JOH C. REDMILE.
Democratic State Central Committee of Kent County.

THE Baltimore Sun is the latest addition to the Ananias Club, formed sometime ago by President Roosevelt. She occupies a front seat on the platform at every meeting.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has forced the nomination of Hughes upon the Republican party in New York. The Democrats have nominated Lieut. Gov. Chanler, and he will be a mighty hard man to beat. The Democrats will carry New York.

DO NOT forget the call for the organization of Democratic clubs in Kent today. Every Democrat should be interested in the success of his ticket this fall, and an energetic club will do much to carry the county for Bryan, Kern and Covington.

HON. J. HARRY COVINGTON, candidate for Congress in this district, was in Kent on Tuesday and Wednesday, mingling among the voters. He met many of them, whom he impressed very favorably, and he received many assurances of support here.

CAPT. CURTIS E. CRANE took a party of Democrats to Annapolis to hear Mr. Bryan speak on Monday afternoon. A big crowd from Rock Hall also went over in a launch, and nearly 100 Democrats from Kent heard the great speech in Baltimore Monday night. Several Republicans from Kent also heard the Baltimore speech and were given good seats.

HOW ABOUT that election in Maine last Monday? From a majority of 25,000 in 1904 to a bare majority of 7,000 in a rock ribbed Republican State in 1908, is very discouraging to Taft's election. Such is the case, however, and Mr. Roosevelt even is compelled to write letters and make speeches in the attempt to stem the tide of popular sentiment towards Democracy.

SO FAR as we were able to learn in our conversation with a number of prominent people in Baltimore city this week, in reference to the political situation there, we were convinced that there is enough Bryan sentiment in Baltimore city to carry it for Bryan by a safe majority, if the Democratic leaders of the party work as they promised Mr. Bryan to do. The great demonstration at the Bryan meeting on Monday night was the best evidence of the drift of popular sentiment in the city and State.

FOR THE FIRST TIME in the history of the United States the occupant of the White House feels compelled to take the stump in defense of a presidential candidate. President Roosevelt has decided to make speeches for his candidate, Mr. Taft. This is the most convincing evidence in the world, that, notwithstanding the fact that many newspapers are declaring that Taft will be elected without difficulty, the Republican leaders are scared out of their boots at the way Bryan is winning votes. They know that nothing short of speeches from the greatest men in their party and an immense campaign fund can elect Mr. Taft. If they don't buy the electorate, Mr. Bryan will sweep the country.

THE BRYAN MEETING.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Baltimore Sun labored assiduously to belittle the great Democratic meeting at the Fifth Regiment Armory in Baltimore on Monday night, and stated with no regard for the truth, that the immense hall was not filled and that so many people left shortly after Mr. Bryan began speaking, we can bear testimony to the fact that it was the largest and most enthusiastic political gathering that ever assembled in Baltimore city or anywhere else in the State. One thing is very certain, either the Fifth Regiment Armory is a great deal smaller than the people of Baltimore city have any idea that it is, or the Baltimore Sun is guilty of a wilful misrepresentation of facts; and as we were present and saw the crowd and heard every word of the great speech, we do not hesitate to say that the fault is with the Baltimore Sun. Upon inquiry we were told by those who should know that the armory would seat from 15,000 to 20,000 people. If that is the case it is sure that at least 25,000 people were in the armory at the time Mr. Bryan began his great address. We failed to measure the floor space such as the Baltimore Sun pretends to have done in order to estimate its audience of 12,000 people, but since three people standing as that great multitude did can occupy the space taken up by one chair, it is a safe conclusion to say that if the armory will seat 20,000 people, there were at least 25,000 people there on Monday night. We have attended every demonstration in Baltimore in which Mr. Bryan has participated politically, but never have we seen a greater crowd or witnessed more genuine enthusiasm than was displayed at that meeting. Hosts of people were present from every State contiguous to Maryland, and there were many from North Carolina, Tennessee, and as far south as Florida. When Mr. Bryan and the Democratic committee entered the armory, the sight was one never to be forgotten. Every man, woman and child in that vast audience were on their feet waving the stars and stripes, and for fifteen minutes after Mr. Bryan entered the cheering and waving continued.

It must have been inspiring to the great Commoner, for he was at his best. His speech was a masterpiece of oratory, and in no respect has Mr. Bryan lost the faculty of captivating his audience by the power of his eloquence or the brilliancy of his launguage. The speech was dispassionate, convincing and calm, and the arguments used in defence of the several planks of the platform discussed were unanswerable. Indeed, Mr. Bryan was never better in a political speech than he was on Monday night. His discussion of the labor question was masterly, his arraignment of the Republican party for its position on the tariff was scathing, his defence of his position on the guarantee of bank deposits by the United States government was convincing, and the magnificent burst of oratory and the beautiful flow of language which characterized his closing sentences simply swept that vast multitude off its feet with enthusiasm, and when he left the armory to go to his hotel, people rushed with chairs, and fell over one another in their frantic attempts to get one more look at the great man. This was the meeting as the representative of the TRANSCRIPT saw it, and such was the character of the speech as we heard it. Now, for a Baltimore paper, standing as it pretends to do, a beacon light for all, commanding as it at one time did a great influence on account of the reliability of its information, and upholding the principles of square dealing and truth, to represent that the meeting was tame and only 12,000 people were present, is the grossest misrepresentation, and marks the Baltimore Sun a traitor to the party that has given it bread, and a disorganizer and disrupter of the Democratic party in this State. If the Legislature of the State is Republican two years hence, and the machinery of government passes to the control of the Republican party, it will be because of the treachery and lack of loyalty of the Baltimore Sun to the party that is responsible for its influence in the councils of State. If the Baltimore Sun should so grossly misrepresent a political meeting held by its own party in its own city, why is anybody liable to believe anything it says about political conditions generally?
