"RILEY IN THE BOX."

"Casey at the Bat" must now take a back seat, for that popular verse has been superseded by "Riley in the Box."

There's been a lot of smokin' over Casey an' his bat
An' how he didn't hit the ball an' other guff like that.
They've made some rhymes about him that have sort o' swelled his fame,
But what's the good of crackin' up the mutt that lost the game?

I'd heard about this Casey an' the way he smashed them out.
I'd heard about his posin' just to draw the bleachers' shout.
So when we tackled Casey's team ye may be sure I tried
To put a dent in Casey's fame an' puncture Casey's pride.

For those of ye who seen the game it's easy to recall
That they'd have won an' we'd have lost had Casey hit the ball.
Twas in the nint', wid bases full, that Casey came to bat,
An', Lordy, how the bleachers cheered when on his hands he spat!

I doubled up an' then unkinked an' let the horsehide fly.
"That's not me stoyle," said Casey as he let the ball whiz by.
"Stroike wan!" the umpire shouted, an' I thought there'd be a fight,
But Casey sort o' turned an' said: "Be quiet, lads. He's right."

Ag'in I shot a screamer, an' it whistled o'er the plate,
If Casey thought he'd strike at it, he thought a bit too late.
"Stroike tuh!" the umpire bellowed, but the bleachers didn't shout.
I looked at Casey, an' I saw his smile was dyin' out.

I braced myself an' sent wan in me peecoolyer style,
An' Casey swung wid all his might an' missed it by a mile.
No matter what the po'try says of Casey at the bat,
That was the way it happened, ye can bet your coin on that.

The bands were playin' somewhere, but 'twas not in Casey's town.
They serenaded Riley. He's the man who put him down.
An' so skiddoo for Casey's fame. His number's twenty-three.
'Twas Riley was the hero—Pitcher Riley don't ye see?

A WORTHY COLORED LODGE.

CHESTERTOWN, MAY 27TH, 1908.

The Star of Hope Lodge gave its annual reception. This association is among one of the foremost in our town and is doing a great work among our people and striving to improve our people morally and intellectually as well as to care for them when sick and bury them when dead. The following programme was rendered much to the delight of the large assembly: Mrs. J. E. Johnson mistress of ceremonies, My Country 'Tis of Thee, led by Mrs. Emma L. Miller, was sung by the Association; Address of Welcome, F. T. C. Chambers; singing, "How Firm a Foundation"; address subject, "Duties of Societies," Daniel Miller; address, "Origin of Societies," Rev. William H. Holland, D. D., of Augusta, Ga.; "Our Duties to Societies" Rev. J. C. Waters, of Bethel A. M. E. Church; address, "The Duties The Societies Owe to The State," Rev. J. R. Holland, pastor of James M. E. Church; recitation, Miss Macy Maize; select reading, Mrs. Rebecca Holmes. Under the supervision of Mr. Henry Miller all were served with cream, Ices, cake and fruit and all the delicacies of the season, and we toasted to the health of the lodge and may she continue to grow. W. W. Boyer is president, and J. E. Johnson, secretary.

KEPT "OPEN" HOUSE.

Arthur Diggs, Colored, Arrested at Fredericktown, For Violating The Local Option Law—Officers Found a Cart Load of Demijohns and Bottles.

Shortly before 12 o'clock Saturday night Sheriff Henry G. Hager, Deputy Sheriff Mc Allister, State's Attorney Albert Constable and special officer John A. Morgan arrived in Elkton, accompanied by a negro, Arthur Diggs, of near Fredericktown, whom they arrested at his home on charge of violating the Local Option law. When the officers arrived at Diggs house, Deputy Sheriff McAllister jumped out of the carriage went to the front door and applied for a half-pint of whiskey. Diggs recognized the officer and stated that he hadn't a drop about the house. The other officers by that time were alongside of the deputy sheriff and all of them walked into the house, placed Diggs under arrest and then proceeded to make a search of the premises. They found about two gallons of whiskey and enough empty demijohns and bottles to fill a horse cart. For some time past it is alleged, Diggs had been keeping an "open" place selling large quantities of both whiskey and beer, contrary to the Local option law. The residents of that part of the county made complaints to the officers, but for some unknown reason no one could be found who would inform on the violator of the law. State's Attorney Constable decided to make a raid upon the place and carried out his plans Saturday night. Just before the officers were ready to leave the house, a stranger came to the house and walked inside. When he saw the officers he started to leave, but was stopped and asked what he wanted, replying "Nothing." The officers found that the man had a half-pint bottle and 25 cents in money in his pockets. At his first opportunity the stranger left the house post-haste.

WOMANLY WISDOM.

Back and forth in the rocker,
Lost in a reverie deep,
The mother rocked while trying
To sing the baby to sleep.
The baby began a-crowing,
For silent he could not keep;
And after a while the baby
Had crowed his mother to sleep.

To free a house of mice, sprinkle red pepper where they are likely to run in it. They will soon leave.

Don't discourage the boy when he comes to you with his cares or troubles. Sympathize with him and thank God he confides in you.

The sweetest, purest ornament that a woman can wear, and of which she should feel proudest, is the clinging necklace of her baby's arms.

You can make pretty and durable table mats of the bottoms of used grape baskets Tear off the sides and cover the bottom part with white linen or table oilcloth.

Hang a palm-leaf fan by each bed. It is a comfort to have a breeze at command when you wake in the middle of a sultry night, and the cooler air and the regular motion of fanning often soothes one to sleep.

Some folks are troubled by potatoes turning dark after being boiled, especially at this time of the year. If they are peeled an hour or so before they are cooked, and left to stand in cold water, they will keep nice and white.

Butter may be kept solid in warm weather if put in a bowl that is covered with a plate and set in a pan of cold water. Then fold a towel and lay across the plate with the corners hanging down in the water, and put the pan in a cool, if possible, a drafty place, and the evaporation will keep the butter firm.

To keep flies from roosting on the screen door, ready to come in when it is opened, take a piece of an old window shade, or else a folded piece of manilla paper as long as the door is wide and about half a yard wide, and cut into narrow strips to within two inches of the top, then tack across the top of the door. The gentle breeze, or the movement of the door, when opened, will keep the flies away.

This is why his marriage was a failure: He did all the courting before marriage. He never talked his affairs over with his wife. He thought of his wife only as a cheap housekeeper. He never dreamed that a wife deserved praise or compliments. He married an ideal, and was disappointed to find it had flaws. He paid no attention to his personal appearance after marriage. He treated her as he would not have dared to treat another woman.

HELPFUL ADVICE

You won't tell your family doctor the whole story about your private illness—you are too modest. You need not be afraid to tell Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., the things you could not explain to the doctor. Your letter will be held in the strictest confidence. From her vast correspondence with sick women during the past thirty years she may have gained the very knowledge that will help your case. Such letters as the following, from grateful women, establish beyond a doubt the power of to conquer all female diseases.

Mrs. Norman R. Barndt, of Allentown, Pa., writes:

"Ever since I was sixteen years of age I had suffered from an organic derangement and female weakness; in consequence I had dreadful headaches and was extremely nervous. My physician said I must go through an operation to get well. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it and wrote you for advice, following your directions carefully, and thanks to you I am today a well woman, and I am telling all my friends of my experience."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

Mrs. Mary Boyer Deford died in Baltimore Tuesday and her body was brought to Rock Hall Wednesday for interment. She was aged 21 years and 9 months. She was the daughter of Wm. Boyer. Her death was especially sad.

Thomas Kendall, son of the late Jacob Kendall, died in Rock Hall Wednesday, aged about 45.

MRS. JULIA A. HOSSINGER.

Mrs. Julia A. Hossinger, relict of the late Joseph H. Hossinger, died at her home in Lynch, Wednesday afternoon of the infirmities of age in her 83rd year. The deceased was a Miss Biddle, who came from an old Kent family. Her husband died in 1887 since which time she has lived at Lynch. She was a woman of good business mind, an industrious worker and a great help to the needy. She leaves one son, Mr. Joseph Biddle Hossinger. The funeral took place yesterday, interment in Chester cemetery.

THE auditor's account filed in Circuit Court No. 2 in the case of the defunct Farmers' Trust Banking and Deposit Company shows that the creditors of the company will receive a dividend of 40 per cent on their claims. Since October 9, 1907, when receivers were appointed for the company, they have collected $111,485 and expended $21,407. The number of claimants is 1,161, and their claims aggregate $229,719.
