STATE'S ATTORNEY, Wm. W. Beck, proved his skill as an able lawyer at the recent session of court by the manner in which he conducted his cases. Of the 25 true bills that the Grand Jury found, Mr. Beck received a verdict for the State in nearly every case brought to trial.

THE Baltimore City News moved into its handsome new home this week. The building, which is among the handsomest of Baltimore's new structures, is not only a credit to the enterprise of the owners of the paper, but its equipments are an evidence of the true worth of the News as a great paper.

THERE WERE MORE local option cases tried at the recent session of court than for some years. In nearly all of them State's Attorney Beck secured a verdict against the violators of the law, and the court imposed heavy sentences. It is to be hoped that the officers of the law will keep a close watch upon all violaters of this law and bring them to speedy justice.

THE OFFICIAL BALLOT is published in this issue. We advise every Democrat to study carefully the position of the names of eve y Democratic candidate on the ticket. Learn to mark the ticket yourself and then get someone else to mark it and vote it just like you are going to do it. That is the way to achieve Democratic success both for the ticket and for the Amendment and to maintain good government.

FOR THE PAST TWO WEEKS the Republican managers have had sample ballots in the hands of the negro voters and they are being instructed nightly to mark the ticket not only against the Amendment but for every Republican candidate on the ticket. It behooves the Democrats to get workers in every district in the county to instruct the voters how to mark their ballots properly. The ticket is a large one this year, and unless we familiarize ourselves with the names of the candidates and their positions on the ticket, there will be great danger of spoiling our tickets. Let's get hard to work during this last week of the campaign and instruct our voters how to vote the Democratic ticket.

THE INCLEMENT WEATHER interferred materially with the attendance at the Democratic mass meeting held in Stam's Hall on Wednesday. But notwithstanding that fact, the hall was filled with voters, all interested in the success of the ticket and the Amendment. The issue in this campaign, which is one of the greatest issues that has ever been before the public, imposing upon the voters of this county and the State of Maryland, a responsibility which no passion or sentiment should influence, was clearly and forcibly discussed by the speakers, and there should be no doubt left in the minds of the voters of this county as to their duty. People living in Kent county know full well the effect of negro denomination. In a county like this where there are 1927 negro voters, not more than 800 of whom pay a dollar's worth of taxes, associated with not more than five hundred white Republicans, can swing the destinies of this county in an election just which ever way they desire. The necessity therefore for the passage of this Amendment in this county is apparent to every voter in this county. The speakers at the convention impressed this fact upon the voters in no uncertain tones. The meeting will undoubtedly be productive of good results in the county.
