Are You An Up-To-Date 20th Century Farmer?

IF SO, YOU WILL USE

T. R. HUBBARD & SON'S

MODERN FERTILIZER BRANDS

TRADE MARK

MANY cannot understand why, after so many years doing business here, that T. R. Hubbard & Son's Fertilizers are more extensively used year after year. But the mystery is solved by a visit to our factory, which is always open for inspection to the public, and those who go down to our works marvel at the pains taken in manufacturing the goods.

"First, the bone is shoveled in the crusher with a scoop shovel and prepared for the Denmead mill, then it is dissolved, and after getting in good mechanical condition, if making dissolved bone goods, so many pounds of bone is put in the mixer. The nitrate of soda, fish and high grade potash are added, the whole thoroughly mixed, passed through a phosphate mill and screened and thrown up in bulk, to remain until it is shipped, and then it is bagged in new treated acid-proof bags, and sent out in splendid shape. We are often asked, "Why don't you run the goods when first mixed, right in the bags, and not go to the expense of treating the bags, as do other manufacturers?"

"We are often asked if this is not a needless extreme, but we reply—it pays to make the best.

Whilst there is some loss by evaporation by bulking, an additional expense in rebagging and an expense to treat the bags, when we remember that a farmer appreciates a good goods and in first-class mechanical condition, it pays to go to extremes, as it is impossible to make a first-class fertilizer otherwise; and by treating our customers right in their purchases, making the time of payment of the bill to suit them, we have gotten a personal hold upon our trade.

"Now, in order that we might continue to be an up-to-date concern, it was necessary to have our own acid chambers and an acid phosphate plant, so as to be entirely independent of the trust, and we have gone in with another concern and erected one of the most modernly equipped phosphate factories in the East, located at Canton. This will make our and supply the Chestertown factory, and instead of closing up our old factory, as many supposed, we will be in better shape than ever before, and will be worked harder than ever. We tell you all this, for when you know what we know about our business, you will not buy any ordinary fertilizer, but

OUR GIRLS.

A Higher and Nobler Work to be Done than Leader of Society—Practical Sense.

Our friend Wilson M. Tyler, of Easton, says some good things in his Gazette, among them being on the question of servants. Easton, like Chestertown, has this servant question to solve.

The housekeepers of Chestertown are, as usual at this time of the year, much perplexed over the servant problem. While the condition is always a perplexing one, yet the aggravation increases with the opening of the factories. The thorough independence of the average cook permits her to leave the housewife with bread in the oven and all the domestic duties on her hands, with probably a baby or two, and an occasional sick child by way of diversion. Without thought or consideration, Mrs. Average Cook goes to the tomato factory where she can mingle with a hundred others of her class, and perhaps earn more wages in the same length of time.

This she does by constant rush, rush, rush,—her fingers flying as they never thought of doing in the kitchen. When the season is over she has saved something, and feels able to live the balance of her allotted time on the earth without work. By the time winter sets in she is again penniless, with no home, and, if inclined, seeks one as before. In the meantime she has not made her own condition better, but has greatly inconvenienced the one who would have kept her comfortably employed.

And so it goes, year after year, with no improvement, until a wail goes up all over the county, imploring a remedy. This condition cannot be changed in a moment or a year, and one instinctively looks to the future to solve the problem. That being the case, education must be begun, and the sooner the better. It devolves, therefore, largely upon educators and the schools to remedy the servant problem of the future.

It is with our girls that this matter of a further education may well be considered. Will a knowledge of the higher mathematics aid her in becoming a good wife and a fond mother, which, after all, is the crown and perfection of a woman's existence? Will she be able to cook the better because she knows Latin roots and can solve the most abstruse equations? "It is lamentably true," says an authority, "that the large majority of our girls can only look forward to a life of labor and toil as the wife of a man of moderate circumstances 'Only', did we say? That is the wrong word—the woman who fills that sphere and fills it well does a higher and nobler work than many a jaded leader of society, and her rewards even here are greater in the love and affection of her husband and children." For the girl, then, who expects to marry, it may well be asked if the next few years cannot be most profitably spent in her mother's kitchen and at her mother's sewing basket, learning the mysteries of household economy and household management that will prove more necessary in after life than Latin declensions or mathematical theorems.

But, it may be said, not all girls marry, and every girl should be able to earn her own living. This is very true, although it may well be said that higher education seems to be a hindrance rather than an aid to matrimony. How many women lawyers or doctors marry? It would seem as if more education made them more critical and harder to please. Does it always give them more chance to earn thir own living?

Judging by the troubles of housekeepers, the largest field for girls who have to support themselves is right in the kitchen. Not necessarily as drudges but as scientific cooks and managers. How many women right in Easton stand ready to pay wages which, taking into consideration that board and lodging are provided, are on a par with those paid many school teachers and typewriters? And such cooks are the most care-free and independent of wage-earners.

We are aware that such a proposition does not meet with a very popular reception from the majority of our girls. To be "at service" sounds all wrong to the young American of today. It requires the hard knocks of life to make us realize that we are not as independent as we would like to be—that we are all at the service of others.

WE have just completed an advertising contract for the Bobbitt Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md. This company manufactures Rheumacide, which is said to possess unusual merit, and makes permanent cures of that dread disease, rheumatism, which is a very common, painful and dangerous disease. Our business dealings with the company have been pleasant and entirely satisfactory in every respect.

Ten Thousand Churches

In the United States have used the Longman & Martinez Pure Paints.

Every Church will be given a liberal quantity whenever they paint.

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for Linseed oil (worth 60 cents) which you do when you buy thin paint in a can with a paint label on it.

8 & 6 makes 14, therefore when you want fourteen gallons of paint, buy only eight gallons of L. & M., and mix six gallons of pure linseed oil with it.

You need only four gallons of L. & M. Paint, and three gallons of Oil mixed therewith to paint a good sized house

Houses painted with these paints never grow shabby, even after 18 years.
