Order of Publication

George T. Howard, Complaintant, vs:
Elizabeth G. Howard, Defendant

In The Circuit Court for Cecil County, Equity No. 5339

The object of this Bill is to secure a decree divorcing the Complainant a vinculo matrimonii from the said Defendant.

The Bill states that the Complainant was married to the Defendant on the 26th day of March, 1907, with whom he lived in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, until the ninth day of May, 1930; that the Complainant and Defendant have voluntarily lived separate and apart, without any cohabitation for more than five consecutive years, prior to the filing of his Bill of Complaint and said separation is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation. That four children were born to this marriage. That the Complainant has resided in Cecil County, for more than two years before the filing of this Bill. The Bill then asks for a decree divorcing the Complainant from the Defendant a vinculo matrimonii and for such other and further relief as her case may require.

It is thereupon, this 15th day of December, 1938, by the Circuit Court for Cecil County, in equity, ordered that the Complainant cause a copy of this order with the object and sustance of the Bill to be inserted in some newspaper published in Cecil County once a week for four successive weeks, before the 16th day of January, 1939, giving notice to the Defendant, who is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, to appear in this Court either in person or by solicitor on or before the 6th day of February, 1939, to answer the premises and to abide by and perform such decree as may be passed herein.

YOU NAME IT!

—and you can have it! Every language, including the Greek, has a word for this globe-trotting menu favorite, but if it's hot and freshly-brewed, it's good under any name!

Old Omar shouted "Qahwah" when he boiled the first beans 1000 years ago—and the gay "Café" is part of the modern Frenchman's day. The Chinese call it "Kia-fey" and the hardy Laplander averages 20 cups of strong "Kaffe" daily. Our American Indians learned to say "Kaufee". Even Eskimo esquires and roving Mongol males take "time-out" for a mug of "Teoutse" (Tootsie to you)—and if Esperanto is the language of the future, everyone will ask for "Kafva" some day.

We call it "coffee"—and the best of it comes from Latin-America to gladden palates all over the world. Good taste and aroma are assured if we follow these international rules: always use fresh coffee and enough of it—one heaping tablespoon to the cup; protect coffee after purchase; keep coffee-making equipment clean; and make the coffee fresh every time.

Success Story, New Style

From the N. Y. World-Telegram

Reporting a question-and-answer session between Wage-Hour Administrator Elmer F. Andrews and Denver businessmen, the Rocky Mountain News quotes the following:—

Business man—"Can an employer permit a worker to work overtime, or must he lock him out?"

Mr. Andrews—"In my opinion, such a worker should be dealt with the same as one who persisted in quitting early. He should be fired."

Well, we can see Mr. Andrews' point, if an employer is unwilling to pay the legal time-and-a-half for hours in excess of forty-four a week, the only way he can obey the Wage-Hour act is to prohibit overtime work—and enforce the prohibition. It would undermine the law if employees vied with each other in "voluntary" overtime work without pay.

But the American success story formula certainly is going to have to be revised to something like this:—

Boss—"Young man, I notice that you never watch the clock."

Employee—"No sir."

"And I often find you here at your desk, after closing hours, or even in the evening."

"Yes sir. You see, I want to learn the business."

"You know, of course, that I can't afford to pay you overtime for it?"

"Oh, that's all right. I figure that, eventually, I'll earn a raise."

"Well, that's fine, young man. Just fine. You don't often see such ambition, these days. I admire you for it."

"Thank you, sir."

Well, good-by, young man. I won't see you again. You're fired!"

TIPS TO THE TEENS

IN THE privacy of your home, you can be very personal in your comments.

But it won't be long now before you can push out from home. Maybe you will go to a new school; maybe you will take a job; maybe you will get married, in which case your manners will be particularly important, because a wife can almost make or break a man's career, so you've simply got to realize that there are many times and places when it is poor stuff to be personal.

It isn't smooth to make personal remarks about what other people wear. You've been brought up to select your clothes carefully, put them on right, and then forget them.

Some people have a terrible habit of running their eyes up and down what you are wearing, as if they were taking in every button. That's a bad habit and easy to fall into.

Don't assume that everybody has an intense interest in your affairs. What happened to you Tuesday afternoon doesn't interest anybody else unless it has some purely impersonal appeal, such as being very funny.

A dinner table or a party is not the time to make extremely personal inquiries—to ask after a very sick person, for instance.

BOWLING NOTES

With the holidays behind, the excitement in Elkton bowling circles reached a new high this week with the fans looking forward to the biggest bowling show of the year next Saturday night on the Community Alleys.

For the first time this year every alley will be taken with special feature match games, so if you want a seat you'd better get there early. Three teams from Chester and two from Wilmington will provide the opposition for the local rollers.

At the top of the list is the contest between the West End Recretion Five, of Chester, and the Community Alley Big Five which will occupy alleys 7 and 8. These two teams are about as equally matched as it is possible to find, and there ought to be an exhibition of some grand rolling. What with new pins holding down high scores, the local boys are determined to get in there and slam 'em down and take the honors.

For the first time in weeks the Coca Cola Babies will appear in their usual spot, Alleys 5 and 6, to take on their Wilmington rivals, the duPont Office Girls. These teams have tangled twice this season and the local feminine stars have won both miatches. It was a nip and tuck battle the last time with the duPont gals throwing a scare into the Babes in the opening game of the match. And word comes from Wilmington that it will be a different story this week. There will be a pair of steak dinners, as usual, for the high-rolling Baby, and a prize for the visiting fems.

The Elkton Parsons, resplendent in their new satin shirts, will do battle with the No. 2 team from Chester's West End Alleys. This will be the first meeting for these teams so there can't be anything like a prediction.

An 9 and 10 the Chester Girls, a high-stepping team of picked stars that practically annihilated the Feminine All-Stars last year, will meet a picked team under Grace Yewell's management, and the Jeffrson Lodge, of Wilmington, will play the local Odd Fellows. Yes, a big night, this Saturday.

FOR CARE-FREE WINTER DRIVING

In anticipation of severe winter conditions practical advice to motorists is given in a bulletin outlining precautions that will eliminate many of the hardships encountered by motorists.

Experience has convinced the Keystone Club's Emergency Road Service Department that much of th trouble incident to cold weather can be avoided. The formula for trouble-free winter motoring follows

"First of all, make sure the battery is fully charged. Very few motorists know that a battery showing only one-quarter charge will freeze at 13 degrees a bove zero. A half-charge, it will freeze at zero, but it is good for 98 below when fully charged.

"Second, it is well to change from heavy to a lighter oil. Even a strong battery will have difficulty in turning over a motor bogged down in heavy oil. Your dealer knows the correct grade for your car.

"Third, make sure the gas line and carburetor are clean.

"Fourth, check the ignition and spark plugs.

Fifth, use anti-freeze mixture in the radiator. Thirty per cent of denatured alcohol will guard against freezing at two degrees below zero; a lik percentag of wood alcohol and glycrine will give protection at five degrees below; 50 per cent of glycerine alone will protect at zero.

"While keeping the car in shape for cold weather, it is advisable to remember that defects in safety factors will continue to develop, and that frequent checking and adjustments are necessary for safe driving."

EVOLUTION OF THE DOUGHNUT

Probably few persons who enjoy the American doughnut know that the hole in the pastry was originated in New England by a boy who later became a well-known sea capt ....., Hanson Gregory.

It was in 1847, as a ad, that Hanson watched his mother frying doughnuts, and he noticed that the centers of the little round cakes always seemed soggy or doughy. Suddenly he had an idea: If the center were eliminated, the cake might be more appetizing and lighter.

Lik a good pioneer, his mother experimented, and the result was so satisfactory that she never went back to the former way. Her method was copied, and soon spread like wildfire over the entire country.
