THE securing of Judge Alton B. Parker, by President Gould, of Washington College, to deliver an address at the college on Wednesday, Feb. 22, 1922, is a compliment to that institution, and every Kent countian who can do so should attend and show their appreciation of so distinguished a man as Judge Parker consenting to come to Chestertown to deliver an address to the students of Washington College. Judge Parker was the nominee of the Democratic Party for President of the United States in 1908 and was temporary chairman of the Democratic National Convention, which met in Baltimore in 1912 at which convention ex-President Wilson was nominated for President.

PRESIDENT HARDING on Monday last adjourned the Disarmament Conference, which has been in continuous session since Nov. 15, 1921. Taking a conservative view of it, it may be said the conference has marked an honest effort to promote peace and international understanding by the use of good will instead of by force or fraud. The cessation of the building of battleships it is hoped will cause increased energy to be directed toward commerce and the building up of international trade which is the surest solvent of the great economic pressure with which all European nations are confronted. The breaking of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance removes a real or imaginary danger and promotes an increased friendliness between this country and Great Britain. Indeed, America's relations with the rest of the world have been materially improved. Many of the ideals formulated by ex-President Wilson have been the keynotes of the conference, and it remains to be seen how a Republican Congress will support President Harding in his efforts for world peace.

Legislative Notes

Senator Cantwell recently offered a bill to curtail or end Gretna Green marriages at Elkton and other points in the state.

Senator [illegible]ick has offered a bill amending the State Penal Code by making the killing of any sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable or policeman, when the slayer knows his official character, statutory first degree murder, punishable by death. He also offered a bill amending the Narcotic Drug Law, by providing that any officer, poilceman or sheriff, having good reason to believe that drugs are concealed in any house or building, may obtain a search warrant from a justice of the peace.

Senator Mish, of Washington county, offered a resolution urging Congress to pass legisaltion stabilizing costs of basic farm products, which led to an animated debate.

In the House petitions against allowing betting on horse races and the lawless traffic in liquors were presented.

Mr. Joseph has introduced bills for raising the marriage age of males and females and forbid wedding of persons of different races. Marriages of males under 18 would be void and consent of parents would be required up to 21 years of age. Girls of 14 to 16 years could marry with consent of parents and a court; from 16 to 18 with consent of parents and over 18 at their own discretion. Ministers must be licensed and surrender their licenses on leaving charges.

Among general bills introduced was one opening the oyster tonging season on Oct. 1, a month later than heretofore; the Women Voters League bill, raising the age of consent to 18 years, with imprisonment required for violation of the law.

In the House various bills were offered, among them being one for a $3,000,000 road loan for Baltimore.

P. E. Women's Right Bill Passed

Women's rights in the Protestant Episcopal Church may be enlarged under the Frick bill, passed Tuesday by the Senate. The measure does not give women the right of vote and holding office in the church, but provides that diocesan conventions may extend those rights upon petition of any vestry of a parish or separate congregation in Maryland.

To Protect Peeler Crabs

[illegible] or peeler crabs would be brought [illegible] the protection of crabbing sea- [illegible] by a bill drawn by the State Con- [illegible]vation Commission, which was introduced in the House this week. Only hard crabs now are thus protected. The bill provides an increase from $1 to $2.50 for a crabber's license; from $10 to $15 for a crab packer's license, and from $5 to $10 for a crab dealer's license.

THE TRAGEDY OF AUNTS

By Elizabeth Newport Hepburn

The following poem was written by Mrs. Hepburn, of New York, daughter-in-law of Rev. S. S. Hepburn, of this county, and was published in the New York Times. Mrs. Hepburn is coming into note as an authoress. She has just published her first book, "The Wings of Time."

Sweet Adele and Cecily,
Eleanor and Kate,
Nina with her merry eyes,
Whimsical as Fate;

Little close-shut buds they were,
Children at their play;
That, my dear, was yesteryear,
Look at them today!

Slim and tall and woman-wise,
Staid, observant, keen,
Thus Adele the punctual,
Almost seventeen!

Oh, Adele, dear Adele,
How I crave a magic spell!
I am wanting what, you see,
Even you can't give to me,
That small girl you used to be!

Cecily's at college now,
Eleanor is "out";
Such a lonesome Aunt am I,
Getting gray and stout . . .

None to beg for "stories" now,
Roaming in the park
Where the perky squirrels play
Till the lonesome dark.

Even Nina, pink and slim,
With her childish brow,
Reads her Browning, goes to balls,
Has her lovers now . . .

Sweet Adele and Cecily,
Eleanor and Kate,
Nina with her laughing eyes,
Whimsical as Fate,

I am wanting what, you see,
Not a niece can give to me,
Little girls you used to be!
