Fashionable Events Feature Week's Social Activities

By SARAH FERNANDIS

Every year there is generally one social event given in Baltimore which stands out in prominence; but really this year the best of judges are up the tree as to whose affair, of the many that have been given, should top the list.

They have all been so beautifully gotten up and arranged and those who have been fortunate enough to get an invitation have had such an enjoyable time that all we can say now is, the best compliment is due them all.

Unique And Pleasing

The Pollyanna Garden party at New Elks' Hall on last Friday night, was unique and pleasing. The lawn tables shaded with large parasols—the ladies seated around the tables with large picture hats and beautiful summer dresses, while still others dressed in sport attire from head to foot, made quite a picture. The gents, Oh yes, were up to the occasion. I can see Mr. Clarence Chambers now in his flannel pants, blue coat, panama hat, sport shoes, and carrying a cane.

What more could one wish for — there was the cool delicious punch which was in order all evening — the sweet balmy music to keep one in the best of spirits — and too, such delightful hostesses. Let us hope to be lucky enough to be invited to their next one. Sure, you have not forgotten the members. Marie Payne, Violet Nixon, Clara Robinson, Gladys Pinderhughes, Mabel Hayes, Norma Marshall, Ruth Thompson, Sadie Murphy, Lucia Pinderhughes and Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Annie Smith.

The Foster Card Party

In spite of the down-pour of rain on last Saturday afternoon, the interior of New Elks' Hall, made one forget at once that the weather was nothing else but perfect — Flowers, flowers everywhere, hung along the walls — plants and ferns to form a background and ladies seated at small tables doing their very best to score the highest points at Bridge or Whist. These were the games played, you see.

No, I really could not tell you — for everybody looked like they bought their dress and hat for just this occasion — they were all so beautiful —and looked so new. So I will proceed, as I know you will be anxious to know who won those handsome prizes. Ten in all— five for the highest Bridge score and five for the highest Whist score. The games being played from 3 to 5 p. m.

While the scores were being counted, the guests were served with salad, rolls, olives, ices, cake and punch.

The President of the Club, Mrs. Glenford Pennington, made a clever little speech and presented the prizes to the fortunate ones: First Bridge prize—a half-dozen Maderia napkins, which went to Mrs. A. O. Reid; second Bridge prize—Stieff silver pie knife, to Mrs. Minnie Simmons; third Bridge prize—half-dozen cut glass water glasses, to Mrs. Marie Wilson; fourth Bridge prize—a beautiful Bridge cloth, Miss Hermione Wharton. First Whist prize—a half-dozen Maderia napkins, Mrs. Miles Connor; second Whist prize—Stieff silver salad fork, Mrs. Clara Robinson; third Whist prize—one dozen lovely wine glasses, Miss Nellie Buchanan; fourth Whist prize—half-dozen hexagonal luncheon plates Mrs. Nelson Williams; fifth Whist prize—leather pocketbook, Mrs. Bert Fitzgerald; sixth Whist prize, a handsome box of writing paper, Miss Mabel Locks.

Out of town guests were: Miss Rose Nixon, Marion P. Shadd, Etta Williamson, Mayne Burrill, Lucy Slowe, Jessie Parks, Emma Shepherd; Mesdames Eunice Hall, Marion Eckford, A. Dumas, Wm. Wilson, R. R. Fortune, Alice Frances, J. Arthur Turner, Charles West, Charles Flagg, Clyde McDuffie, H. Cricheter, Brown, Mamie Simmons, Carrie Lee Ferring.

Club members, Mesdames Isabelle Clark, Vivian Cook, Erma Davis, Lizzie Fernandis, Miss Ethel Lewis, Eva McCard, Grace McCard, Bertha Pennington, Louise Wheeler and Annie Wright.

A project in history by Class 7B-4, Mr. Davage, teacher, was the principal feature of the weekly assembly on Friday last. The purpose was to portray the historic development of the United States in definite periods from 1492 to 1927.

The principal events of each period were announced by a herald, dramatized by a group of pupils, and this dramtization was followed by some bit of literature, prose or poetry, bearing upon that particular period. Stereopticon slides were also used to further vitalize the historic action. Interspersed among the scenes were a number of songs and recitations. Pupils taking the most prominent parts were, Ethel Cooper, Adele Jeffries, Milton Elickson, Isaac Bristol, Rufus Jones, Ruth Austin and Raleigh Dean. Ethel Cooper was mistress of ceremonies.

Among the visitors during the week were some ministers in attendance upon the A. M. E. Conference in session at Waters' Church. The Rev. Hatchett of Richmond, Va., spoke entertaining to the pupils and sang for them one of a group of songs which he himself composed. Two other visitors who were most welcome were Dr. T. T. Hurst of Washington and his young son, John. Master John manifested much interest in the school activities he observed, particularly those of the wood shop.

Mrs. Louis H. Levin, member of the Board of School Commissioners, recently spent an afternoon with us meeting teachers and observing work in different classes.

Mr. Howard C. Wright, athletic coach and teacher of physical education, has come in for many congratulations because of the splendid showing made by his boys in the recent Health Week Marathon. Third place in a field of such seasoned athletes is looked upon as not being so very bad. Especially with entry of green boys just up from elementary grades. Mello, King, Irby and others of the entry need only a bit more experience to give an even better account of themselves.

Radio Club, under the direction of the teachers of Industrial Arts, is bringing out some very good sets that really work. Boys are very much interested indeed, and seem to appreciate the help given them by Messrs. Smith, Davis and Clark. An exhibition of these sets together with other work of this department, will be held early in June.

The problem of "Lateness" was discussed in a debate by the pupils of Miss Blanche V. Mingo's 3A class in our Tuesday morning assembly. The speakers for the affirmative and negative sides were introduced by Alice Wiggins.

The following were the speakers on the affirmative side—Erma Reid, Essie Adams, Mildred Williams. The speakers on the negative side were Viola Carter, Frances Brown and Isabelle Brown. Sarah Holt, Edgar Manns, Nancy Turner and Eary Brown acted as judges.

The decision was read by Cornelius Mercer. The little speakers on both sides deserve commendation for their excellent pronunciation, enunciation and forceful delivery. All the agencies which may be permissible for pupils being late as well as the reasons why lateness is not excusable were well brought out. The decision was in favor of the affirmative side scoring twenty nine points and the negative side twenty two points.

Miss Mingo and her pupils are to be congratulated for their excellent program.

Thursday morning assembly program was in charge of Miss Dorsey and Miss Tyler's class.

Miss Dorsey's class rendered the following program. The poem, "Shiny Brown Seed" was well rendered by the class. The "Reformation of Bobby" a playlet dealing with the treatment of various animals, horse, cat, cow, chicken, bird and dog.

Little Allan John was the little boy Bobby who had not dealt fairly with the animals. Each pupil wore a placard with the name of the animal he represented and also recited a poem or some bit of prose telling of their kindness to little Bobby. This playlet gave the pupils many reasons for being kind to the animals and little Bobby after hearing the different expressions felt repentant and decided that hereafter he would love and treat all his animal friends kindly.

This dramatization taught a valuable lesson.

Miss Tyler's class also rendered a very intresting program. The first number was the recitation of the class poem, "Be Happy" and the dramatization of Pandora's "Box".

Little Beatrice Carrington was Pandora and Charles Pitts was Epimetheus. Sorrow, Sin, Hope and the Fairy were represented by other pupils.

This dramatization was worth while, the curiosity instinct was observed and almost brought grief and sorrow but the good fairy, Hope proved a valuable helper.

Each week our assembly programs get better and better.

Wm. T. Griggs, Prin.

The faculty of School No. 118 held its spring conference with the parents of the school on Wednesday evening, April 27th. Nearly two hundred parents attended and enjoyed a delightful program furnished by the pupils of the intermediate grades under the leadership of Miss Annal. Carson, one of the teachers. The program was as follows: Song—"My Sunshine." Welcome address—Parents, Laura Palmer, 6-B Class. Song—"The Fairies." Recitation, "To-day", Marguerite Parry, 5-A Class. Recitation, "Tree", Elinor Handy 5-B Class. Piano Duett, Ada Bannister and Miss Carson. Recitation, "The Bluebird." Gwendolyn Waters, 4-B. Song—"The Lantern." Recitation, "The Squirrel's Antenna," Aaron Butler, 6-B. Song—"Welcome, Sweet Spring Time." Recitation, Which are You? Etta Mason, 6-A. Song—Negro National Hymn.

In a simple direct manner, the principal interpreted the policies of the present administration in their relation to our children. The work of the grade and special supervisors was explained. As a result of better supervision, demonstration lessons, and greater enthusiasm on the part of the teachers, it was the opinion of the principal that the children were enjoying improved classroom instruction. The question of the recent "tests" was also touched upon. It was evident that the parents left with a cleared understanding of what the public schools were doing to their children and of what they could hope for under the training of modern education.

Our school has just rounded out the first year of its history. The parents were gratified to learn of the increase in enrollment, the increase in the per cent of attendance, the splendid work of the Safety Patrol Council, the commendable work of the Campfire Girls' Club, the practical work of our cooking classes and the enthusiasm of the children.

Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, president, of our parent-teacher club, was present and had the secretary, Miss Lillian Forrester, read an interesting letter to the club from Dr. David E. Weiglein, Supt. of Schools.
