FASTEST RACE TYPIST IN WORLD'S CONTEST

Washington Boy To Meet Best Amateurs In World Next October

HAS WON SEVEN MEDALS

High Tribute Paid To His High School Teacher And Trainer

Washington, D. C.—Cortez W. Peters, winner of the Diamond medal in a recent typists' contest will enter the word's championships this October

Young Peters, just 18 years old, has won seven medals and a number of other prizes in national typists' contests. He was born in Washington, is a product of the local schools and completed the four year high school course at Dunbar in three and a half years.

In his senior year he wrote an essay in the Harvey S. Firestone essay contest and won first place also took ninth place nationally.

Some of the medals he has won include the Underwood bronze, Silver, Gold and Diamond Medals, the Diamond Medal being the highest prize to be won from the Underwood Typewriter Company; the Remington Gold Medal and Remington No. 12 Standard Typewriter, which is the highest prize to be won from the Remington Typewriter Company; the Royal Gold Medal, which is next highest prize to be won from the Royal Typewriter Company and the Woodstock Gold Jeweled Pin, which is the next highest prize to be won from the Woodstock Typewriter Company.

He was the first person in Washington D. C., to win the Underwood Gold Medal, and maintained the highest net speed of anyone in the district on the Remington Typewriter in the semi-yearly Accuracy Contest. Only approximately 75 persons in the World have won a Remington Typewriter in the 11 years that this award has been open to the public.

In winning the Underwood Diamond Medal Emblem he has automatically classined himself as being one of the ranking amateur typists in the world. There have been awarded only 11 diamond medals by the Underwood Typewriter Company to anyone in the world. The other ten have been won by their own trained experts and typists classified as the greatest typists in the world.

The record of the ranking amateur typist is 113 net five-stroke words compared to his record of 105 net five-stroke words This typist is at present an Underwood expert and demonstrator for the Company.

It is also notable that her record of 113 was made in the Amateur Championship Contest last October and that Cortez's record was made when writing alone, against time. However, he will write in the amateur event of the world's championship contest this October and will match his speed with the best typist of his class in the world.

"I am the only person of color to achieve this honor in typewriting," Cortez adds.

"My training was received under Prof. James C. Wright, of the Dunbar faculty, and he is coaching me for the world's championship contest in October which we are confident we will win, and bring the great honor of a championship to our race."

Burns' Detective Says State Electrocuted Wrong Man

(East Tenn. News Service)

Knoxville, Tenn.—In the electrocution of Maurice F. Mayes two years ago on the charge of killing Bertie Lindsay, a white woman, the State "murdered" the wrong man. A number of civic and national organizations made pleas at the time for Mayes' life without avail, believing in his innocence.

Now comes Detective "Ed. Jones", agent for the famous Burns Detective agency with headquarters in St. Louis, who tells of having operated in this section for many months following the numerous crimes which was committed in Knox County and the adjoining county of Blunt, when homes were entered by a marauder at midnight, usually, and women were assaulted and in several instances persons were killed. Detective Jones stated that the slayer of Mrs. Bertie Lindsay, whose name has not been made public, probably will be arrested during the next few days. He avers that the guilty person has not been brought to justice. The private investigator, who has been working under cover here since December 27, 1924, claims that the net around the mysterious alleged murderer of Mrs. Lindsay has been woven, and that evidence has been found which will bring the real slayer of the woman to trial.

Arrest Blunt County Man

The startling announcement of the detectives followed the arrest of William Sheffey, white man holding a responsible position at the Alcoa plant of the Aluminum Company of America, on charges preferred by Mrs. Laura Poe. The attack of Mrs. Poe occured at the Alcoa home during the time that she was in bed with her husband and the husband was shot while attempting to defend the wife from the assault of the marauder. He died from the effects of the wound several weeks later.

The slaying of Mrs. Bertie Lindsay is only one of 32 which are under investigation in Blunt and Knox Counties by the detective agency, according to Detective "Jones."

MORE MUTUAL INCOME

in the management of the company and the shaping of its policies.

Floor Space Divided

One floor of the building is set apart for clerks and officials who tabulate the statistics of the smaller policy holders who are insured against sickness and death up to $300. There are several hundred thousand of these industrial policy holders.

Another floor is devoted to the workers who handle the clerical business connected with the insuring of those holding policies from $500 up.

Health Work

Besides the offices of the chief members of the company, there is one whole floor devoted to health work under the direction of Dr. Clyde Donnell. Associated with him are Dr. Roscoe C. Brown, formerly of the U. S. Public Health Service, who is in the life extension department and Dr. W. L. Joiner, who is assistant medical director.

These three men give their full time to the direction of the 600 physicians employed by the company to make medical examinations, give their instruction by health clinics, and the dissemination of thousands of pieces of health literature.

Complete Medical Office

Here is to be found one of the most complete laboratories in physiotherapy in the country with thousands of dollars invested in electrical machines. X-Ray flouroscope conversive heat, ultra violet.

A course in physiotherapy which will draw physicians from all over the South will be staged by the company under the direction of Dr. C. M. Sampson, white, former chief of physical service in U. S. Hospitals, April 27th to May 2nd.

Company records show that over a half million dollars was paid out last year in sick benefits and death claims. This was $60,000 more than experts figured the company should have paid out last year, and was due to the high death rate of the race as compared with whites.

Die 3 Times Faster

"We die three or four times faster than the white folk from almost any kind of disease," declared Dr. Donnell, who stopped using the ultra violet machine upon a tubercular patient long enough to add that the North Carolina Mutual had dedicated itself to bringing down that death rate.

The medical department treats from fifty to seventy five patients a day, many of them poor workers who have come many miles after failure to receive relief in their home town.

Handled $200,000 Last Month

Under office manager, W. J. Kennedy is Clarence B. Curley, comptroller, the efficiency expert, whose business it is to tell the company how it can save money and William Taft, head of the Statistical Department.

Mrs. Susie Norfleet, in the Death Claim Department is the oldest employee. She has behind her a record of 20 years continuous service.

Handled 13 Millions

Mrs. Bessie Whitted, cashier, handles the biggest book in the building. It is a monster some 18 inches long by three feet wide. In it she keeps account of the $200,000 that passed through her hands last month. This amount was collected by the State Superintendents in the 12 States last month from the district managers and State agents.

Under the rules, reports are made weekly, and receipts and disbursements are made thru the cashier. In the seventeen years she has been the trusted employee of the company, it is estimated she has handled more than thirteen million dollars or more than any other race woman in the country.

Assembly Hall

On the top floor of the building is the assembly hall in which the three score or more employees meet every Saturday morning in an insurance class with someone of the officials as instructors. Speakers from outside and music add to the social features.

Mechanics Bank

The first floor of the Mutual Building is occupied by the Mechanics and Farmers' Bank. C. C. Spaulding is also president. R. L. McDougald is treasurer and manager.

The bank which has assets of over $800,000 has also a real estate department under F. L. McCoy, secretary and a Mutual and Building and Loan Association.

$900,000 In Mortgages.

The North Carolina Mutual owns its own office building, as well as branches in seven states, the market value of which is in excess of $400,000. It has also nearly the same amount in government and municipal bonds, but the chief asset of which it is proudest is the $900,000 invested in first mortgage loans.

It means that the company has been able to come to the rescue of hundreds of race men and women who might have otherwise found it impossible to purchase and hold their homes and farms.

Recently in Newbern, N. C., where fire destroyed the colored section, whites desired this section for themselves and refused to finance any rebuilding by the Negroes. They also refused to renew any notes on property there as they fell due. Except for the ability of the North Carolina Mutual to come to their rescue they would have lost their homes.

Absolute Honesty

"The company is built on hard work, unity and absolute honesty," declared J. M. Avery, vice president and general manager. "We are the largest mutual and third largest insurance company in the State."

Investigation of the company's affairs by auditors, the state insurance department and the representatives of the National Insurance Association were pointed to with pride by Mr. Avery, who exhibited their report pointing out with his index finger the paragraphs giving the company, management and methods an official okey.

Conservative, Says Merrick

"While our premium income has jumped up to two millions," said Treasurer E. R. Merrick, "the progress is the result of operations only in the fields we have occupied for the past five years. We have entered no new states being satisfied to be safe first and just big last."

"NEGRO RHAPSODY" WAS PLAYED SUNDAY

This Work Based On Race Jubilee Songs Heard By White Composer

ONCE BURLEIGH'S TUTOR

Rubin Goldmark Pleased By Comment Of Llewllyn Wilson

The first performance of Dr. Rubin Goldmark's Negro Rhapsody in Baltimore, was given at the Lyric on last Sunday evening. Lay auditors and reviewers pronounced the composition beautiful both in construction and tonal beauty. It is also conceded that the composer has caught the spirit of the Negro songs and has beautifully dignified them.

Musical, technique permits of a freer form of harmonic and melodic structure in the rhapsody than the more severe form of the exact symphony. This fact permitted Dr. Goldmark a freedom in the treatment of the seven themes used that were in every essential characteristically Negro. He has caught the soul of a people, dignified it and glorified it.

The weird natural harmonies, the unusual slides in the tonal effects and the long sustained notes are characteristic of this music treated in this work. The tempo too, to which the airs are sung and played by Negroes has been wonderfully reproduced by the writer.

Spirituals Used

The rhapsody starts with a slow introduction in which cellos and violas in unison project, "Nobody Knows De Trouble I've Seen." Then in the following sequence "Peter Go Ring Dem Bells," "O, Religion Is A Fortune," "Sometimes I Feel Like A Motherless Child," "Oh When I Come To Die." A "Tennessee River Song" is then played by the woodwind section. "Peter, Go Ring Dem Bells" is loudly exhorted by the brass section at the finish.

New World Symphony

Dvorak's New World Symphony also based on plantation airs was played on Sunday evening. Coincidently significant because Dr. Goldmark was a former pupil of the Bohemian genius at the Vienna Conservatory of Music where Dvorak instructed him in composition.

Member Juill d Foundation

Dr. Goldmark is one of the most eminent musical authorities in America. He is president of the "Bohemians" of New York and a member of the Juillard Foundation which has helped many deserving but poor students to secure a musical education.

Shakes Wilson's Hand

After the rehearsal on Sunday afternoon, W. Llewellyon Wilson, supervisor of music in the public schools, was presented to Dr. Goldmark through the courtesy of Frederick R. Huber, municipal director of music. The distinguished musician reflected much pleasure when told by the supervisor that he had struck a Negro chord in a manner that was a faithful portrayal of the spiritual, and that a great service had been done in preserving them in their purest form with such wonderful technical structure and beautiful tonal quality.

Once Taught Burleigh

Dr. Goldmark also recalled having been an instructor of Harry T. Burleigh at the National Conservatory of Music, saying that the latter was one of the most promising young men that he had ever instructed. He also remarked that Will Marion Cook who was enrolled at the same time, but said that Cook was in another department. The composer said that Negroes have a wealth of beautiful melodies as their heritage, and that they should "dig under the surface" to acquire technical perfection.
