In the death of George E. Owens at Betterton Kent has lost a valued citizen and Betterton a good man.

The members of the Legislature from Kent are friendly rivals as to who shall stick closest to the Organization. We commend them for it.

E. M. Hoopes has sold his holdings in the Wilmington Morning News to a syndicate of old employes and some outside parties. The price is stated to have been $100,000. The paper is a fine property.

Hon. Murray Vandiver was re-elected Treasurer for the State of Maryland on Tuesday, there being but six votes against him in his own party. Isn't this a record to silence all "kickers" against the veteran "statesman"? He gives most of his salary for the good of his party.

In another column will be found a most commendable and progressive movement on the part of citizens of Betterton and Still Pond looking to a practical solution of the road question. Their action should have the hearty cooperation of officials and citizens generally. We would also advise Progressive Clubs to be formed at Fairlee, Rock Hall and other places.

With the inauguration of Governor Goldsborough and the qualification of Comptroller Harrington, the Board of Public Works has two new members, Treasurer Murray Vandiver having been elected to succeed himself by the Legislature. The board has charge of the finances of the State, and will also have the appointment of many officials.

ANNAPOLIS DOINGS.

James G. Harris is chairman of the committee on Game and Fish, a most important place, besides being a member of other committees; and Chas. L. Miller is on the committee of Expiring Laws, Chesapeake Bay and Tributaries and several other committees.

W. Irving Walker is chairman of the Committee on Agriculture.

R. H. Hicks is chairman of the Committee on Printing.

Senator Beck is chairman of Article 3, Section 24, of Constitution, and also on the Committees of Elections, Engrossed Bills, Finance, Insurance and Loan Companies, and several others.

Among the applicants for office under Gov. Goldsborough are these: Harry Lambert, for Automobile Commissioner; S. P. Townshend, Esq., for Superintendent Bureau of Statistics; J. Henry Baker, Esq., for Election Supervisor in Baltimore; Harry P. Skipper, for member of Live Stock Sanitary Board.

There seems to be a growing feeling of confidence and good-will between the Republican Governor and the Democrats of the Legislature, and it is believed that there will be peace and agreement. The Governor says that his ambition is to make a record in his office which will receive the approval of good citizens. He believes that such a course will be better for his party than any attempt to build up a Republican machine. He recognizes the fact, he says, that the State is normally Democratic, and he does not propose to commit political suicide by perverting any part of the public service to partisan uses.

Systematic road-dragging is provided for Caroline county in a bill which was introduced in the House by Mr. Fooks, of that county. The proposed law appropriates $3,000 of the county funds to be used by the Road Engineer in dragging the roads with the log drag at such times as he thinks will do the most good. Mr. Fooks says that the $3,000 to be appropriated would keep from 150 to 200 miles of road in good condition all year round.

Mr. Elmer J. Cook, of Baltimore, sant to the House engrossing room Wednesday night a State wide Compulsory Education law, which, if passed, will require all children between 8 and 14 years of age, unless mentally unsound, to attend school while the public schools are open and require certificates of attendance from those who attend private schools. This is practically the same law in effect now in Baltimore city, except that it increazes the age from 12 to 14 years, and is designed to extend that system over the entire State.

It requires the appointment of attendance officers in the counties, allows the County Commissioners to maintain parental schools for chronic cases of "hooking" school, and allows several counties to combine in the maintenance of one central parental school.

Mr. Harris has introduced a bill in the House to amend the Kent county road law.

Senator Beck has introduced a bill in the Senate repealing the law requiring all dealers in wool and furs in Cecil and Kent counties to take out special license

THE NEW ASSESSMENT.

The County Commissioners for Kent, sitting as a Board of Control and Review, have reported the following result of their work:

Districts.	Real.	Personal.
First	$1,698,988	$307,335 00
Second...	1,739,362	287,769 00
Third.....	1,132,036	199,801 00
Fourth	1,402,470	332,765 00
Fifth.....	776,746	205,500 00
Sixth	798,409	172,732 00
Seventh	692,538	114,448 00
Total....	$8,240,499	$1,620,350

The total basis of real and personal, as above noted, is $9,860,490, but there is to be added to this a few prioate securities and shares of stock of corporations as reported by the State Tax Commissioner. This total is an increase of $1,400,000 over the old assessment, which is made up of one million in real and personal property and $400,000 on railroad property, which, under the old assessment, was rated very low.

The Easton Gazette says: "Considerable expression of opinion regarding the selling of the Talbot Fair Association's grounds has been heard during the past two weeks. Former Secretary Mr. M. B. Nichols is in full sympathy with the movement, declaring that the usefulness of the fair to Talbot county has passed; that without the racing and its gambling privileges attached the fair would not be self-sustaining; that many of the exhibitors of machinery have discontinued making displays, and that the merchants and residents of the town are tired of the annoyance, which means to them no business advantage."

TUBERCULOSIS

Facts For Farmers And Others About The Disease By A Competent Autority.

Article No. 2.

Last week we discussed the nature and history of tuberculosis and the importance of controlling it both from an economic and health point of view. This brings us to the symptoms.

Before describing the symptoms or signs by which tuberculosis is recognized or suspected in a living animal, it is well to state that there is no symptom that can be relied on with certainty. Any of the symptoms may sometimes be caused by some other disease, and not one of them is characteristic of tuberculosis alone. Many of the symptoms that are relied on by the human physician in reaching his opinion are not available in examining cattle. The thickness of the skin and chest wall, for instance, makes it difficult to detect a diseased condition of their lungs by listening to the sounds made by breathing, whereas this is comparatively easy in human beings. It must also be clearly remembered that cattle may be very badly diseased and yet show no symptoms of ill health. They may be sleek and fat, looking the picture of health while their lungs and other organs are full of tubercles, such cases can only be detected by the tuberculin test. As tuberculosis may attack almost any organ of the body, we may have in each case the symptoms connected with the part affected, as well as those affecting the general state of the body as a whole. We will take up in detail each of the more important symptoms suggestive of the disease.

Unthriftiness.—The animal is not doing as well as it should for the care and feed it is getting. Its coat is rough and its skin has lost its suppleness and feels harsh and thick. Along with the unthriftiness is noticed a gradual loss of flesh, the animal gets thinner from week to week. It appears to be pining away, and such cows have been known to dairymen for a long time under the name of "piners," or "wasters." After a time they are reduced to almost skin and bones.

Cough.—This symptom is only present when the disease is attacking the lungs or some part of the breathing organs. It is not a loud, sonorous cough, but rather a subdued and infrequent one, and may be heard only at such times as when the stable is first opened in the morning, or when the animal is driven. At a later stage of the disease it may be heard at any time of the day. Cows do not usually appear to cough up anything. This is because they do not spit. Most of the material coughed up from the lungs is swallowed, but many tuberculosis germs escape from the mouth in the form of spray or are discharged from the nose.

Enlargements in the region of the throat, especially when they cause difficulty in breathing are very apt to be due to tuberculosis. Loss of appetite is not seen until the latter stages of the disease, when the animal is evidently wasting. Sometimes the diseased glands in the chest prevent the usual passage of gas from the paunch to the mouth by pressing on the gullet. In this case the cow suffers from bloating and the paunch is often greatly distended with gas. This, however, is not a very frequent symptom. Looseness of the bowels or "scouring" is seen in cattle affected with the disease in the bowels. This kind of scouring cannot be cured by any known treatment. When tuberculosis attacks the udder, no change can be detected at first, but after a time hard lumps can be felt in some parts of the organ after it is miked out. Milk from such an udder must not be used, as it is almost certain to be teeming with germs of the disease.

The Anti-Saloon League is planning to have the local option bill discussed from every pulpit in Maryland on January 28, and the replies already received from pastors assure the success of the movement. The League has prepared leaflets which will be supplied free to the churches for distribution to all voters to aid them in writing members of the legislature on the local option question. The League reports that interest is stronger than ever before among the church people of the State.

The Liquor Men Are Working With Eastern Shore Members of Legislature Against the Local Option Bill—An Urgent Message to All Temperance People, Democrats Especially.

It is conceded at Annapolis that there is a local option majority in both Houses of the present Legislature if we can HOLD them.

The liquor inerest are desperate and have unlimited money. One of the leading Baltimore papers has made the unqualified statement the local option bill was productive of much plunder last time, and that a large and hungry lobby is ready for it this time. This has stimulated a friend of the League to offer Two Thousand Dollars ($2,000) in rewards,—One Thousand Dollars (1,000) for the first person and Five Hundred Dollars (500) each to the next two who furnish evidence resulting in the conviction of any person for attempting to bribe an officer or member of the Legislature on the local option question.

The Anti-Saloon League is not afraid of the liquor interests actually buying members of the Legislature, especially from the Eastern Shore, for the League considers them to be honorable men. But the liquor interests will unquestionably attempt to take the votes away from the bill by threatening to oppose or promising to support local legislation and candidates for office that members are interested in.

But the greatest danger is that the Mahon Democratic city liquor gang, which has heretofore killed the local option bill, will demand of some of the state political leaders some concession concerning the local option bill as the price of their support of some general political proposition desired by such leaders, and that then these leaders will call upon the Eastern Shore members, under the plea of party necessity, to carry out this arrangement, and Mr. Mahon or some liquor attorney will get the money while the man who cast the vote will get the blame and disgrace.

Men From "Dry" Counties Need To Be Especially Careful.

Many of the Eastern Shore members are deeply interested in the success of the bill and will stand firm against any sort of liquor pressure, but the Christian temperance people of the Eastern Shore have no right to expect their representatives in the Senate and House to stand up against the united, organized power of a desperate liquor traffic without encouragement from home. Therefore the League suggests that the personal friends of every man in the Legislature should take pains to make clear that they will stand by him if he takes the position that the political leaders have no right to barter away his vote on a moral question or in any way put him in a position where by voting against such a reasonable measure desired by his constituents he will expose himself and his family to the humiliation growing out of an unjust suspicion that his vote was purchased.

The League appeals especially to temperance Democrats throughout the Eastern Shore counties to make clear that no Democrat from a "dry" county can afford for the sake of his party to oppose the bill which will give the rest of the counties the same rights already enjoyed by the Eastern Shore and designed a so to give the Eastern Shore Counties the enforcement legislation which they need.

The Mahon liquor gang of Baltimore City has already cost the Democratic party the Governorship by killing the local option last time. And any Democrat who disregards the wishes of his people to help this corrupt gang in another effort to kill the local option bill is helping further discredit his party with the moral people on the eve of a presidential election.

Baltimore Wants the Right to Vote.

The liquor falsehood that the City of Baltimore does not want the local option bill is completely answered by the fact that the bill will be introduced by Mr. J. Booker Clift, a City Republican who was elected on the local option issue in a district normal y 3,000 Democratic, and the further fact that the only Republicans elected from Democratic districts in Baltimore City were the four who declared openly for local option. The people of the city have proved that they want the right to vote whenever the politicians have given the chance

The League will resist to the limit of its power any attempt to exempt Baltimore City. Governor Crathers' proposition to pass the bill, city and all, but provide that there shall be no vote in the city AS A WHOLE for some years is unnecessary, for the Headquarters Committee has formally recorded an official declaration that the League has no intention of attempting a vote in the city AS A WHOLE inside of three years, because campaigns in the counties and various wards of Baltimore that want to vote will constitute a full program for at least that long. But even though unimportant and unneccessary this is dangerous, for it would open the door to other amendments that might ruin and kill the bill. Therefore the League is compelled to oppose ALL amendments in justice to the men who have pledged to support the bil! as it stands.

The proposed state-wide bill will not "force prohibition on Baltimore City" as the liquor men tearfully claim. The only FORCING it does is to compel the Mahon liquor gang to let the people of the various wards of Baltimore vote IF THEY WANT TO. Why should the counties help to protect the saloons of Baltimore as a source of funds to enable this city gang to continue to dominate the politics of the state?

Fully Protects All The "Dry" Counties.

The liquor men are already at work on the Eastern Shore members of the Legislature and are trying to frighten them into believing that the passage of the bill will make it possible to re-open the question and vote saloons back into some districts in some of the "dry" Eastern Shore counties. Yet these same liquor men in talking with men from "wet" counties claim that the bill is unfair BECAUSE IT WILL NOT PERMIT THE PRESENT DRY SECTIONS TO VOTE LIQUOR BACK.

The proposed State-wide bill was drafted on purpose to protect the "dry" counties. It provides for a reversal of any vote taken UNDER ITS OWN PROVISIONS. But the Eastern Shore counties all went "dry" under other laws and this bill is so drafted that it cannot be used to bring back saloons into territory that GOT RID OF THEM UNDER OTHER MEASURES. But it will allow the Eastern Shore counties, without any danger of losing what they already have, to vote on the question of whether or not they will adopt the valuable enforcement features which are included.

The Eastern Shore members of the Legislature are not mind readers TELL them that you want the State-wide bill passed without amendment, that you are counting on them to stand by the bill, and that you will stand by them in the future if they do so.

THINGS ALL OUGHT TO KNOW

As Christian Bible Students—The Satisfactory Proof of "Why God Permits Evil."

One of the questions which comes to nearly every thinking mind today is, "Why does God permit evil?" As we look about us in the world we observe that it is filled with sorrow and trouble, sickness and pain and every trial we could enumerate, and we cannot help wondering WHY GOD ALLOWS IT. We realize that He is almighty and that He could prevent it if He wished. We read in His Word that He is more willing to do for His children than are earthly parents for theirs, and we know how much that means; yet oftentimes, it seems that those who try to do and live right have the most trouble. This question is made very clear in a book entitled, "The Divine Plan of the Ages." Every statement is backed by Scripture, and shows that while God does not sanction evil HE HAS ALLOWED SIN AND DEATH TO REIGN FOR THESE LONG SIX THOUSAND YEARS. This and many other subjects of deep interest to all of God's people are discussed fully and in language easy of comprehension.
