"Good Morning,

NEIGHBOR A., what's the news?"

"Well, the most I hear is that A. M. RUSSELL has had his store put in complete order, and is selling goods at very low prices. Betsey brought home beautiful brown sugar, which he sold at 6¼ cents; and good coffee at 12½ cents; and she says he has a large stock of fresh Groceries, which he sells at very low prices;—and you ought to see a suit of clothes she bought for John—they were the cheapest I ever saw bought in town."

"Well, neighbor A., does he keep a good assortment?"

"O, yes He has Groceries, Clothing, Confectionery, Tobacco, Segars, Brooms, Buckets, Baskets and Tubs, Mackerel, Herring, Powder and Shot, Whips, Canes, and Umberrellas, Saddles and Harness, Toys, and a great many articles that I can't now name. But the next time you go to town give him a call, and I think you will agree with me that his goods are very cheap."

"Well, good by, neighbor A., I shall give him a call the next time I go to town."

"Well, don't forget the name."

"What is it, neighbor A?"

"Why it is A. M. RUSSELL."
