THE THIRD NATIONAL BANK

OF CHESTERTOWN, MD.

Extract from the proceedings of the Maryland Bankers' Association at their last meeting held June 23rd, 1910:

"There is, too, one other reason—in the race for business there are those who recognize—though perhaps they are loath to admit it, even to themselves—that on equal terms they cannot compete with their neighbors, and that to get business they must pay more, or, as it is delicately put, 'offer inducements' greater than those which can be had from their more conservative competitors, and greater than sound banking permits. Protest against wild banking, against undue risks, against dangerous practices, etc."

The conservatively managed bank is certainly the Third National Bank of Chestertown, the ONLY NATIONAL BANK in this county.

More Contributions to Extravagance.

Here are two more illustrations of the way in which the tax-payers of the county are required to pay for the extravagance of the past in the management of the county's financial affairs:

Mrs. Emma E. Fowler, who lives in the Sixth District, paid in 1909.

County tax	$16.31
State tax	2.09
	$18.40
1910.
County tax	$24.14
State tax	2.09
	$26.43

Mrs. Fowler's contribution to the "Extravagance Fund" is $8.03. Mrs. Fowler's taxes for this year are almost half as much again as they were last year. And so it goes.

Mr. Charles M. Brown, a well-known farmer of the Seventh District, paid in 1909

County Tax	$17.31
State Tax	2.22
	$19.53
1910
County Tax	$25.62
State Tax	2.22
	$27.84

Mr. Brown's contribution to the "Extravagance Fund" is $8.31. As in the case of Mrs. Fowler, Mr. Brown's taxes for this year are almost one-half as much again as they were in 1909, and whose fault is it? The men who contracted the debt for somebody else to pay.

A Brilliant Concert.

The concert given by the Johns Hopkins musical clubs of Baltimore in William Smith Hall on Thursday evening was attended by a good audience, and it was one of the most brilliant social events of the winter. The program was replete with splendid selections, the vocal and instrumental numbers being rendered with such fine effect as to receive repeated encores. The solo and chorus work was brilliant and reflected great credit upon one of the finest musical organizations in the country. It was the first appearance here of the Johns Hopkins club, and those who heard the musical are hoping that these fine concerts may be a yearly occurrence. The glee club numbers 20 men, and the instrumental club numbers 12. Mr. Frank Leland is the Tenor Soloist and Mr. Thomas DeC. Ruth the Bass Soloist. Mr. Ruth possesses a rich voice, and the audience was charmed with his selections. Mr. W. Ray, the violin soloist, possesses rare merit, and he handles the bow in such a charming manner as to bring from his instrument the sweetest music. The concert was a rare treat to Chestertown people. The members of the club were delightfully entertained before the concert at the home of Mr. L. Wethered Barroll, a student of the University, and after the concert they attended the annual Christmas dance in Stam's Hall. The patronesses for the concert were:

Took Successful Examination

Miss Minnie Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hicks, of this town, and a member of the faculty of the Maryland School for the Blind, took the examination for a teacher's first grade certificate before county school superintendent Milton Melvin on Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss Hicks, though totally blind, made a most creditable showing, receiving a splendid general average. A part of the examinations were oral and a part written. In the written examinations Miss Hicks used an ordinary typewriter with as much skill as one possessed of sight. When she is in practice, Miss Hicks has a stroke of 60 words per minute. Prof. Melvin was much impressed with the character of Miss Hicks work, and she was equally impressed with the superintendent's courtesy. Miss Hicks is the first blind person in the state of Maryland to take an examination for public school work, and her success will no doubt be of great value to her in her life work of teaching. She is one of our most intelligent young ladies, and all her friends are proud of her great success.
