MME. WALKER THERE

Partial List Of Guests Includes Society's Best Known

Atlantic City (Afro Bureau)—Concensus of opinion gathered from visitors is that the climax of the Easter season was reached with the fancy dress ball given by the San Souci on Saturday evening at Fitzgerald's auditorium.

The decorations both in novelty of arrangement and colors were in the opinion of many the most unique ever seen at Fitzgerald's, which is saying a great deal since this place for many years has been the scene of most of the brilliant social affairs on the northside.

The invitations were novel in themselves, taking the form of the original verse.

Oh, a Fancy Dress Ball,
At Fitzgerald's Hall,

FOUR HUNDRED DANCED AT EASTER PROM

The Negro Alumni Association scored another triumph on Easter Monday morning when 400 danced the morning hours away at the fourth annual breakfast prom.

The daffodils given to the first hundred ladies had given out long before noon, and as usual added to the pretty setting as their smiling owners danced in and out about the palms which decorated the big hall. Never were ladies more beautifully attired and though they were seized with stage fright at the fashion prom all joined in the concluding waltz displaying the fact that the ensemble has captivated both maid and matron and that tan and green are the favorite colors of spring.

All White Costumes

Three matrons chose all white costumes, which attracted more than passing notice. They were Mrs. Arthur Wilson, and Mrs. George King, of Pleasantville, and Mrs. Jeannette Moore. Mrs. Wilson wore a striking red hat. All three followed the mode of ensemble. Another especially attractive ensemble was worn by Miss Wilma Lucas. Miss Lucas chose red for her costume, as did Miss Bernice Allen. Many other ladies sounded the red note, in shade ranging from henna to wine. Among these were Mrs. Julia Bruce and daughter, Miss Marion Walter, Mrs. Carrie Gaines, Mrs. R. Daniel, Miss Julia Scott, and Miss Katie Stives.

An outstanding figure among the wearers of green was Miss Vernia Wynne, whose silk hat matched her fetching ensemble. Miss Alice Davis also wore an all-green costume, as did Miss Ella Anderson, Miss Bessie Anderson, Miss Mary Sullivan and Miss Eloise Hall.
