COACH U. S. YOUNG TELLS HOW LINCOLN BEAT HOWARD

Coach Young Calls Byrd Best Broken Field Runner, Says Game Was "Clean"

By U. S. YOUNG
(Coach of Lincoln)

Regardless of the final result of the Howard-Lincoln Football Classic staged in Washington, D. C., on Turkey Day, it will go down in history as one of the most thrilling and interesting contests ever played between these ancient rivals.

From the very opening play of the game until the referee's whistle brought the battle to its close, the character of offensive attack used by both elevens happened to be the very kind of football calculated to please the general populace.

The open game, lending itself to the possibility of sensational individual playing is easier to understand. Howard's spread formations with McLean's wonderful ability to throw forward passes, was certainly sufficient to keep every spectator in a state of mental exhilaration. It is no secret that McLean's cool, collective and deliberate manner of hurling passes was not intended to help the heart action of an opponent coach. McLean, was indeed, Howard's star—a splendid athlete and a gentleman. His change of pace as an open field runner was very deceptive, and hard to stop.

The Shimmy Shift

Howard's shimmy shift was beautiful to watch. It had in it every element necessary for success. To the writer's knowledge it is the first shift of its kind ever used by any Negro college. Its innovation bespeaks the shrewdness and the strategic power of Howard's mentor. Captain Dokes, of Howard, played as Dokes was expected to play. No one has ever doubted Dokes' ability. His experience and knowledge of the game easily classed him as the best linesman representing the Bisons.

Howard Line Vulnerable

The prediction long before the game, and the dope of football critics was to the effect that Howard's line could not be penetrated by Lincoln's offense. After having scouted Howard in several of their games, I was humanly certain that this was a fallacy, and that Lincoln's forwards would outplay Howard's line. Morgan, Calloway, Grasty, Henry and Wilson proved the strength of my conviction. Calloway, Morgan and Grasty had, as a matter of fact, the easiest time they have experienced this season. They outcharged, they outblocked and outplayed their opponents throughout the entire game.

Lancaster and Crudup

No one has ever doubted that Lancaster and Crudup are the best ends playing football in Negro colleges. Lancaster on the receiving end of forward passes and Crudup with his talented toe, were in the limelight during the entire game. Crudup, as captain of the Lions, with his fighting spirit, has been able to inject that spirit into all of his men.

Byrd Best In Country

Byrd came, Byrd saw, and Byrd conquered. He is the ideal open field runner. Until I see "Red" Grange, of Illinois, in action, I shall rate Byrd as the best open field runner in the country, black or white. Despite the running, could he would be stopped, few who entered Griffith Stadium, believed that Howard could stop him. Thousands went to see Byrd run. They were not disappointed. Playing his last game for his Alma Mater, he was determined that nothing should stop him. Due to an accident near the end of the game, I thought to remove him from the game. He would not have it said, however, that Howard forced him out, and finished in a blaze of glory, sixty minutes of polished football.

Lee, supreme punter, was the thorn in Howard's side, while Byrd was being watched. His interception of passes was the undoing of the Bisons. Lee hits the line and skirts the ends in an amazing fashion. He is the most conscientious and hardest worker it has ever been my lot to know. His playing in 1924 will long be remembered by all who saw the game.

Goodman, Taylor, Webber, Morris and Anderson were the other speed demons who went for substantial gains whenever called upon. Bal Taylor, quarterback, in his last game of his college experience, was the master mind, using good, exceptionally good, strategy during the entire game.

Lincoln won an honorable victory and is happy. Howard's defeat was not inglorious. What counted most was the fact that the game was clean. Those who came to witness the contest represented the best type of Negroes in America. It was indeed a classic occasion. The friendly rivalry goes on in anticipation of the coming 1925 game, to be played in Philadelphia.

for 6; Sims slipped through right tackle for 4 and Parker plunged through the same place for the touchdown. Tadlock blocked Edward's kick. Score first half: Talladega 6; Tuskegee, 7.

SECOND HALF

The second half opened with Tuskegee waging another driving attack, with Wooten, Bailey, Stevenson darting thru the jagged holes in the collegians' line for long gains. First down after first down was negotiated by this trio, until thee ball was on Talladega's 8 yard line. Two penalties brought the ball back to the 18 yard line; Wooten crashed through tackle for 10 yards; Bailey made two; and on the fourth down Stevenson kicked a field goal.

The Tigers continued their rampage in the final period when Stevenson side-stepped and twisted 22 yards thru the Talladegans' defense; Wooten smashed through for 10 yards losing his footing without being tackled, and Joyner ploughed thru center for 14 yards being stopped on the 3 yard line. Bailey dived through tackle for the touchdown and Stevenson kicked goal.

Stevenson added three more during the period by a field goal from the twenty-yard line. Coach Abbott, following this score, made frequent substitutions. Stevenson, by running, passing and kicking was the outstanding star of the game. Sharing honors with Clay, Bailey, Wooten, Jennings, Robinson and Tadlock of Tuskegee and Parker, Simms, Solomon, Harris and Alexander for Talladega.

The game was witnessed by a large crowd of fans coming from Montgomery, Columbus, Albany, Birmingham and Selma.

The Tuskegee Institute Tigers left Thursday night for New Orleans, where they play the New Orleans University Saturday, November 29 and from there they proceed to Waco, Texas to play Paul Quinn College.

DEAF MUTE IS FOOTBALL STAR

By L. Masenburg

Phillies' Park, Phila. Pa. Dec. 4.—George Harlow's crack Pennsylvania Institute for the Deaf Football Team, which have never been tied or defeated this season, battled to a 3-3 deadlock on Saturday afternoon with the Ridley Park High School team, of Ridley Park, Pa.

Sheppard, a race boy, on the Mute team, was the outstanding star of the game.

Although the mutes from Mount Airy, who posses an eleven which is rated the best in local schoolboy ranks outplayed Ridley Park, the slippery field played havoc with Sheppard.

Time and again Sheppard got off to beautiful runs, but just when he seemed headed for the goal posts, fell on the slippery field. Sheppard, who stands out as one of the greatest backs in scholastic ranks, thrilled the spectators inumerable times with his sensational methods of ground gaining. Besides this the lad who promises to develop into a second "Fritz" Pollard, played a bang-up game on the defense.

CHAS. REID HI SCHOOL BOY IS FOOTBALL STAR

St. Paul-Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 5.—Every daily paper in Minneapolis has given Charles Reid, Central High School boy a prominent place on their mythical all-city football squad.

Reid's playing contributed largely to Central winning the city championship. His accomplishments are made more remarkable by the fact that he is the only Colored player on any of the teams.

Some writers have called Reid a second Earl Martineau, being a good ball carrier, punter and a wonder at throwing accurate forward passes. He graduates this year at 17 and will enter the University of Minnesota.

MOREHOUSE SWAMPS FISK UNIVERSITY 52-0

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 27.—The Morehouse Tigers, coached by B. T. Harvey, piled up a 52-0 score against the Fisk Buildogs in the annual Thanksgiving game, here today.

Not a quarter passed but what the Morehouse backs went across the Fisk goal for at least one touchdown.

Fisk received the kickoff. She immediately began to progress backwards. When Morehouse received the ball she started a double time march, down the field.

Archer, Clark, Walker and Rodgers alternating in carrying the ball. In a few minutes they had ripped thru the tissue paper line and made a touchdown, Clark carrying the ball over. Again Fisk received the kickoff. Given the ball on her 20 yard line, she was unable to make any headway. In a few more plays Morehouse made another touchdown. Walker went through the line for 21 yards and Clark completed a 25-yard pass to Rodgers who fell across the goal line. Rodgers kicked goal.

Jack Johnson Improving

Elgin, Ill., Nov. 26.—Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion of the world, who was injured near here when his automobile overturned, was reported improved at a local hospital today.

Johnson suffered lacerations about the head and body, but not of a serious nature.

'FORCE-W. VA. IN SCORELESS TIE

Columbus, O., Dec. 4.—(P. N. S.)—Wilberforce University and West Virginia Institute finished in a 0-0 deadlock in their contest Thursday afternoon at Neil Park for the colored championship of the middle west.

West Virginia threatened in the second quarter, but lacked the necessary drive to put over a score. A crowd of about 4500 fans witnessed the game.

SIKI VS. BURKE

New York, Dec. 5.—Battling Siki, the Senegalese, will make his bow to Brooklyn, this Friday in the Rink Arena opposed by Jack Burke, a light heavyweight of Pittsburgh, who has established a reputation in the Smoky City ring.

Siki is determined to make the fighter look on a real fighter and not a hapy go lucky boxing clown before he hangs up his gloves.

HUBGINS CONTINUES TO RIDE TO VICTORY

Bowie, Md., Dec. 5.—Riding three winners in succession in one day was the record of G. Hudgins, race jockey at the Bowie track last Saturday.

Astride Eagerness, who paid $20.-80, Hudgins placed first in the fifth race. In the sixth piloting Belcross he led the field and his mount paid the sum of $10.70. The seventh race found him astride Jacques, who finished second and paid $3.60.

ATLANTIC CITY BIG "Y" WINS

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 5.—The Big "Y" of Atlantic City opened their 1924-25 basketball season on Thanksgiving night at the Waltz Dream Hall

The game was fast and clean with a 34-20 win, over the strong Philadelphia Scholastics.

The game was fast and clean throughout and pleased the 600 fans who attended.

The Scholastics put up a good fight, but the Atlantic City "Y" showed it's superiority with clean and clever playing. Accurate passing and dead shots enabled the home team to lead at half time, score 15 to 9.

In the remaining half the shore boys ran their total high and at the final whistle, the score read Atlantic City 34, Scholastics 20. "Longy" Saunders scintillated with 5 goals: McLean with three, Todd with two, Knox, Greene, Miller and Fells with 1 each.

For the losers, Nottingham, Bell and Hawkins showed up well. The Big "Y" members are all formerly of the "Y" Reserves, a team which established a record of winning seventy-nine straight games, and with the win on Thanksgiving night, makes their total of eighty.

On Friday night December 5, the Randolph A. C., of Philadelphia will oppose the "Y."

ST. PAUL DEFEATS DURHAM STATE

(By J. L. Whitehead)

Russell Field, Thanksgiving Day.—Despite the fact that the Durham State Normal School entered the Virginia-Carolina game the favorite, a record-breaking crowd St. Paul N. & I. School conquer the 1924 North Carolina champions by a 16 to 0 score here to day.

The big features of State's offense were Stroud's 37 yard run, Coward's 22 yard dash, the Stroud-Busby 31 yard beautiful forward pass, the Coward-Stroud 25 yard forward pass and Harris's 30 yard run back to a punt and his 10 yard gain on the two attempts through the Virginian's formidable and stubborn line. Hammond starred for the Carolinians at center.

TIGER FLOWERS BEATS JOHNSON

Georgia Deacon Hands New York Heavyweight an Unmerciful Lacing at Canton

TIGER GOT TIRED

Flowers Tried For Kayo in 12th But Was Arm Weary and Clem Refused to Drop

Canton, O., Nov. 28.—Parson Theodore Flowers, known in pugilistic circles as the Tiger, literally wore himself out punching Clem Johnson, husky heavyweight, from New York, last night in their swat-fest at the Auditorium.

In the face of a 30 pound handicap in weight, the southern Tiger swarmed all over the easterner and won by several miles but he could not bring Johnson down. In fact, Clem did not appear to be hurt, although he left the ring with a face that was battered raw and bled freely from eyes, nose and mouth.

Absorbed Punishment

Johnson proved to be a poor specimen when it came to boxing. He was slow and lacked almost everything essential to a good battler. It is very easy to understand now why Harry Willis failed to knock Johnson out.

Flowers actually tired himself punching Clem in the last three rounds, and every blow the Tiger landed was equipped with plenty of steam pressure, but Johnson absorbed his punishment without going down. Flowers took things easy in the early rounds and it was evident that he was not putting force on his blows, but the Tiger tried his level best to send Johnson to snoozeland in the final reunds but was unable to do it.

Flowers Real Fighter

Flowers is a real fighter. He exhibited one of the greatest two fisted attacks we have ever seen and his speed was amazing. His left hand was constantly at work and many of the whirlwind tactics made famous by middleweight champion Harry Greb were a part of his offensive. He had Johnson puzzled in the early rounds of the battle that big Clem looked like a man who was using boxing gloves for the first time. Johnson's left hand was of no use to him. He never used it in the first six rounds and Flowers punished him at will.

First Five Rounds Tame

The first five rounds were tame insofar as actual fighing was concerned. Flowers was all over the New York heavyweight in every round and the Tiger's dazzling speed was a sight worth seeing. In the sixth round Johnson showed some signs of life and used his left a bit, but what few punches the New York man landed, availed him nothing. When Johnson did show an inclination to fight and happened to hit Flowers, the Tiger fought at the more and Clem never had a chance.

Tiger Is Fouled

Johnson hit the Tiger low in the seventh round and Flowers crumpled up for a bit but quickly recovered and went after his man with renewed energy. His left hand never stopped working and he landed so many punches to all parts of Johnson's anatomy, that even a skilled statistican would have been unable to keep an accurate count. In the eighth round Flowers let up a bit and spent most of his time trying to keep Johnson from holding

GIBBONS WANTS COLORED FIGHTERS AS TRAINERS

New York, Dec. 5.—Tom Gibbons arrived in town last week for his bout with Kid Norfolk at Madison Square Garden on December 9, and immediately sent out an S O S for sparring partners.

John Lester Johnson, Jamaica Kid, Jack Townsend and Bill Tate are a few of the big fellows Kane would like to sign as sparring mates for Gibbons.

Leo Flynn, manager of Kid Norfolk made the statement that Gibbons will never be the same man he was before he met Dempsey, says Flynn. Gibbons was so badly baten up by Dempsey that he refused matches for months and contented himself with slim pickings from theatrical work. My contention that Gibbons is done for will be borne out when he meets Norfolk."

GARDNER TO PUBLISH C. I. A. A. GUIDE

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 5.—Prof. J. Estes (Chappie) Gardner, coach at Morris Brown University, has started work on compiling a Colored Intercollegiate Guide to appear September, 1925.

As an ex-coach of the Va. Union University, 1912 and '13, a football player organizer of New York City's only football team in 1918, 1919 and 1920 and carrying an intimate acquaintance with all leading football coaches, Gardner's Guide will be an authority that will be invaluable to all lovers of the gridiron sport.
