The Transcript Supplement.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1.00 PER ANNUM

THURSDAY, APRIL 25, 1895.

FROM STILL POND.

The entertainment given by Prof. Ramsey in the Still Pond hall on Friday and Saturday nights, was not attended as well as was expected, nor was the performance up to expectations. The programme being poor on Friday evening kept many away the second night. The slight-of-hand tricks performed by the professor were quite good, as was also some of the music. The rest of the show, however, was as poor as ever seen here. Receipts were $32.40, which about covered expenses.

The W. C. T. U. met on Saturday afternoon last. Arrangements are being made to have a prominent speaker give an address here soon. Another meeting will take place next Saturday.

Misses Sue and Sallie Jones are visiting in Baltimore.

Miss Pauline Nelson has returned to the Woman's College.

Rev. E. H. Nelson preached two very interesting and acceptable sermons on Sunday.

The creamery paid 60 cents for milk for March. Small receipts is the one great drawback. If more milk was sent there would be no trouble to pay up with the other creameries; as it is, the receipts here are far behind the old established plants, and as it takes about the same expense to handle 60,000 lbs. as about 25,000, it can be readily understood that the greater the receipts the greater the price.

A James Alfred Pearce club is to be organized here May 4th, and steps are now being taken in that direction. Strong resolutions of endorsement have been largely signed and a large attendance is expected on May 4th, at which time Mr. Pearce will probably be present and speak.

SCRIBE.

A MODEL FARMER.

What a Middletown Newspaper Man has to say of Mr. F. P. Cochran's Farming Operations.

The Middletown New Era gives the following flattering and interesting account of a visit to the farm of Mr. F. P. Cochran, one of the most progressive and representative farmers of Kent county. The New Era man writes:

"On Friday last, while in Kent county, Maryland, one of our representatives called on a number of wide-awake farmers and marveled at their vim and push, had about concluded that he had seen the leading men and most productive farms in the county. Feeling perfectly satisfied with the day's pleasure and business in the rural sections, he started towards the pretty little town of Galena, but when opposite the gate of a well-kept lawn leading up to an inviting farm house, he halted, and looking across the fields, noted more than a dozen busy men. A moment's reflection and he at once remembered the farm and also the genial go-ahead proprietor, therefore it was but a short time before the New Era man was shaking the hand of one of Delaware's sons, Frank P. Cochran, son of R. W. Cochran, of this town. Our representative remarked that it looked as if Mr. Cochran was farming on quite a large scale, when in his usual modest manner Mr. Cochran invited the visitor to walk around and inspect the farm. First was noted an asparagus bed of 12 acres as clean as an onion bed. Mr. Cochran has a reputation in the Boston and New York markets which might well be envied by other growers. Several commission men state that their finest asparagus is received from Mr. Cochran. Last season five stalks were cut from this bed and when placed on the scales weighed seven pounds.

"Gooseberries, by the barrel, at least the prospects are good for them. He has six acres planted in this sour but profitable fruit. Away across a pretty level plain the green wheat in drill rows as straight as could be, and we are told that he will have 160 ocres to harvest. In adjoining fields the plowmen were turning up a rich soil for the corn crop, which by the way, takes 135 acres. Twenty acres is devoted to oats. The hay harvest will perhaps be in excess of any other farmer on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, what an immense pile of hay 60 acres will produce. The live stock on this farm is all of high grade, is well stabled, fed and cared for. Thirty-six cows are kept, from which 15,000 pounds of milk is sold each month.

"Besides the above mentioned facts, Mr. Cochran devotes much time and land to growing asparagus crowns, for which he finds great demand. Jos. Biggs, of this town, gave him an order for 40,000 recently. At present fifteen men are employed on this farm, but within a short time the number will be increased to eighteen. Mr. Cochran does not believe a farmer can successfully run his business by driving around the country, but has proved that by giving all matters a personal attention he is able to operate his farm of 630 acres. Finally we may truthfully say Frank P. Cochran is a model farmer."

A Modern Hog-Farm.—Mr. W. H. Jackson, of Wicomico county, who has gone into hog farming, has, says the Wicomico News: Eveything so conveniently arranged that the labor of feeding and watering the vast herd is reduced to the minimum. The pen is 400 feet long by 120 feet wide, and is divided into three compartments, 40x400 feet. In the rear of the pen is a running stream. From this stream the land gradually rises until the feeding place is one level piece of ground. All of the inclosure is used as a "range" for the hogs except a space occupied by the "feeding pens." There are nine of these pens, each 14x16 feet, with a door to each pen opening into the range, through which the hogs enter to be fed. There is also a door to the front of each "feed pen," to be used for placing the feed in the trough.

Located near the pen is a building containing a pump, a mill for crushing the feed, and four long vats. These vats are each 16 feet long, and will hold 39 bushels of feed. The vats are to be used for scalding and making swill, and are elevated sufficiently to allow the swill to be drawn off through holes in the bottom into buckets. From the vats the swill is poured into the troughs in the pens. Every care has been taken to make the work of attending to such a large number of hogs as light as possible.

There are in the pens 265 shoats, which weighed 18,315 lbs., and cost over $1,000. The number will be increased this week to 300, and the shoats will be equally divided between the three large pens. It is calculated that it will require about 250 bushels of wheat a month to feed these hogs, aside from clover and other feed, and it is expected the 300 will make 100,000 pounds of pork.

"TOOK THE WRONG MEDICINE."

Why This Headline So Often Appears In the Daily Newspapers.

It is an odd trait in human nature that a man who has been ordered by his physician to take paregoric will never take it if there is any carbolic acid or prussic acid in the house that he can absorb in preference.

Statisticians who have studied the thing declare that an invalid will search the whole house for a poisonous drug and drink it rather than the medicine ordered by the doctor. The death notices in the newspapers in cases of that kind are generally headed, "Took the Wrong Medicine."

A man arrived at his home the other evening, and glancing on the bureau saw a bottle of liquid that he had been ordered by the doctor to take.

"That looks like the stuff," said he, "but I'm not sure. As I was locking up the cellar I saw behind an old shelf a blue bottle that looked as if it hadn't been touched for years. It said on it, 'Sulphuric Acid.' Now that bottle on the table looks exactly like the one I drank out of last night, but still I have an idea that the stuff down in the cellar is what the doctor means for me. I don't know how the dickens it got down there when it's meant for me to take, or how this bottle that isn't meant for me to take got on this bureau. But I'm not going to take any chances. I'll just go down into the cellar and make sure, and I'll throw this stuff out of the window."

Then he cautiously went down stairs and took the sulphuric acid, and he was buried in due form after an ambulance surgeon had done his best and the coroner's physician had made a complete investigation and autopsy.

It isn't only children who make these blunders. Doctors will tell you that they have only to label a bottle "Lotion, For External Application Only," to make sure of its being drunk. If a patient gets a bottle of corrosive sublimate to put on a felon on his great toe and doesn't use it all, he will carefully save it. Ten years afterward a doctor gives some cough mixture to him, and then he goes and hunts up the corrosive sublimate bottle, plays three card monte with it and the cough mixture, gets them thoroughly mixed up so that he can't tell one from the other, and then when he feels that tightness across the chest that the doctor told him about he swallows a part of the corrosive sublimate and leaves his widow to collect the life insurance. By no accident is the cough mixture ever taken—it is always the corrosive sublimate.—New York Herald.

CURIOUS WEDDING CUSTOMS.

Some Odd Phases of Social Life In Northern Michigan.

Many curious customs are in vogue among the foreign population of northern Michigan, especially in social matters. When a French couple get married, a carriage or a sleigh ride is inevitable, according to the season of the year. The couples are not packed together in one wagon or sleigh, but each fellow and his girl have an individual rig, the bride and groom taking the lead and the others following like a funeral procession, but there is nothing funereal about it, especially the pace set. After the procession has been riding for hours, a dance ends the festivities.

The Polanders have a curious wedding custom that is very ingenious as a money getter, and takes the place of wedding presents. After the wedding feast follows a dance that sometimes lasts 12 to 14 hours, and even longer. The chief honor is to dance with the bride, and this is decided in a curious manner. The mother of the bride takes her place in one corner with a plate in her lap, which she takes very good care shall be built after the plan of an eating house coffee cup. The gallant who wants to dance with the bride, and all are in honor bound to do so at least once, must pull out a piece of silver and endeavor to chip or break the plate by throwing their money upon it, and only those who succeed in chipping or breaking the plate are allowed the coveted honor. Let those who think it easy to break an ironstone plate try it. Few succeed in doing it for less than 50 cents, and it is not an unusual thing for the bride's money to amount up to $75 or $100, even where the crowd is apparently as poor as a church mouse, and it may go even higher when the bride is pretty and popular. All the money goes to the bride, and in a backwoods country $50 to $75 will start a happy couple nicely in housekeeping.—Detroit Free Press.

LION AND THE LAMB.

You Must Decide Which Was Lyin and Which the Young Sheep.

"Yes," said the lion of the evening, "I flatter myself that we African explorers get in some queer places."

The fair young girl at his side regarded him dreamily.

"I, too,"—her eyes brightened and she spoke quickly—"have been around a little. Let me see"—

He smiled superciliously.

"Around the world in 50 days; a winter in the arctics; two weeks in a balloon; on horseback through Asia Minor; six months in Patagonia; among the hill tribes of India; through the diamond fields of Kimberley; in the Australian bush; across the Great American desert; from Sweden to Siberia; two months in Alaska, and on foot through the Bitter Root mountains of Idaho. Yes"—

Again that dreamy look.

"We young lady reporters have to hustle round!"

And for the space of five minutes the African explorer sat silent and thought he was thinking.—New York World.

Science.

"Which reaches you the quicker," asked the teacher, "sight or sound?"

"Sound," replied the new boy.

"No, William, that's not the right answer. Sight reaches us first. If you watch a band playing a good way off, you'll see the drummer hit the drum a second or so before you hear the sound of it."

"Yes'm. But sometimes sight don't reach you first."

"Can you give me an example?"

"Yes'm. The new postoffice. Pa said this morning that we had been hearing about the new postoffice for the last ten years and wouldn't see it for the next 20."—Washington Star.

Dr. de Koven's Letter.

At a recent exhibition of dolls in Chicago a doll was shown which once had a letter addressed to it by the late Dr. de Koven, the great Episcopal high church leader. It was as follows:

MY DEAR WAX—I am glad to hear of your birth, and that you were named for me, and that you are of wax. You could not be of better stuff for a minister. You will look sweet. This will please the young. You cannot talk too much. This will please the old. You can wink at things, which you will have to do. You will eat little; you will need but small pay. When you are bruised, you can be put on a shelf without a word, and a doll, new, fresh, and with red cheeks, will take your place. If you have to be a martyr by fire, you will melt easy and save pain to those who have to put you in, but if you do good to even one little girl like C—— your life will be worth a great deal. So goodby, from your affectionate friend,

J. DE K.

South African Bushmen.

Civilization is making rapid strides in South Africa, but the bushman yet makes his own knife and with considerable ingenuity. They dig a little iron, find a broken hatchet or a hoop from a rum barrel, and out of these parts they form even axes, adzes, hammers and about everything they need in that line. These implements are of course very crude, but the native has much patience.—Hardware.

From among the many choice lines of goods now being offered at low prices, we select the following for special mention:

THE MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT stands ready with its skilled corps of quick-witted clerks to promptly fill orders, quote prices, forward samples or give any required information.

OF INTEREST TO THE FARMER.

One of the greatest causes of the depression in agricultural pursuits is the high prices that the farmers are made to pay for their fertilizers because the fertilizer houses are obliged, not only to employ traveling men on expensive salaries, with large traveling expenses. These traveling men do not go direct to the farmer, but only to the country dealer, who is obliged to get his profit out of the fertilizer (A MIGHTY LARGE ONE AT THAT). On account of being obliged to sell the man of good credit at as high a price as he sells the man of limited and the man of doubtful credit, because if he makes a difference in price to the responsible man the others would find it out and they would not deal with him. So for that reason he must get large profits to cover losses. I do away with the risk of selling on time as well as traveling expenses and for that reason I am able to give prices to the farmer that he has never gotten before. If you have not the money your commission merchant, if he cares for your trade, will buy my goods for you.

Base of Fertilizers from Peruvian Guano and Boae Stock. I bought my Peruvian in the original packages from the French and Peruvian Syndicate, who owns the deposits of the Peruvian Guano, and Mixe is the best Fertilizers. thus enabling me to offer goods that are greatly superior to goods from other bases, no matter what manufacturers of that may call it or claim for it.

I have on hand Lobos Peruvian 10 per cent, and 6 per cent. Peruvian, the finest in this country to-day in quality and condition,

Seven Weeks

ago, when we announced to the people of Rock Hall and the public in general, that we had bought the stock of my brother at Rock Hall, we were then convinced that by square dealing and low prices we would do our share of the business. Now we want to say that our sales are exceeding our expectations. We think the reason for this is, that we are splitting profits with our customers, and selling goods at a small margin above cost. We can quote

High Prices Defunct.

About six years ago we inaugurated a system of square dealing, fixing prices to correspond with the commercial value of farm products. To-day we are doing business with some of the best judges of clothing in the two counties. You too, reader will soon be with us, for our mode of dealing will surely win. The side-trackers of 15 or 18 years ago with their big profits are out of the race, they can't qualify. No wonder they made a certain profit then on a suit and expect it yet. Second nature with them there's a difference "then and now." To-day we are offering a line of Mens' Suits at $5.00, sizes 35 to 42 the like most dealers will ask you $6.00 to $6.50. We have plenty of them and the quality and patterns will surprise you. Then for $6 25 and $7.50 we can just delight you and we have a Blue and Black Three-button Sack, all-wool Cheviott that is wondered at for $8.50. The strictly Dress Suit will be a Black Clay Worsted Coat and Vest. Regent Cut Coat and a neat Stripe Worsted Pants. We have a good one for $11.00, the French ones $12.50 and an all-wool imported Clay Worsted Suit, either regent or three-button sack for only $10.00. Don't fail to see these lines. We are originators of low prices, we create, never copy, advertise and back them up.

Chidren's Clothing

A steady increase has prompted us to engage more extensively than ever in this line, and we defy competition. We can give you a suit as low as 50 cents, and for $1.25 to $18 7½ we have some surprises for you. GEORGE W. DILL,

Agent for Kent County for the

Singer Sewing Machine,

THE NEW VIBRATOR.

Fifty-four first awards gathered at the World's Columbian Exposition. Other manufacturers not in it. Do not spend your money upon worthless machines, but invest it in a Singer, which has a guarantee for durability and satisfaction. The leading people of this county use the Singer and those who are now using unsatisfactory machines of other makes can make a satisfactory exchange for the reliable Singer. A card addressed to the undersigned will receive prompt attention. New machines sold on easy monthly payments

Respectfully,
GEORGE W. DILL.
