Injured Finger Well, Cohen WIll Meet Schwartz Monday

The scheduled bout between Wilbur Cohen of New York and Benny Schwartz of Baltimore was called off last Monday night due to an injury suffered by Cohen in a recent bout. The fight will take place this Monday night, June 21, at Carlin's Arena.

Cohen sprained a thumb which prevented him from going through with the match. Schwartz has been training diligently for the bout and is in the pink of condition. These two met here at the 104th Regiment Armory several weeks ago. Cohen won by knocking out the Baltimore boy in the sixth round. Later Cohen met Nate Carp here and lost a questionable decision after 12 furious rounds of milling.

Winner To Meet Carp

The winner of Monday's bout will get a chance to fight Carp at the Arena on Monday, July 5. As Cohen is favored to win over Schwartz by a knockout, fight fans believe the New Yorker and Carp will get another chance to meet here.

Cohen admitted he loafed when he fought Carp, but he has assured the fans that he will win from Schartz and Carp by knockouts in the quickest possible time. Cohen packs a wicked right and several times it landed on Carp with telling effect. The local lad stood a lot of punishment and was on his feet at the end of the going. Schwartz was not able to weather the storm and landed on the canvas in the sixth.

Schwartz Anxious

However, the baltimore lad has refused a number of bouts that would have netted him quite a tidy sum, but he refused them all in order to be in shape to get even with Cohen. A hot time is promised by Benny Franklin, fight promoter, when these two meet, as it will border on the edge of a grudge fight as Cohen is anxious to redeem himself in the eyes of the home folk.

The preliminary card will remain the same as published last week, with some of the best local fighters on the bill.

DOUGLASS LAUDED AT 1926 HI CLASS DAY

Spirit Of Hope And Ambition Reflected In Student Presentation

CLARENCE CHAMBERS, JR. GIVES SALUTATORY

Valedictory Given By Wm. H. Dean and Prophecy By Naomi F. Young

Visions of ambition and determination dominated the spirit of the annual exercises of the graduating class of Douglass High School of 1926, Wednesday morning.

Before a packed audience the members of the class held their annual exercises which brought forth continued applause. The invocation was given by Dr. Ernest Lyon which was followed by the class song, and the salutatory by J. Clarence Chambers, Jr. Young Chambers took as his subject "The Great Purpose of Life", and sounded the keynote of the ambition of his associates. This was followed by a rather interesting class history presented spiritedly by Miss Ruth P. White, and a well rendered solo by Cabell Calloway.

A unique innovation presenting a class prophecy was demonstrated by Miss Naomi F. Young, assisted by Miss Marjorie Valentine. Miss Young appeared as a fortune teller, while Miss Valentine listened to her tell the wonderful future of her classmates.

Son to Patheque was presented by Miss Alma Reynolds as a piano solo and the presentation of class gifts were made by Roger H. L. Middleton, assisted by Roche Burgess and Melvin Williams. A musical selection by Madison S. Briscoe and arranged for the orchestra by W. L. Wilson was followed by the class ode, rendered by Miss Lucille V. Diggs.

William H. Dean then gave the class valedictory which was followed by the class song and the presentation of the alumni medal by W. Cato Anderson. Principal Mason Hawkins then spoke on the past and prospective growth of the high school. A solo by Miss Evelyn Smith and the class song, the music of which was written by J. Clarence Chambers and words by William H. Dean, was sung.

MYSTERY SHOOTING SOLVED BY POLICE

Both Man And Girl Accuse Each Other of Firing Shot That Struck Bystander

GIRL ACCUSES MAN; DRAWS FINE HERSELF

Miss Rosie Williams Carried Pistol To Home of Lover Who Had Jilted Her

A shooting affray in which both parties accused each other of firing the shot from the lone revolver that struck George Johnson, 701 N. Bolton street, an innocent passerby, resulted in Miss Rosie Williams, 403 New street, being fined $50 and costs, Tuesday.

Miss Williams went to the home of John Crawford, 1601 Madison avenue, a former lover, whom she accused of living with another woman and an argument ensued. The altercation continued after they reached the street where the mysterious shot was fired. The bullet struck a lamp post and glanced off striking Johnson who was walking on the other side of the street.

All parties had disappeared before the police arrived on the scene. Later Miss Williams is said to have obtained a warrant for the arrest of Crawford who she accused of shooting at her.

Change Charges

The man was arrested and an additional charge of assaulting Johnson was laid against him. The young woman admitted that the gun belonged to her but declared that Crawford had told her to bring it to him and when she did so he began to shoot at her. During the course of the testimony it developed that Miss Williams came to the home with the gun looking for Crawford, who she accused of dropping her for another woman. The shooting took place when Crawford attempted to put her out of the house, it was said. The charges were changed and the young woman was found guilty of the shooting and Crawford was dismissed. The $50 fine was imposed by Magistrate Johanneson in the Northwestern Station.

FINED $100 AFTER SHOOTING AFFRAY

Johnson Corbin, 66 well-known and influential citizen of Mt. Winans, was fined $100 and cost and held for assaulting and shooting at Geo. Carter, and held in $1000 bail pending an additional charge of carrying concealed weapons by Judge Dunne after a hearing in Criminal Court, Thursday morning.

According ot testimony, Carter is said to have gone to the home of a neighbor of Corbin and parked his car in front of the latter's home. Corbin became angry and ordered the man to move the car. Before he could do so, Corbin went into the house, got a gun and shot at him. He then assaulted him with a club and attempted to wreck his car with a branch of a tree he had found in his yard.

On the stand Corbin stated that he had been employed at the Baltimore Copper Works for more than 19 years and had acquired about eight pieces of property in Mt. Winans and owned his own home.

He denied shooting at Carter, declaring that they engaged in a tussle and the gun went discharged. Because he was unable to explain to the satisfaction of the court why he happened to have the gun in his possession at the time, the fine was imposed. Judge O'Dunne also held Corbin in $4,000 bail for carrying concealed weapons and the additional charges will be tried later.

D. C. MAN STABBED IN FIGHT HERE

During an altercation between four men at the corner of Lombard and Exerter streets Wednesday night George Johnson, 4422 P street, N. W. Washington, was stabbed over the heart and reported in a serious condition at the St. John's Hospital.

Two of the men, James Lee, 723 Spring street and Lester Madden, 1013 Salisbury street, were placed under arrest by Northeastern District police and are being held as material witnesses pending the outcome of the man's wounds. Frank Allen, Bread Alley, who is alleged to have done the stabbing is still at large.

METROPOLITAN M. E. GOES OVER TOP

Sunday, June 13, which was known practically all over Methodism as Children's Day, was a Red Letter Day in the history of the Metropolitan Episcopal Church.

The decorations surpassed any of the last 8 or 10 years. The music rendered under the direction of Prof. Louis E. Tooney, was interspersed with songs from Mrs. Beatrice Johns' Songbird.

At 11 a. m., a wonderful message, "What is your life?" was delivered by the pastor, Rev. Ernest Sumner Williams. At 2 p. m., group pictures were taken of the chorus choir the Red Cross Circle and the entire Sunday school. At 2:30 a real children's day parade was given by the Sunday school, headed by the Chorus Choir. Quite an inspiring feature was to see more than 50 young men in line. On returning the march was continued into the church, where a program was rendered by the primary and junior departments.

At 7:30 the Sunday School assembled in the lecture room and marched to the main auditorium where they witnessed the playlet, "The Secret of Happiness" in costume. The following selections were rendered pleasingly: Select reading, Mrs. Hortense Harmon; Violin solo, Master Theodore Parker; Piano solo, Miss Elsie Waters; Vocal solo, Miss Florence Patterson.

We not only went over the top in decorations and exercises, but far surpassed all expectations when the collection for the day reached $127.-07. Much credit is due the committee who were as follows.
