Wedding Bells.

In the presence of several hundred guests, many of them from a distance, Miss Helen Cochran, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Cochran, and Mr. Julian Hanson Foard, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Foard, were married Thursday evening June 10th, at 8.30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed in St. Anne's P. E. Church, Middletown, Del., by Rev. Percy L. Donoughay, rector of the church, assisted by Rev. W. J. Wilkie.

The church was a scene of beauty, the interior being trimmed with a profusion of white flowers and greens. The altar being decorated with daisies and laurel, the color scheme being white and green. The wedding march was played by Mrs. J. Allen Johnson of Middletown.

In the bridal party were the matron of honor, Mrs. Carl Harrington, of Balmore, Md., a sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Miss Justine Peverley, Miss Mary Blacksiton Nowland, Miss Eliza Cochran Green, Miss Helen Falconer Brady, Mrs. Henry S. Brady, Miss Louise McDowell, Miss Esther Shallcross and Miss Susan Jefferson Foard. James E. Woodall of Georgetown, Md., was the groom's best man, and the ushers were Richard Rodney of New Castle, Carl Harrington of Baltimore, Md., Charles Crawford of Warwick, Md., George Lockwood of Philadelphia, William H. Brady and Harry Lockwood of Middletown.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in white satin, trimmed with duchess lace and pearls. She carried a beautiful bouquet of bride roses an l lilies of the valley. The matron of honor and bridesmaids wore lingerie dresses, elaborately trimmed with lace with green messaline sashes and carried pretty baskets of daisies and maidenhair fern, tied with green ribbons. The bride's going away gown was brown rajah, with a beautiful daisy trimmed hat.

A reception for the bridal party, relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom, was held immediately after the ceremoay at the Cochran home on South Broad street. The house was decorated with white and green, carrying out the color scheme of the church.

Late in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Foard were driven to Elkton, Md., from which place they started on an extended wedding trip. Mr. Foard is associated with his father in the grain and coal business in Middletown, and he and his wife, will make their home at that place.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE.

BY REV. H. M. MILLER.

In the town of Chester,
On the hill above the town,
Is the school above I mention,
Unassuming and unpretensious.

On the campus in the town,
With the country all around,
Like a queen wearing crown,
Is the school of much renown.

'Twixt the shores of Queen and Kent,
On its mission wholly bent,
Gracefully flows the Chester river,
Past the town with scarce a quiver.

From the college dormitory,
From the halls of oratory,
Just beyond the school in story,
Rolls the river in all its glory.

On its bosom like a fairy,
Sail and steaming boats that carry,
Traffic across the trackless way,
To metropolis beyond the bay.

Crowning now the river shore,
Just the same as years of yore,
Teaching friends of ancient lore,
To the rich and to the poor.

Like the father of this nation,
Wtom we love to make oblation,
He who was our first great statesman,
To whom you claim to be relation.

Nimlins aurola around you cluster,
Shining with the noonday luster,
Fame for self thou hast won,
Like our own great Washington.

Many are the traditions,
You have gained in your missions,
Teaching young with much ambition,
To be the world's great partricians.

Many climb for fruit of knowledge,
The thing above we call a college,
Gathering fruit, good and evil,
Ancient, modern and mediaeval.

Cupid like you are a lover,
Platonic like the love of mother,
Fraternal each with one another,
Calling one another brother,

I to you was but a jot,
When you took me as a tot,
But from you a start I got,
In the life that is my lot.

You were then to me a friend,
Gave my life an upward trend,
All my thoughts that way to bend,
'Till I begun that way to tend.

Many children you have taken,
None of them have you forsaken,
First their minds you did awaken,
In this I think I am not mistaken.

'Till with Virgil they could wrestle,
Even Horace they could battle,
And Homer too they could rattle,
Wise men grew from infant prattle.

Used the silver spoon called Knowledge,
Feeding freshmen in the college,
'Till we could lisp and we could stammer,
On the knee of foster mamma.

Language dead and language living,
Foster mama still kept giving,
Taught the odes, and taught the grammar,
Drove it in as with a hammer.

Mental fiber growing tall,
Till we thought we knew it all,
Knew the language dead and quick,
Which she drove with every lick.

Taught us Alpha, Beeta, Gamma,
Forced it in as with a rammer,
'Till we cried, Mamma, Oh my Mamma!
And thought, if said not, dam'her.

She was trying to inspire,
Our lives a little higher,
Setting genius as on fire,
And of this she'd never tire.

The work in there was preparation,
Laying then a firm foundation,
While the college was in session,
Outside we get our education.

In there we get an inspiration,
To be a part of this great nation,
To show the world the corelation,
Betwixt the school and our high station.

Don't you think I want to flatter,
When I call you Alma Mater,
If I did what would it matter,
Scores of others call you Mater.

My Alma Mater!
My pretty mother!
You dandled me upon your knee,
To mental heights where I could see.

But the world is moving on,
Some have come, and some have gone,
Others yet the world do storm,
I hope they do it no great harm.

Some are yet on college height,
In their lofty mental flight,
Long to soar from present plight,
To show the world their shining light.

The world is dark and needs the glow,
Of all the light that you can skow,
From College hall you soon may go,
Carrying weal or carrying woe.

But go slow John Barlnycorn,
That bell tolled for others ere you were born,
And when you are dead few will mourn;
And this old world will still roll on.

WESTON, Ocean-to-Ocean Walker, writes: Said recently: "When you feel down and out, feel there is no use living, just take your bad thoughts with you and walk them off. Before you have walked a mile things will look rosier. Just try it." Have you noticed the increase in walking of late in every community? Many attribute it to the comforts which Allan's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder to be shaken in the shoes, gives to the millions now using it. As Weston has said, "it has real merit."
