ROCK HALL NOTES.

Messrs. William Sultan and Joseph Cohen, of New Berne, N. C., have been guests the past week of their cousin, Mr. A. Alexander. This is Mr. Sultan's first visit here for about 34 years. He was most agreeably impressed with the great improvement of Rock Hall and vicinity since his last visit here.

Mr. Jesse Kendall, of Grey's Inn, is seriously ill with Bright's disease and dropsical affection.

Our excellent commissioner, Mr. Wagner, is having shells placed on the Allen's Lane thoroughfare and the Main road from Southern limits of the town to Grey's Inn Lane. This is good, but lots more shells are still needed for said road.

Mr. Donelly, our local photographer, is doing a rushing business since the opening of his gallery in this town.

Our farmers are in the midst of wheat harvest and are happy in the thought of a dollar price for their wheat. Some complain of the difficulty to secure labor; there are some here about doing nothing but they will not work on the farms.

Mr. Nathan Satterfield created considerable curiosity one day this week by passing through town with a scythe and cradle on his shoulder. Some had never seen such an instrument before while others had never seen one used. Mr. S. was on his way to cut a patch of oats and had the appearance of being "a real hayseed."

Another pretty June bride, but not the last one for this month says Dame Rumor, vowed on Wednesday evening that she would love, honor and keep in sickness and health, Mr. George Berger, so long as they both shall live. The bride was Miss Mary Moore and Rev. J. T. Richardson performed the solemnization ceremony at the parsonage. They go forth on their blissful voyage with the best wishes of a host of friends and relatives. They will reside with the bride's mother and brother on the Porter Farm.

The good old summer time has been ushered in on time and with a vengeance. It pleases our boarding-house keepers as it means a rush from the city.

The P. O. S. of A. held their semi-annual election at the last meeting and resulted as follows: President, Merrit Thompson; vice-president, J. V. Burgess; master of forms, Alex. Taylor; conductor, Elwood Glenn; inspector, William A. Bramble; guard, William G. Hindes; trustee, Wm. T. Downey; delegates to State Convention, Wm. A. Bramble, Jno. C. Ryan, Ben. H. Coburn; alternates, Merrit Thompson, J. V. Burgess, Wm. G. Davis.

SASSAFRAS ITEMS.

Miss Mary Davis has returned from her Wilmington College.

Mr. Paul Rosin, of Newark, N. J. is visiting his parents here at "Hill Top."

Miss Blanche Wright, of Warwick, one of our most accomplished young Cecil county young ladies is visiting many friends in lower Kent.

The P. R. D. has seemingly put a fence about Sassafras, and our whole town is up in arms over the stagnant state of our town. We can't see why the F. R. D. was forced on us and taking the place of our Post Office.

The finest fields of wheat we have noticed this season and seems uninjured is on Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pennington's farm tenanted by Judge Sheppard Morris, it is large, heavy and well filled out and I consider the fields the most beautiful.

GREAT DAY IN ZION.

Christ Church, Chestertown, Scene of a Remarkable Gathering—Sweet Singing, Big Sermons and Pleasant Memories.

Christ Methodist Protestant Church held beautiful and impressive memorial services all day last Sunday. Several months ago the Sunday school decided to place a memorial window in the lecture room to four prominent deceased officials of the church and school, viz., John K. Aldridge, S. Franklin Smith, T. Waters Russell, Willard Melvin. It was also decided to have the name of the late Mrs. Mary Jane Dodd added to that of her husband on the Dodd window, and the name of the late Mrs. Susan Wilson Bacchus to that of her husband on the Bacchus window. At the same time the school determined to put on the wall of the Sunday School room a bronze tablet to the memory of the late Mrs. Josephine Watson Hubbard, wife of Mr. Thomas R. Hubbard.

The work was completed more than two weeks ago, but owing to Children's Day and the College Commencement the ceremonies of unveiling were delayed until the 20th of the month. That day, from the viewpoint of the weather and, indeed, from every other viewpoint, proved to be an ideal June Sunday, with bright skies, balmy sunshine, sweet, refreshing zephyres and beautiful blooming flowers.

At the morning service the handsome auditorium was filled with worshipers and Dr. D. L. Greenfield, of Westminster, Md., the immediate predecessor of the present pastor, preached a magnificent sermon on the duty, dignity and durability of reward of overcoming through Jesus, the Lord, from the 12th verse of the 3rd chapter of Revelation. The sermon was a rich, intellectual and spiritual feast, and the whole service inspiring to a high degree.

In the afternoon another large gathering assembled for the Sunday school memorial exercises. The special features of this occasion were the timely, excellent address of the Rev. F. D. Reynolds, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church, Kennedyville, Md., and the unveiling proper of the window and tablet. The children and visitors were all happy and at their best in this simple, beautiful, gracious service.

At 6.30 P. M. the twilight memorial service was held with the largest congregation of the day, filling the audience room and overflowing into the Sunday school room beyond. Dr. Walter R. Graham, of Salisbury, Md., who was pastor of Christ Church when the present new, beautiful edifice was erected, preached a masterful sermon of great power on the motive, measure, manifestation and recompense of abundant loving service, from the story of the breaking of the alabaster box of ointment of spikenard and the annointment of the Savior's feet therewith, as found in Mark's gospel, 14th chapter 8 and 9 verses. Those privileged to be at this service can not soon forget the deep spiritual influence pervading the audience.

The choir of the church rendered splendid music at both the morning and evening worship, while the Sunday School did itself great credit in the rendering of sweet, glorious praises in the afternoon.

The new window in design, blended coloring and richness of finish is decidedly a work of art. The two figures of the pleading penitent supplicating the pardoning Savior are strikingly brought out and the suggested lessons caught on sight.

The bronze tablet is chaste in its perfect simplicity and elegant for its durability. The lettering is especially fine and the entire work neat and complete. The inscription on the plate is "Josephine Watson Hubbard, Beatae Memorie 1842—1901. A devoted worker in this church and Sunday School. A friend and helper of the poor, the sick, the needy. A lover of humanity. The fragrance of her pure life lingers with us still."

In the matter of preaching, music and congregations; from the point of view of grateful, tender loving memories and of blessed Christian fellowship it was a day that will be long remembered by those who were present, and those compelled to remain at home received good tidings of the day from friends. To the faithful pastor, Dr. Frank T. Little, devoted superintendent, Mr. Wm. B. Usilton, and to the cheerful contributors we extend congratulations.

Mr. John N. Bennett's horse was injured Monday while harvesting wheat. A stick flew up and struck the mare in the breast and caused quite a wound. Dr. Jarman treated the horse.

J. G. Beck has a fine 20 horse power Maxwell auto and Dr. Simmons has added a 30 horse-power machine to his garage.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

Mary Comegys Eliason.

"Tis better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all," can truly be said of Mrs. Mary Comegys Eliason, who died at her home near Chestertown Monday morning last, aged 52 years and 9 months. It was like a stroke out of a clear sky when a few months ago the news of Mrs. Eliason's serious condition was made known. She was carried to the University Hospital, Philadelphia, where all things possible were done to alleviate her suffering. She was brought home about ten days ago and died as stated, surrounded by her devoted family and beloved mother. The deceased was often pointed out as the healthiest woman in this community, and was a leader in all the social events of a large circle of friends.

She was the wife of Wilbur Eliason, Esq., and in their home was a queen and assisted with a strong but loving hand in rearing a family of five healthy, muscular men and one devoted daughter. She leaves, besides a grief-stricken husband, six children, namely: Wilbur Eliason, Jr., of Chestertown; Dr. Eldridge Eliason, of Philadelphia; John Eliason, of the Philadelphia bar; Holt Eliason, manager of the Fairfield Stock Food Company, of Philadelphia; Hiram Eliason, of Chestertown, and one daughter, Miss Rebecca Eliason, of Chestertown.

The deceased was the daughter of the late Capt. Hiram Brown and Mary E. Brown. The latter survives her, as also one brother, Mr. H. Clay Brown, and one sister, Miss Anna R. Brown.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at 6.30, conducted by Rev. Dr. L. E. Barrett. The interment was private at Chester cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. M. deK. Smith, Jr., Edward Wilkins, Thomas Massey, Harrison W. Vickers, Jr., W. W. Beck and Dr. A. B. Burris. Undertaker J. E. Ferguson had charge of arrangements.

Edgar H. Strong.

This community was shocked on Thursday with the announcement of the sudden death of Edgar H. Strong, aged 60. Mr. Strong had been enjoying his usual health until Monday when he felt unwell but soon got better. He was taken sick again Wednesday and died that night of heart trouble. The deceased lived on Grey's Inn Creek, one of the most eligible sites for a home in lower Kent. He first married Miss Gamble who died leaving no issue. His second wife, who survives, was Miss Rose Crouch, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Wm. Crouch, with eight boys and three girls. Mr. Strong was one of the most gentle of men and his kind and affectionate manner seemed more the qualities of a woman than of a man. Yet with all his sweetness of temper and gentleness of demeanor he had sterling qualities of manhood which placed him a peer among his fellows. He was a home lover and drew about him his interesting family to counsel and advise them as did the yeomen of the olden days. He was a farmer first but was an expert waterman and apiarist and a gentleman of high intelligence.

The funeral took place Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock with interment at St. Paul's, Dr. H. B. Martin officiating. The bearers were Messrs. Jos. Watkins, Walter Strong, Edgar Strong, Jr., Miller Strong, Ruthen Strong and Paul Massey

Andrew A. Rinehart.

Andrew A. Rinehart died at his home on the Hulme farm, near Fairlee, on Friday morning, aged 62. He had been sick for about three months. He leaves a widow and two sons. Mr. Rinehart purchased the Hulme farm about 12 years ago and since then he has been one of Kent's estimable citizens. He was a native of Frederick county and was formerly a contractor and builder. The interment will take place at Louden Park Cemetery, Baltimore, this afternoon; J. E. Ferguson, undertaker.
