OWES HER LIFE TO

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vienna, W. Va.—"I feel that I owe the last ten years of my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Eleven years ago I was a walking shadow. I had been under the doctor's care but got no relief. My husband persuaded me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like a charm. It relieved all my pains and misery. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MRS. EMMA WHEATON, Vienna, W. Va.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any similar medicine in the country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every such suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

SMALL-BRIM HATS NOW

M'Lady's Headgear This Fall Will Have Larger Crown.

Like the sheath gown and other novel creations for women's wear, the peach-basket hat, which commanded so much attention this summer because of its size, is doomed. At the fall opening of a big millinery house last week handsome hats of many forms and designs but with smaller brims than the peach basket variety, were shown as the styles of women's headgear that will be worn this fall.

The new hats are large, but there is an appreciable decrease in the size of the brims, while the crowns are higher. The brims "mushroom" from the crown and roll at the edge, creating a very pretty effect. What has been taken off in the brim of the peach-basket is added on in the crown of the fall hat, with a pleasing result.

A distinctive novelty in fall headgear is the chamois hat, a smart creation of chamois, faced in black velvet and of a sensible size. Another new feature is the use of amber ornaments, resembling hatpins, which are placed on the sides of the hats, with ribbons running through them.

The paradise aigrette on small hats of turban shape will be one of the smart styles. The hats are made of velvet, beaver and plush, and the aigrette form of feathers gives a chic touch to the daintily shaped hats.

A style that promises to be very much in vogue is the large silk hat with rolled brim, hat crown, trimmed with white kid and ornamented with a natty flat bow on the side. This creation will be much used for general use, and will give the wearer rather distinctive air and credit for appreciation of a sensible new style, which will prove very popular.

In ornamentation, coque feathers will predominate, although fancy feathers will be largely used. Coque feathers with large wings show up to decided advantage on some of the larger hats. A great deal of ribbon will embellish the appearance of the high-crowned hats, and especially those having soft velvet crowns.

Great liberty will be allowed in the use of colors, but the flashier shades will not be much in vogue, prunnelle, various shades of green, especially olive green, nutmeg brown and amethyst being the most popular colors.

TRYING NEW TREATMENT TO PREVENT CHOLERA

State Veterinarian Mackie, accompanied by Dr. H. J. Shore, of the Bureau of Animal Industry, Washington, D. C., were at the home of W. Irving Walker, near Church Hill, last week to make a test experiment on hogs belonging to Mr. Walker with immunizing serum, which has been used with success in the Western part of the country for the prevention of hog cholera. Mr. Walker has recently lost twenty or more hogs from cholera, and has about fourteen others affected. The doctors took a quantity of serum and blood infected with hog cholera. They selected twelve shoats which have shown no sign of the disease. Nine of the twelve were given a quantity of the serum and virulent blood, and the other three were given the blood so as to infect them with cholera.

If the nine shoats which were given the serum and blood do not contract the cholera, and the three that were given the virulent blood do contract, it will be sufficient proof of the effectiveness of the serum in preventing the disease. All the shoats will be kept separate but under exposed conditions, and the experiment will be watched with interest. Col. Albert Story furnished six of the twelve shoats. Dr. Shore, who has made considerable study of the disease, states that the serum has been given with great success in the West, not more than one per cent. of all hogs treated ever having contracted the disease. In view of the fact that no cure has ever been found for hog cholera, if there can be found a sure preventive of the disease, it will mean the saving of thousands of dollars annually to the farmers of this state. The experiment at Mr. Walker's will be watched with interest. If the experiment proves successful the state has in view the manufacture of the serum for distribution among the farmers through the State Live Stock Sanitary Board.

DONT BE A FAULT-FINDER.

Faultfinding is one of the commonest vices even of the virtuous. We are all infected more or less with it, and the great charm of it is that it has a curious way of raising us in our own good opinions, and making us feel superior to the rest of the world. We cannot lament (the virtuous fault-finder always laments—never exults) over the shortcomings or vices of our neighbors without being conscious of a little glow of satisfaction over our own immaculate reputation and our known virtues. We despise the gossip and they busy-body from the bottom of our hearts, but this does not prevent our telling our friend Mrs. Brown "what a horrible man that vulgar Mr. Jones is," and that "it is a well-known thing that he spends all his time and energy in betting and gambling." Then comes a little qualm of concience, for we know that we have been guilty of evil speaking, so we add hastily: "Of course, it does not matter to us—it is not our affair; but we do feel so for his poor wife!" And so we find fault without the least good purpose, and on some pretext or other we make excuse for our hateful pleasure, and continue as ever.

It would be well for fault-finders to remember that their conversation may be amusing to a certain class of people, but they are perfectly sure to win for themselves dislike and contempt. A love of fault-finding is a repulsive characteristic to a right-minded person, and it has a most deteriorating effect on the character of those who indulge it. A person who is always on the quivive to detect what is bad or unlovely in people and things around her must become like that which she is always contemplating. A morbid taste for the ugly side of life destroys our powers of appreciation of that which is good and beautiful, and makes us like unto human birds of prey, who have cultivated in themselves a love of carrion till they no longer possess appetites for that which is good and wholesome.

For indigestion and all stomach trouble take Foley's Orino Laxative as it stimulates the stomach and liver and regulates the bowels and will positively cure habitual constipation. Sold by all druggists.

Miracle or Fincastle Wheat.

MR. JOSEPH GUEST, of our town, who sold to a small number of our farmers some of this splendid wheat, reports results from a few users. Some are phenomenal results, others are not so good; but considering the unfavorable season for wheat in this section, all did well. See his adv. and if interested write to the users, inclosing stamp for answer, and find out the method used in cultivating this wheat. It will post you how to till it for results. The following are the results:

W. W. Smith, St. George's, Del., reports 3 bushels from 22 ounces seeding.
C. I. Barto, Cordova, Md., 58 pounds from 1 pound seeding.
Arthur Rivers, St. Michaels, Md., 51 pounds from 1 pound seeding.
C. L. Dood, Chestertown, Md., 120 pounds from 2 pounds seeding.
Thos. Bryan and J. D. Urie, Chestertown, Md., 200 pounds from 1 pound seeding.
Wm. Bryan, Morgnec, Md., 90 pounds from 2 pounds seeding.
J. F. Leaverton, Fairlee, Md., 36 pounds from 1 pound seeding.
C. W. Rhinehart, Fairlee, Md., 120 pounds from 4 pounds seeding. Mr Rhinehart writes: Let it get too ripe—lost much by shattering and birds.
Dr. J. A. Carlton, Palmetto, Ga., reports the phenomenal result of 8 bushels (480 lbs) from 29 ounces seeding.

Any one wishing to ascertain the true facts as to mode of culture and results may write to any or all above names enclosing a self addressed envelope, stamped, for answer.

Above I give worst and best results.

I am authorized to take a limited number of orders for this wheat at $1.25 per pound, cash. One thing is sure—it is a good wheat and no fake.

A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana writes: "Last year I suffered three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interferred with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." Sold by all druggists.
