Extraordinary Announcemnt.

JAMES A. CASEY, a progressive Rock Haller, is now offering to the people of this county specia low prices on his entire stock in order that the bulk of goods now upon our shelves can be reduced. For fifteen years we have been catering to the wants of the trade here, and all during that time we have never thrown out catch penny advertisements in order to hoodwink the people, but a steady, straightforward plan adopted in the beginning has been continued to the present time, and now for the future we promise greater bargains than have ever been shown in Rock Hall.

✦ THE STOCK ✦

Embraces a general line of goods, and consists of Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Hardware, Notions of all kinds, including special bargains in Underwear and Hosiery, together with a first-class supply of Gum and Rubber Goods, so extensively used by our oystermen. The approaching holidays get nearer and nearer every day, and don't forget that we are fully prepared to meet your wants, as we can supply you with a complete line of goods at prices unequaled in this community. Our Grocery department receives special care, all the goods being bought for spot cash at headquarters, enables us to place in the homes of our people a line of fresh groceries at prices which are considered rock bottom. In the Boot and Shoe department there are many bargains awaiting you, and a call will convince you that we advertise bargains. Remember, we carry everything to be found in a well-appointed store, and from this time on sweeping reductions will be made, and a number of goods during this month will be closed out at prices that will astonish you. Look out for change of advertisement next month.

JAMES S. BRADLEY,

Chestertown, Md., Dealer in

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, NOTIONS, BOOTS AND SHOES, and a GENERAL STOCK OF MERCHANDISE, embracing everything to be found in a well-stocked establishment. For 20 years our business has enjoyed a steady increase, and to-day we number among our customers some who started with us in our infancy. In looking over our stock we find that we have too many goods at this season of the year. They must move, consequently we have reduced the price. Many useful articles in

Dry Goods & Boots & Shoes, are included in this sale, and the advantages to our customers will be more appreciated when they see the goods. GOOD WOOLEN BLANKETS are now in the reach of everybody, as the prices are lower than ever. Our Underwear in Shirts and Drawers are especially cheap, while the complete line of other goods are never higher, but sometimes less than others. Thanking my friends who have dealt with me in the past, I respectfully ask a continuance of the same in the future.

IT IS THE CORRECT THING AT TABLE.

For the host to see that the wants of his guests are properly attended to, unless he have well-trained servants to whom he can safely depute this duty.

To take the last piece on the dish if it be offered to you. This shows your faith in the reserve supply of your host's larder.

In handing a plate back to the carver for a second supply, to hold it in such a position that the carver can readily put the meat on.

To help all the ladies, including those of the household, before any gentleman is helped, no matter how distinguished a person he may be.

To help the lady of the house first when no guests are present.

To spread the napkin upon the knees, and in the case of little children to fasten it around the neck.

To leave one's napkin unfolded on leaving the table, especially at a formal meal.

To refuse one or more courses at a long and elaborate dinner if you wish to do so.

Where dinner is served in the old fashioned way, for the gentleman who sits next the hostess to offer to do the carving for her.

If one has occasion to pass anything, to lay down one's knife or fork, and to hand the dish carefully.

FOR CHILDREN.

To wash the hands, and if necessary the face, and to smooth the hair before coming to any meal.

To keep the chair on all its four legs.

To wipe the mouth both before and after drinking, and to swallow what they are eating before beginning to drink.

To use a piece of bread, or "bread-fork" to assist them in getting their food upon the fork.

To help themselves to a dish with the knife, fork or spoon provided for the purpose; or if these implements have been forgotten, to ask the servant to bring them.

To ask for a clean fork, knife or spoon where their own has fallen upon the floor.

To provide children with dessert-spoons for eating soup.

To take just enough on the fork for a proper sized mouthful.

To have, as an ordinary thing, a plain and wholesome diet.

When they are old enough, to learn to eat what other people do.

To eat bread and butter with the butter side up.

To eat the pudding and the plums in it at the same time.

To take the top slice of bread or cake, and to take the first piece that they touch.

To lay the knife and fork side by side on the plate, with the handles together, when they have finished eating.

To help girls before boys, and, in the opinion of many persons, to help very little children first, when no guests are present.

To keep the mouth shut while eating.

To hand a pitcher with the handle toward the recipient, and to hold spoons and forks by the middle, and knives by the lower part of the shaft, the handles being turned toward the person to whom they are passed.

To teach children to come punctually to all meals.

To see their parents' behavior an example of good breeding.

To turn away the head when they are about to cough or sneeze, putting the handkerchief to the face at the same time.

To preserve the public and private peace.

HOW TO WRITE GOOD LETTERS.

Good letters are a rarity, and they are growing less rather than more plentiful. It is a fault that may be remedied if taken in time. No education should be deemed even tolerably complete that does not include such a drill in letter-writing as to make it comparatively pleasant and easy. In this age not to be able to converse with the pen is a most serious drawback upon one's efficiency. Happy he who learns to wield with skill this most effective instrument of usefulness and enjoyment! There are few but can learn if they will only take pains enough.

One very important element of success is the realization of the state of mind of the person to whom the letter is to go. This requires, of course, an effort of the imagination. A letter of friendship will please in proportion as it tells what the friend wishes to have told. It should be as thoroughly as possible adapted to the wants of the person who is to read it. All persons are no more to be addressed in the same style than they are to be called by the same names. Hence there is a measure of truth in the saying that you can judge of a person's character more accurately by the letters he receives than by those he sends.

A good letter should be a careful transcript of the best of what one would say if he were talking. It should have a sufficient supply of personal news, some lively descriptions, a sprinkling of fancy, a substratum of sober thought, and full proofs of affection. This latter is the main thing. One should contrive somehow to put into his letter the cordial grasp of the hand and the beaming smile of sincere good-will. Kindly interest and warm regard should be not merely declared at the close, but manifested on every page.

The letter itself, especially if it shows pains in the composition, is indeed a proof of love, and a proof that too often fails to appear. Alas! how many friendships that had every appearance of being genuine are utterly unable to endure the test of much absence. In the first year the letters are tolerably frequent; in the second year there is a very perceptible falling away; in the third year there are almost no communications; and by the fourth they have completely ceased. The mild exertion of composing a letter affords a practical test of friendship by which very much eager protestation is proved to be mere lip-service. Let there be more letters written, even if something else has to be neglected.

DEER PARK.

To those contemplating a trip to the mountains in search of health and pleasure, Deer Park, on the crest of the Alleghany mountains, 3,000 feet above the sea level, offers such varied attractions as a delightful atmosphere during both day and night, pure water, smooth, winding roads through the mountains and valleys, and the most picturesque scenery in the Allegheny range. The hotel is equipped with all adjuncts conducive to the entertainment, pleasure and comfort of its guests.

The surrounding grounds, as well as the hotel, are lighted with electricity. Six miles distant; on the same mountain summit, is Oakland, the twin resort of Deer Park, and equally as well equipped for the entertainment and accommodations of its patrons. Season excursion tickets, good for return passage until October 31, will be placed on sale at greatly reduced rates at all principal ticket offices throughout the country. One-way tickets, reading from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinati, and any point on the B. & O. system to Washington, Baltimore, Columbus, Cincinnati, Philadephia or New York, or vice versa, are good to stop off at either Deer Park. Mountain Lake Park or Oakland, and the time limit will be extended by agents at either resort upon application, to cover the period of the holder's visit.

The season at these popular resorts commences June 22nd.

FOR HUSBAND AND WIFE.—Who has not watched the gradually decreasing resistance and inevitable downfall of a husband when his wife lacks faith in his capacity for success, and wantonly and wickedly reiterated her lack of confidence in him? Who has not seen a wife fade and waste away, or worse still, live on in dull hopelessness, because her husband continually complained of her incapacity and never helped her to renew her courage by hoping that her future would be more successful than her past?

HALF FARE TO DECATUR, ILLS.—On account of the German Annual Meeting the B. & O. R. R. Co., will sell excursion tickets to Decatur, Ills., at one fare for the round trip from all points on its lines west of and including Baltimore. Tickets will be sold May 24th to June 3rd, and will be valid for return journey until July 3rd.

FIRE!
"The Stempel."

Cheapest and best Fire Extinguisher on the market.

HIRAM BROWN, Agent.

CHESTERTOWN, MD., Feb. 26, 1895.

MR. HIRAM BROWN, Agent Stempel Fire Extinguisher.

Dear Sir:—This is to certify that a fire occurred at the Almshouse on the night of February 10, 1895, caused by the upsetting of a coal oil lamp. The fire had gained considerable headway when one of the Stempel Fire Extinguishers recently purchased of you for the protection of the Almshouse was brought into use. The fire was completely put out in an incredibly short time. The above practical test of the Stempel fully convinces me of its effectiveness and I most cheerfully recommend it as a simple, powerful and reliable fire protection.

Yours truly,
WM. O. B. KNIGHT.

OFFICE MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY OF KENT COUNTY, MD., April 2, 1895.

Mr. Hiram Brown, agent, having exhibited the Stempel Fire Extinguisher before the Board of Directors, the following resolution was unanimously passed:

Resolved, That the Chemical Fire Extinguisher is a very valuable machine to have on hand when a fire occurs, and this company recommends that the insurers in this company provide themselves with an Extinguisher as an ever ready and efficient means to put out a fire.
