislature, the salaries of Kent county school teachers may be increased about $4,000 a year.

The law provides that white teachers holding first-class certificates and who have taught in the State for three years shall not receive less than $350 a year; those who have taught five years shall not receive less than $400 a year; those who have taught eight years shall not receive less than $450 a year, and the teachers holding second-class certificates who have taught for eight years shall not receive less than $350 a year. The County Commissioners are required to levy a sufficient sum to meet the increase.

Of the teachers in Kent county, it is estimated that more than one-half will be benefitted by the new law.

Whether or not the teachers of this county are benefitted by the Act, and receive the increase in salary depends entirely upon the County Commissioners.

It seems to be the general belief that the teachers in the public schools of this county should be better paid than they are at present and it is to be hoped that the County Commissioners take advantage of the provisions of the recent educational act and levy a sufficient amount to pay the increase as will be done in the other counties in the State.

HEAVY FROSTS DAMAGE PEARS.

The most severe, penetrating and general frost that has run through the fruit-growing districts of the Peninsula in years, carrying with it ice and slight freezing until after daybreak, was visited upon the orchards and vineyards of the Delaware Peninsula the past month. The agricultural people, particularly orchardists, awoke at night, and feeling the approaching freeze, began to put it down that a loss of from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 was being sustained by the Peninsula in a single night.

And yet careful investigations in the sunlight, after the buds have been warmed back to an open state, show that the damage is slight in most districts except as regards pears. Investigations were carried on as to apples, peaches, pears and plums, as well as in the strawberry patch. The only accounting for the escape is that fruit was so far advanced in flower that each bloom afforded protection for the other, aided by a brisk breeze.

Secretary Wesley Webb, of the Peninsula Horticultural Society, who is also the State inspector of fruit trees, had just completed an inspection of the large orchards in Delaware, and found them practically uninjured as a result of the frosts of April 3 and 4. Everything indicated the largest and greatest variety of crops of orchards and vineyards.

Mr. Bartus Trew, one of the best posted fruitmen in the country, remarked to the NEWS man Tuesday that in his opinion Keiffers and Bartlett pears are seriously hurt and the prospect is for a small crop. He thinks, however, that peaches are yet safe and that there are plenty of buds for a crop.

Ex-Senator J. H. Baker, another well-posted fruit culturist, corroborates Mr. Trew's opinion, as do other growers around Still Pond and Chestertown.

At the fruit farm of Francis M. Soper, who is a graduate in fruit culture, early Richmond cherries—and cherries were all well advanced this year, are found to be entirely killed. These are a beautiful bright fruit, very popular through this section. White cherries were found to be only slightly injured, probably not to the extent of half a crop.

One variety, the Carmen, an early peach, was examined from the peach orchard, under the microscope. To the astonishment of the inquirers, none of these were found to have suffered from the frost bite.

Three varieties of early apples were all that have yet matured their blossoms—the Randolph, the Red Astrakhan and the Early Ripe. On the Early Ripe apples, the blossoms have not yet bursted. All these varieties were found to be uninjured.

Horse Notes.—Mr. H. C. Willis, of Worton, lost a fine 3-year-old colt Sunday in a mysterious manner. The hostler was about to harness the horse to a carriage when the animal reared and fell to the ground dead!

Mr. J. D. W. Vansant, near Fairlee, has purchased a valuable mare of Mr. John Moffett. This mare will take the place of the one killed in Chestertown the latter part of March by colliding with Mr. Wilbur Eliason.

With one powerful blow with his bare fist, Harry Hill, as Indianapolis bartender knocked down and instantly killed a full-grown horse owned by August Blue. The feat was executed on a prominent street corner to settle a wager of $10. Mr. Blue suffers the additional loss of his horse, valued at $150.

Hill, who formerly worked in a packing house, has posted a $500 forfeit that he can kill 12 steers in 12 minutes with his fist.
