LOCAL MATTERS

Kent Farmers Active.—It will not be the fault of the Kent county farmers if the United States does not produce large crops this year. From all parts of Kent come reports that farmers, although working under the great disadvantage of shortage of help, are working night and day to keep abreast of the spring program.

Bank News.—Mr. H. C. Coleman assumed his new duties in the Kent Co. Savings Bank on Monday, as did also Mr. George French in the Third National Bank. Mr. Don. B. Falls, of Baltimore, and Mr. Joseph Downey, Jr., of Rock Hall, also began work in the Peoples Bank, Mr. Charles Wheatley being made cashier.

Contract for Tomatoes.—Tomato growers of Broad Neck who ship from Leary's wharf signed up for 42½ cents with J. J. Langrill & Co., of Baltimore, for the 1918 crop. Capt. H. U. Fletcher secured for the farmers at Lankford a contract from Torsch Packing Co., of Baltimore, of 41½ cts. per basket or $22.50 per ton, which the farmers decided at a meeting to accept.

Important Meeting To Be Held.—The monthly meeting of the Woman's Defense Council will be held on Monday evening, June 3rd, at 8 o'clock, at the Eastern Shore Inn. All Red Cross and Navy League reports will please be brought or sent in on the blank forms that have been distributed during the week. Thrift Stamp reports will include number of Clubs formed and stamps sold during entire drive. Report of Chairman of Baby Week and County Nurse's full report is requested. A full report of Demonstration Week from County Demonstrator. Report of Chairman, who is aiding in Food Administration Drive. Please assemble promptly at 8 o'clock. The public is cordially invited, ladies as well as gentlemen.—Mrs. W. W. Hubbard, Chairman.

Mr. Wood Resigns at Strawboard Mill.—Mr. Lewis H. Wood has resigned as manager of the American Straw Board Co. and will join his sons in the large and growing Delco-Light business. Mr. Walter Bennett will succeed Mr. Wood as manager of the American Straw Board Co. Mr. Wood has made a competent manager, while Mr. Bennett, who has been in the employ of the company for many years, will make an efficient successor to Mr. Wood.

Allies Will Surely Win.—Sir Rosslyn Wemyss, First Sea Lord of Great Britian, says regarding the war: "Sea power today as always means the winning of the war. The Allied navies have the German by the throat and their grip will not be relaxed until the Hun has learned his lesson. Even before America came into the struggle victory was never within the grasp of the Kaiser. Now that the millions, the wealth, the power and the ships of the United States are aligned with us there is, and can be, no doubt of the final outcome. We will beat the Hun—we will beat him completely until, as your President says, the world is made safe again for decent people to live in."

Forty-five Drafted Men Leave Here.—With no excitement whatever, on either the part of the drafted men or the population, Kent sent forty-five men, its largest number yet at one time, to the training camp at Camp Meade, on Monday morning, to get in proper military condition to help whip the Kaiser's "baby killers." A big meeting was held on Sunday afternoon in honor of the young men, at which W. W. Beck, Esq., presided. Messrs. Carville Benson and C. Y. Cummings and two soldiers were present and made speeches, roundly scoring the Kaiser and his barbarous mode of warfare. Mr. Joseph Lambert had charge of the young men on their way to Camp Meade. On Sunday afternoon the young men were entertained at the Red Cross Chapter House, on High street, and refreshments served. An honor flag was unfurled by Chairman Allan A. Harris for Kent oversubscribing the Third Liberty Loan.

Rock Hall Council of Defence.—Upon request of the Maryland Council of Defence and in compliance with said order to organize in Rock Hall a Community Council of Defence to perform the work of the Maryland Council of Defense in the community as far as the Rock Hall postoffice reaches, this order was carried through Monday night with the following result: Executive Committee—Joseph W. Apsley, chairman; John Harmon, secretary; Capt. Charles Kerr, Elwood Burgess, Prof. Walter Davis, Elsworth Leary, John Glen, John Willson, T. Ringgold Jones.

Murder Near Easton.—Mrs. Mary Leonard, wife of Perry T. Leonard, a prosperous farmer near Easton, was killed by her husband Sunday night. Leonard has for several years been unbalanced in mind, and on several occasions was sent to a sanitarium for treatment. The last time he was at the Emergency Hospital, Easton, and about three weeks ago he left the hospital and went home. On Sunday evening Leonard and his wife were arguing over the labor question on the farm when he struck her a heavy blow over the heart, killing her instantly. The man is under arrest for murder.

A Historic Ring.—Col. Oswald Tilghman, of Easton, has a historic and valuable gold ring 178 years old, given to him by an aged woman friend of his. The ring was left by Mrs. Elizabeth Bennett, who died April 3, 1740, to a friend of hers. Mrs. Bennett was a descendant of Richard Bennett, of Queen Anne's county, who in his time was one of the richest men of the Province of Maryland. His widow married Col. Philemon Lloyd, of Wye House, Miles River Neck, Talbot Co., the only son of the first Edward Lloyd, of Maryland.

Had Narrow Escape From Drowning.—Mr. Charles Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Armstrong, had a narrow escape from being drowned on Monday afternoon when he was taken with cramps near the Chester River Bridge. Some of his companions showed remarkable presence of mind and attempted to rescue him by grappling with him, and finally getting an oar in his grasp and pulling him to the boat. Bathers cannot be too cautious and should take no chances while swimming, for a few seconds loss of self-control means another victim to the already long list of deaths in the water.
