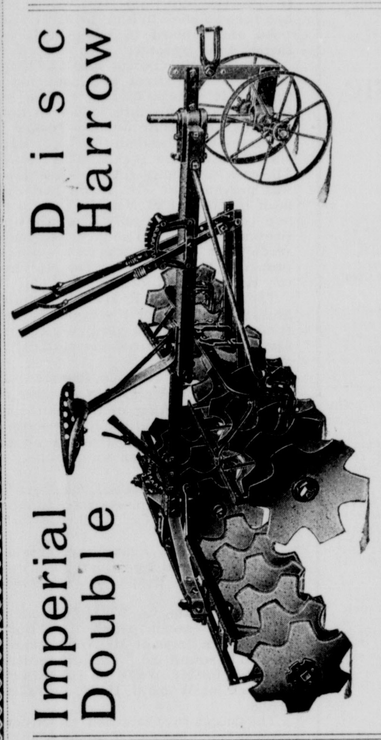
Imperial Double Disc Harrow



It harrows the ground twice in one operation, saving the labor of a man and two horses. It enables the farmer to harrow his land when it is in the best condition for tillage, favorable weather and soil conditions. It gives better results than any other harrow and leaves the ground in better condition.

In construction the Imperial Double Disc consists of a complete out throw harrow with a second harrow (in throw) attached by a flexible frame. The forward harrow cuts the soil and throws it outward; the rear harrow works it back and levels it. Each gang has its own lift, which enables the operator to keep the rear gangs follow the front gangs in turning and the dirt is not thrown up in ridges at the corners. Every inch of ground is pulverized and leveled.

The rear gangs may be quickly and easily detached and the machine used as a single disc harrow if desired. Write for particulars and prices.

APRIL TERM OF COURT.

sician's certificate to that effect; all those who are not known to possess the legal requirements of intelligence, integrity and sobriety; all those 48 who served on the preceding jury; when all these are eliminated, the list of eligible jurors is reduced to a degree incapable of estimation by anyone who has not actually attempted to execute this law.

If aid is sought by the Judge before attempting to draw a jury, as I have frequently done myself, I have found that a list which may be recommended by one good citizen may be, and not infrequently is disapproved by another equally good citizen. I mention this as illustrating the impossibility of satisfying the honestly conflicting public opinion in this matter. This has not deterred me and will not deter me during the remainder of my term from seeking such advice from trust-worthy citizens as may help me in executing the jury law according to its true intent and meaning, and my only purpose in these remarks will be accomplished if they serve to give a better general understanding of the law and of the difficulties under any system of drawing a jury acceptable to all the people.

When Court is opened the Judge selections a foreman of the Grand Jury. The Clerk or his deputy then places in a box the other 47 names written upon ballots of the same color, size and appearance, and when these are well mixed they are drawn out one by one at random and without seeing any name so drawn. The first 22 drawn together with the foreman constitute the Grand Jury and the remaining 25 constitute the Petit Jury. Thus it will be seen that while the Judge determines the 150 names to go in the box, neither he nor the Clerk nor any one else can control the drawing. That is purely a matter of chance.

Honesty, sound practical judgment, courage of conviction, respect for law and regard for the judgment of other honest men, are the essential qualities of good jurors, and the humblest citizen possessing these qualities, is a better juror than the most learned and influential man who is deficient in them.

There is another matter to which the Court in this Judicial Circuit, and as I am informed in other parts of the State, has thought it proper at this time to call the special attention of the Grand Jury. I refer to Chapter 122 of the Acts of Assembly of 1908 known as the Corrupt Practices Act, and designed to control, and if possible, put an end to bribery at elections. This practice which seems to have prevailed in some degree from an early period wherever the right of suffrage was general, has in recent years become an evil of such magnitude as to excite grave alarm for the permanence of free and popular government, and to arouse the conscience of all right-minded and patriotic men without regard to their party affiliations. This alarm and disgust has been expressed not only in the public press, and by the leaders of thought thoughout the country, but it is manifested in the ordinary intercourse of every neighborhood. Not only the great mass of the people who have no personal interest in the result of an election, other than that which every thoughtful man must have in the promotion of sound public policies, and the selection of capable and honest men to administer government, but the candidates for office who are the immediate beneficiares of election and the political managers who are the power behind the office-holders, have besn brought to see that if this evil is not checked and controlled they will be involved in the common ruin. Hence the Legislature of Maryland has enacted the law to which I have referred. If ever any law had behind it a sound and powerful public sentiment this law has it at this time. If its provisions are fairly and fearlessly enforced, that public sentiment will grow in strength until no one will dare to subject himself either to its material penalties or to the disgrace which its violation will insure. This is not the place for more than a reference to the change of moral policy involved in the enactment of that law, and I shall leave the subject with a brief summary of its scope and operation, merely adding that its enforcement like that of all other criminal law depends upon the honest and fearless action of the Grand and Petit Juries of the State, supplemented by the Court in the imposition of adequate penalities in case of conviction.

I have no knowledge of any violation of this law in this circuit at our last election, other than that in a neighboring county which was promptly and properly dealt with, and what I have said is merely in discharge of the duty which I feel rests upon the Court to call your attention to the provisions of the law and to express the hope and belief that it will prove of great and lasting benefit to the State.

Record 2:15¼

Made in Third Heat of Winning Race

Bred by C. W. Williams, Galesburg, Ill. Foaled 1901. A model in every way. His size, 15.2 hands, weight close to 1050 pounds, and color, mahogany bay, are ideal. His disposition and manners are perfect. His breeding, the highest of fashion—a son of the greatest sire of his age, living or dead, Allerton 2.09¼, world's champion trotting stallion to high wheels, from one of the greatest producing daughters of Baron Wilkes 2:18, the famous Futurity sire. A race horse himself, never having worn hobbles nor other false rigging; started green in the late summer of 1906 in six races, winning two of them, and was well up into the money the other four, he has, (though prominent horsemen have pronounced him capable of a record of 2:05 or better), been retired to the stud, sound, clean, superbly handsome, with vigor and vitality unimpaired, saving for his offspring what a mere racing-machine wears out on the track.
