and one of the most extensive and Beautiful Lines of

Summer Shirt Waists

will be found in stock at the Millinery Parlors of the Misses Cora and Hattie Reed.

New and Beautiful Articles in Millinery are in the greatest variety. Novelties in Styles, Goods and Colors are features which most delight those who have examined our stock of Summer Goods. An inspection of is especially invited. There are gems to be found in this department, which, beauty and cheapness considered, should induce those in need of Shirt Waists to purchase rather than weary with an attempt to imitate these beautiful creations of the seamstress' art.

MISSES CORA & HATTIE REED.

A woman's hair is her glory. Like her complexion, much of its beauty depends upon her general health. Nine times in ten a woman's general health is dependent upon her local health in a womanly way.

It is an impossibility for a woman to be pretty or attractive who suffers from general ill-health. The skin, the teeth, the eyes, the hair and the carriage will tell the story when a woman is ailing. It is impossible for a woman to be in good general health when some local trouble is continually nagging at her nerves and disarranging the natural functions of every organ of the body. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all medicines for women who suffer from local weakness and disease peculiar to their sex. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned. It makes them strong, healthy, vigorous and elastic. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain, tones and builds up the nerves and banishes the usual discomforts of the expectant months. It makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It enables every organ of the body to perform its natural functions without unnatural interference from a pain-tortured nervous system. It corrects all irregularities. A woman who is made well in this way will recover her natural beauty of form and feature and her natural amiability of character and temper. Thousands of women have testified to its merits. An honest dealer will not urge a substitute for a little extra profit.

Mrs. Rachel Clark, of Houlton, St. Croix Co., Wis., writes: "I am in good health since I have taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I gave birth to a 12½ pound boy last June. He is six months old now and weighs 30 pounds."

How to preserve health and beauty are told in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is free. For a paper-covered copy send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover mailing only; cloth binding, 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

DAIRY & CREAMERY.

NOT SO SLOW.

Glance at the Record of This Modest Canadian Cow.

We are always glad to help exploit the great achievements of Jerseys, Guernseys, Holstein-Friesians, Ayrshires and other prominent dairy cows. We believe they all have their right place and there is room for them all. Some will do better for a dairyman in one locality, while another breed will give better results elsewhere.

But meantime The Country Gentleman publishes the record of a little French Canadian cow owned in New York state that goes far to proclaim this modest and gentle beast the equal of any living when it comes to filling the milk pail and the butter tub as well.

The characteristics of the cow, as indicated in her picture, are rather more those of the Guernsey than of the Jersey. It is well known that the French Canadian cow is descended from those brought over from the Channel islands when the French owned Canada. Her blood is therefore as choice as that of the Jersey or Guernsey itself.

The cow in the picture is 8 years old and weighs 950 pounds. When flush, she gives 45 to 48 pounds per day of 5½ per cent milk. She is in good flow of milk ten months in the year. We should like to see more of this French Canadian blood in the United States.

Kill the Horrid Horn Fly.

One man's remedy:

"The cow horn fly (Hæmatobia serrata Rob. Desv.) has received its popular name from the habit the flies have of clustering at base of horns and this affords the readiest means of recognition. The insect breeds in the fresh droppings of the animal, and their drying up is fatal to the larvæ. Therefore, if they be broken up and spread over the field every few days—a practice of benefit to the land—the flies could not breed so readily, as the sun would quickly dry the manure and render it unsuitable for growth of larvæ. The manure in the stable might also be treated with land plaster, whereby the fly would be prevented from breeding. The animals can be protected from direct attack by a number of ointments and powders fatal or distasteful to the insect. These applications have to be renewed every few days, as they lose their efficacy by exposure. Perhaps the best remedy is spraying the animals every two or three days with the standard kerosene emulsion diluted with 10 to 15 parts of water, or, better still, the diluent may be a tobacco decoction, made by boiling one pound of tobacco in each gallon of water. It can be quickly and thoroughly applied with a knapsack sprayer and cyclone nozzle. Two men can treat the animals at the rate of one per minute. It is said to leave no objectionable odor. The work may well be done just after milking in the morning.

"Other remedies are a mixture of one-third coal tar, two-thirds lard or other grease, smeared on the horns and other favorite places for the fly. Pine tar and grease may be used, with equal success, or try fish oil and pine tar with a little sulphur or carbolic acid, or tallow with a small quantity of carbolic acid. If the skin is not broken, tobacco dust or X. O. dust may be used on the back and at the base of the horns. One of the ointments would be better for the under parts of the animal, simply because it would stay on longer. The tobacco dust is speedily fatal to the flies."

Another:

"The experience which we have had in keeping off the flies and increasing our flow of milk would seem almost incredible had we not had the actual experience and the figures to prove the same. Our cows have all along been fed a good ration, but the flies have been so fierce that I could hardly stand the milking. Having used a wash of grease other seasons I made up my mind to try again, so I made up a kettleful of wash composed of the following ingredients: Fat, meat frynigs, which were a superfluous article in the culinary department, steeped in some tansy, to which I added three ounces of carbolic acid. I heated the same to a lukewarm state and applied it with an old white-wash brush at the horns, over the neck and back and well down the sides. And now for the result. At night the men wanted to know if the cows had had extra feeding, which certainly was not the case. Then the extra flow of milk must have been induced by the application of the grease, which was a very inexpensive preparation. As the milk was carried to the creamery every morning and there weighed we were in a position to have the positive facts. The first day's increase was 21 pounds, the second day's 12 pounds in addition to this, making in all 33 pounds, or 16½ quarts of extra milk for the second day. Now, if no benefit had been derived save the advantages gained in milking and that of keeping the animals contented and quiet we should have felt amply paid."

Creameries the country over ought to have better buildings and better cold storage facilities. With the new and perfected refrigerating machinery now on the market there is no excuse for anything but perfect cold storage.

Household Hints.

A little vinegar kept boiling on the stove while onions or cabbage are cooking will prevent the disagreeable odor from going through the house.

Clothes turned right side out, carefully folded and sprinkled, are half ironed.

The carpet moth loves the bindings and margins of a carpet. Ingrains or three plies may be treated successfully while down by wringing a cloth out of hot water, laying it over the bindings and edges and ironing it with a hot iron.

Fringes to towels, tablecloths, doilies and centerpieces can be brushed evenly by the aid of a steel wire brush with handle.

It is a great saving of handsome table damasks to use boiling water to remove stains, as much rubbing and washing wears out the cloth.

There are about 1,500 American students in Paris, most of them in art, and about 900 in Berlin, most of them in music, philosophy and the sciences. In France the degrees and diplomas are granted by the national government and not by the universities.

The Roman penny was valued at about 15 cents.

"For five weeks I lived on cold water so to speak," writes a man who suffered terribly from indigestion.

He could hardly keep anything on his stomach. What stayed, wasn't properly digested and gave him terrible pangs.

This is not an uncommon case. Dyspeptics don't get enough nourishment. They are generally thin and weak.

They may eat enough, but they don't digest enough. Much of what they eat turns into poison. If this keeps on there's no telling what disease they may get next.

That's why it is best to take Shaker Digestive Cordial, as soon as symptoms of indigestion appear.

It cures all the evils of indigestion, and prevents the evils of indigestion causes.

Sold by druggists, price 10 cents to $1.00 per bottle.

DRESS AND FASHION.

GOWNS FOR JUNE WEDDINGS ILLUSTRATED AND DESCRIBED.

A Charming Confection In Ivory Satin, Pearl Embroidery, Orange Blossoms and Tulle—Traveling and Bridesmaids' Costumes—New Items of Summer Styles.

From elaboration and gorgeousness to "sweet simplicity" would be but a quick and easy step for Dame Fashion, and it is told that the French designers are striving to make the latter the keynote of the summer modes. But Paris does not rule us quite so rigidly as heretofore, and whether it will succeed in establishing the scant three yard skirt, close fitting bodice and still smaller sleeves than those of the present remains to be seen. These represent latest fashions in the French capital, the Parisian skirt having the appearance of falling in straight folds. It may, in fact, be aptly described as "floppy" in effect.

Wedding gowns of course conform more or less to the modes prevailing for other occasions. Perhaps no better idea of the June wedding styles this year can be given than by describing some gowns just made.

A gown for one of the brides to be is of ivory white satin richly embroidered in true lovers' knots of pearls on skirt and bodice and trimmed with fine mechlin lace and orange blossoms. The marked feature of the long train is the trimming of tulle which ends in a huge bow. The tulle veil will be fastened with orange blossoms and a diamond star.

The bridesmaids' gowns on this occasion will be of cream white satin. The bodices, slightly pouched in front, have pointed yokes formed of tucks, with a square collar overlaid with lace, and a blue silk waistband. The white straw hats are trimmed with rosettes of cream ribbon, a long ostrich plume and pink roses under the brim. The going away gown of this bride is of the pale gray cloth now so fashionable, the bodice having a vest of pink silk. The gray straw hat is trimmed with pink and gray chiffon, pink roses and mignonette.

Embroidered muslin is introduced in the form of tucked vests into some of the smartest summer gowns and is also employed for revers, collars and cuffs and the pretty little boleros that continue to find favor. White muslin dresses are profusely trimmed with lace and insertion, the bodices being made with pretty yokes of tucking and lace.

The slightly pouched effect is still to be seen on the bodices of many of the newest costumes, although the tight fitting bodice is said to be near at hand. Panels are in evidence on the latest skirts. They are pointed and may be introduced either in the front or at the side.

One of the freshest and most original styles in capes is long and full at the back, but rounded off at the bottom in front and at the sides in such a way as to display not only the charming bodice that is worn under it, but also the very attractive lining of the cape itself.

Novelties In Boots and Shoes.

The illustrations show in what direction fashion lies. It is expected that both white and tan shoes are to be worn this season. White canvas and buckskin are the favorite materials, the canvas moderate in price even with the high heel. One sketch shows a dainty shoe made of white buckskin, the straps fastened with a little steel buckle and furnished with the high Louis heel. The laced shoe can be either made in glace kid or in white canvas, with a white kid toe cap, also with the high heel, which for yachting can be dispensed with. The boot is made of calf kid of a dark tan shade, laced and having straight caps, and is essentially smart looking.

There is a great improvement in the white kid, which is now glazed and soft. Everything is made easy to use nowadays. Even patent leather is to be had which is less drawing to the feet than the old time article. The use of green glace kid may be mentioned as one of the inventions of the moment which deserves to be classed among the things "impossible."

Hanging a Muslin Curtain.

In putting up muslin curtains do not use curtain rings, but turn the finished edge over the front of the rod to the depth of several inches and pin with small pins just under the rod. This is much prettier and simpler than the ordinary way, with rings, and it obviates the use of deep fringe or cornice molding along the top. A long curtain or piece of material bordered on each edge can be put over the whole length of the rod in the same way and gathered up in the center with a tassel or ribbon, with the ends hanging down loose at each corner.

WHY NOT?

Our customers are satisfied and well-to-do people. Why? Because they know they get the best work for the least money at our place. Trade is good, and we are always busy. Remember, we Hoop your Wheels and do not dish them, and make no charge for extra bolts.

We are glad to see how our Horseshoeing is appreciated. We claim to know how to do it. Bring us your horses and you will be happy
