LOCAL MATTERS

Gas Company Held Up.—Progress on the work of laying the gas mains in Chestertown has been stopped because the promoters have learned that the Public Utilities Commission must pass upon the project. This will not be done before Sept. 21. Messrs. Louis Ruffeto and Merritt W. Pharo, who secured the franchise to instal the plant, formulated their application to the commission and forwarded it to the commission on Friday. Work will be resumed as soon as the commission reaches a decision.

NEWSY GLEANINGS.

Dr. J. W. Urie, of Kennedyville, has a fine new Ford automobile which arrived on Monday evening.

The oyster season opened yesterday. The TRANSCRIPT hopes that the oystermen may have a successful season.

Downie and Wheler's big circus will show in Chestertown on Thursday Sept. 14th. Robbins circus will come Sept. 21.

Massive porch pillars have been erected during the week at the Hubbard building, corner High and Front streets.

Mr. John E. Matthews, agent, has moved the Adams' Express office to his new store and dwelling in the Burnt District.

A movement is on foot that may prove of supreme interest to our sporting fraternity. We may be at liberty to give particulars next week.

All who desire a fine made-to-measure suit or overcoat from the "Hign Art" line of samples should read Bordley & son's advertisement on the first page of this issue.

The Bordley store room, cor. High and Cross street was lighted up Saturday night for the first time with a gasoline vapor system. The room was used Tuesday as a polling place for the primary election.

Messrs. Spry and J. J. Lockwood on Saturday purchased the Vansant & Newsome shack on the square for $55. It will be removed as soon as the firm can remove to its new quarters in the Perkins building on High street.

The home of Mr. Robert R. Hill near Kennedyville was entered by a sneak thief on Monday night. Nothing of great value was taken, the intruder evidently being after money as all desk and bureau drawers were ransacked.

Remarkable catches of fish, both rock and perch, have been made off Betterton and Poole's Island during the past two weeks. The Baltimore papers have been giving glowing accounts and city anglers could scarcely wait for their vacation time?

Mr. Thomas S. Bordley, the clothier and gents furnisher, has associated his son, Mr. Carl N. Bordley in business with him, and when the new store is ready for occupancy, which will be very shortly, the business will be conducted under the firm name of Bordley & Son.

The barn on the Waters farm, near Galena, tenanted by Mr. Andrew Vansant, was burned on Thursday of last week, together with 1200 bushels of wheat and some farm implements. The origin of the fire is unknown but it is believed that the barn was struck by lightning.

The Burnt District is rapidly being rebuilt, the anniversary of the great fire is only three weeks distant, and still no move has been made to arrange for a great celebration of the rebuilding of the District. It will require time to complete arrangements for any kind of a celebration and our merchants are the proper persons to start the movement. Let's get busy.

FIGHT FOR GOVERNOR.

Friends of Senator Gorman Put Him Over the Line a Winner, But Senator Lee Makes Remarkable Fight.

For the first time in Maryland the people have had the opportunity to name the candidates for the State offices, and after a campaign notable for its absence of personalities, but hard-fought from start to finish, Senator Gorman emerges a winner by a majority of more than 12,000 in the popular vote, and a majority of 1 in the delegates to the State Convention. Senator Lee, backed by Governor Crothers and Congressman Talbot, made a remarkable fight, carrying 15 of the counties of the State and 64 of the delegates to the State Convention, against 65 for Senator Gorman. The indorsement of Senator Gorman by the Anti-Organization in Kent was a big factor in the Gorman victory, for it insured the county to Senator Gorman instead of to Senator Lee. So close was the result throughout the State, that a change of a few votes distributed through two counties would have turned the tide the other way. But Senator Lee is a good loser, and he and his friends and supporters will get solidly behind Senator Gorman, and the election of Mr. Gorman is certain. The result in the State is as follows:

CECIL COUNTY.

Complete unofficial returns from Cecil county give Lee for Governor a majority of 174 and Evans for Comptroller 474.

Both the Organization and Anti-Organization elected part of their ticket, Smith and Clendenin, Anti-Organization, and Steele, Organization, being nominated for the House of Delegates. The Anti-Organization captured two of three members of the State Centrial Committee and divided the delegation with the Organization for members to the State Convention. Adam Peeples, Speaker of the last House of delegates, was a candidate, but was defeated. Richard K. Barnes was nominated for Sheriff; E. Kurtz Taylor, the incumbent, was renominated for County Treasurer, Walter C. Martindell for assistant treasurer, and Richard B. Meritt, Wm. H. Simcoe and Miltin S. Sentman for members of the Orphan's Court. The first two are present members of the of the bench.

Tolchester Rain Soaked.

It is to be very much regretted that the heavy rains of the week have interfered to such an extent with the Tolchester fair as to prevent any racing, and to make life miserable for the management and those in charge of the exhibits. Arrangements had been made for one of the best fairs in the history of the association, and a string of the best horses in the State and vicinity had been secured for the races, but Jupiter Pluvius was king of the day, and horses remained in their stables, and exhibitors were compelled to make the best of the situation. The exhibits in the hall were more numerous than usual, and the exhibits of the Kent and Queen Anne's grange were large and more varied than ever before. We shall endeavor to give a list of the winners in our next issue. So far as the contest between the granges is concerned the prize winners were as follows:

In the county contest, Chestertown grange won the Kent prize over Fairlee. In Queen Anne's Church Hill won first prize. In the contest between the two county granges, Kent won first prize of $25 and Queen Annes took second.

The exhibit for Kent was in charge of Mr. E. A. Corey, and for Queen Annes, Mr. James T. Anthony. Both gentleman attended to their duties in splendid manner, and arranged the exhibits in an attractive and appropriate style. Others who looked after the exhibits were:

J. Page Gale, superintendent of farm machinery and tools: M. P. Lee, in charge of the main exhibit hall, and John P. Nicholson, of fruits and vegetables. In charge of the Grange exhibits were E. A. Corey, of Kent county, and J. T. Anthony, of Queen Annes. In charge of the flower department was Mrs. T. H. M. Bramble, and in the dairy department was Mrs. P. V. Hendrickson.

The most active man on the grounds was Secretary George E. Noland. He had a primary election ballot in his desk and went and looked at it every little while, but his mind was on the fair. When the race track was flooded and the races called off Mr. Noland began to arrange for a vaudeville entertainment, but the rain checked this, too.

The weather this year was identical to the weather of four years ago.

Several races took place yesterday afternoon.
