Wife's Ten Commandments.

A Cairo (Ill.) woman recently threatened to sue for a divorce. Her husband promised to be good. He signed the following ten commandments of his wife's making which were filed with a notary public:—

I am thy love, thy wife; thou shalt have no other love but me.

Thou shalt not take unto thy heart any stenographer or any other love pirate.

Thou shalt not promise to love me in vain.

Remember thou come home on the Sabbath. Six days mayest thou wander, but not at night; nor on the seventh day, which is the day of thy wife's.

Honor thy mother-in-law, that thy days may be long in the land of love.

Thou shalt not carry a latchkey.

Thou shalt not return to thy happy home at 3 o'clock in the morning. The doors will be bolted if thou doest.

Thou shalt not grumble at thy lot.

Thou shalt not object to buttoning my gowns; nay, even if they be 500-button dresses.

Thou shalt not covet the sweet temper of thy neighbor's wife.

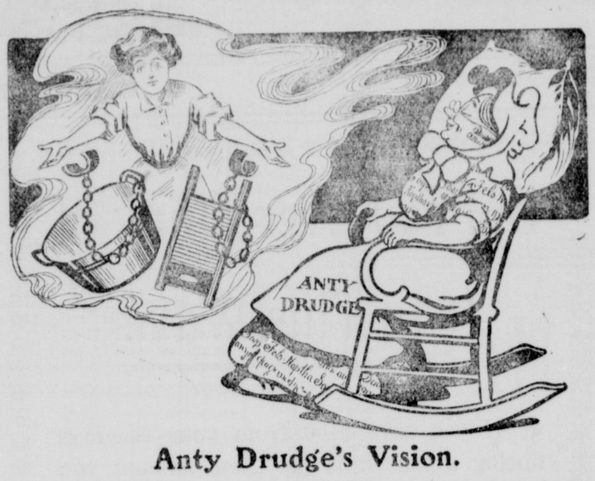
Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA



Anty Drudge's Vision.

Anty Drudge had finished her weekly wash before noon and she sat in her comfortable rocking chair and dozed.

And in a dream, she saw an unhappy woman bound with fetters, her right arm chained to a washboiler, her left arm to a washboard.

And the sun was setting and it was growing dark.

And she dreamed that she touched the shackles on each wrist of the woman with a bar of Fels-Naptha soap. And they fell off, and the woman arose glad and free—free from washday drudgery for evermore. And Anty Drudge, arousing from her slumber, knew that what she dreamed was true.

The greatest emancipation proclamation since Lincoln's is printed on the back of the red and green Fels-Naptha soap wrapper. It is the directions for using Fels-Naptha in washing clothes.

It is also a different way of washing. It has freed millions of women from washday drudgery for all time to come—from slavery to the old back-breaking, health wrecking methods which used to be thought necessary.

Are you still a slave to these old-fashioned methods, drudging away every washday, wasting your time and your work and wearing out clothes before their time? Then stop. Use Fels-Naptha. Wash your clothes in the new and easy way in cool or lukewarm water, summer or winter, without boiling or hard rubbing. Easy directions on the back of the Fels-Naptha wrapper.
