NO BASKETBALL AT DOUGLASS HI

DOUGLASS HI CAGERS STILL ON THE BENCH

Hopes For Basketball This Year Fade Away—Cancel Scheduled Games

CLASS GAMES ONLY

Appeal To P. T. A. Brings No Tangible Results

The outlook for basketball at Douglass High School this season looks darker than ever, and it now seems that, due to the ruling of Assistant Superintendent Coleman, the best that the "Duck" tossers can do is to sit on the sidelines.

The ruling handed down by Mr. Coleman says, in brief, that Baltimore city teams, in playing games away from home, must leave after regular school hours and return home the same evening. The ruling, aimed at the white high schools, that had been taking long trips, killed all semblances of competition at Douglass, as it limited its games to one or two teams outside the city, with none in the city at all.

Scheduled Games

Although the ruling had been bothersome during the football season, Coach Gibson's team scheduled ten games for the 1928 season. According to the schedule, the team is slated to play the Armstrong High five from Washington, here Friday night; Dunbar High of Washington, here on February 3, and the Vocational school on February 10. The team was scheduled to journey to Wilmington on February 17 to play the Howard High tossers and to Washington on March 1st to play Dunbar High School.

P. T. A. Idle

Efforts to get P. T. A. officials to intervene in an attempt to have the ban lifted have as yet been of no avail. The students have consequently had nothing but their inter-class games. Under Misses Gertrude Dalton and Mattie White, a large number of girls' teams have been playing weekly. The boys' teams, under Coach L. U. Gibson, have also been playing, but it is believed that unless the ban is removed, even some of these games will be eliminated with the beginning of the next semester.

Lincoln Cagers To Make Western Trip

CHESTER, Pa.—The Lincoln basketball team will invade the West for a short tour, opening February 13 at the New Savoy in Chicago, where they will play the American Legion Club.

Other teams that will be met on the jaunt are Simmons College, three teams in southern Illinois, and a game with one of the Cleveland teams. The team will be gone one week, and on its regular return will play all return games with C. I. A. A. teams and any others scheduled, in Philadelphia.

Track Outlook Bright

There seems to be a wealth of green material at Lincoln, which, with some veterans as a nucleus, should round into a good team. Captain Frank Mitchell and Oscar Lee are here and give promise of turning in some nice performances this year. Waddell, a freshman from the famous Manassas Institute team, is showing up well in the sprints, and John Silvera, brother of "Eable Beak" Silvera, of basketball, tennis and track fame, is showing up well in the half-mile.

Lincoln hopes to enter a team of 15 men in the Hampton track meet, if the Howard meet does not conflict, and will enter two teams in the Penn Relays in the spring. Reed, Young and John Sydnor are expected to turn in a few points in the high jump, and Snydor is also no slouch in the broad jump event. Hillman is in good form in the pole vault, doing better than the C. I. A. A. record; Fletcher is showing a decided improvement in the 440 and the half mile.

Football Soon

Coach Morrison plans to start spring football practice as soon as the mid-year examination period ends, which should be about February 3.

Boxer Rendered Deaf By Opponent's Blows

PARIS, France, (PNS)—Kid Nomo, a lightheavyweight, was disqualified after six rounds of milling recently, "for repeated clinching and refusing to break at the referee's orders." His opponent was Frank Moran, white.

When the physician examined Nomo, who complained of a severe pain in his head after the fight had stopped, found both of the pugilist's ear drums had been broken by the blows of his adversary, and that Nomo was stone deaf, which accounted for his failure to heed the orders of the referee.

BREAKERS NINE TAKES ONE FROM POINCIANAS

Ryan Gets Double With Sacks Filled; Chambers Wild

JACKSONVILLE, FLA.—A streak of wildness on the part of Chambers, Poinciana hurler, marked the turning point that allowed the Breakers nine to nose out the Poinciana club by the score of 3 to 2, in a thrilling baseball exhibition here last week.

The Poinciana club won the championship here last year, winning seven games, losing six, and tieing one. Both teams had one big inning, the Breakers team scoring first by garnering their trio of runs in the fourth. In the last half of the fifth, the Poinciana team made a desperate rally but were unable to get the tieing or winning run across, having two men stranded on the sack when Jones whiffed at the third strike.

Ryan In Hero Role

Jap Washington opened an inning and was hit for the second time to start the fourth. He went to second on White's sacrifice. Parrell walked. Flournoy grounded out and Gay walked filling the bases. Ryan, on the mound for the Breakers team, clouted out a two base slam to right center, driving in three runs.

Smoky Joe Williams, manager of the Homestead Grays and also manager of the Poinciana nine, took the slab and balked all further scoring chances for the Breakers boys. In his only appearance at the bat he hit safely. Thomas and Ryan divided hitting honors, getting a single and a double apiece.

Games are played on Tuesday and Friday afternoons of each week.

By staging a smashing rally in the last inning, after two hands were out, the Poinciana team defeated the Breakers nine Friday by the score of 3-2, the same score by which they were beaten, and which incidentally evens the count at one-all between the two teams.

Lefty Williams, Breakers' hurler, paved the way for the Breakers' loss, when he passed Jones. Smoky Joe Williams then poled a long two-sacker along the left field foul line scoring Jones. Evans lofted a fly to the right fielder, who muffled the ball, allowing Smoky to come across with the winning run.

SEE $90,000 GATE AT GODFREY-UZCUDUM GO

West Coast Primed For Miniature 'Championship'

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—With the arrival here last week of George Godfrey and his manager, Jim Dougherty, the West is beginning to show signs of excitement for the coming fistic battle between the Leiperville Shadow and Paulino Uzcudum in Wrigley's open air baseball field, February 28th.

Not since the famous Johnson-Jeffries bout has the West been so excited. The miniature "world's championship" is expected to eclipse the Hudkins-Baker gate of $93,000. Uzcudum is enroute here from Mexico City where he won over Romero Rojas on the 28th.

The Godfrey-Uzcudum battle in Los Angeles is the "worst thorn Tex Rickard ever had thrust at him," states William Lee McCarney, the man who negotiated in New York for the promoter before obtaining the signatures of both men for the Los Angeles go. "When Tex Rickard saw the contest as really headed for Southern California he offered Uzcudum exactly what Promoter Jack Doyle is giving him, and was also hot and heavy after Godfrey," states McCarney. Boxing men are amazed at Tex Rickard letting this match slip thru his fingers as they say it would draw twice as much money in New York or Chicago.

Judge Drew-Once World's Champion Sprinter

Hartford Lawyer, Daddy Of Grown Children Put Track Shoes Away Years Ago, But His Time For The 100 Yard Dash Is Still The World's Record. Drew Recalls Days At Lincoln—Liked Penn's Black Runner, J. B. Taylor, Best.

J. Le COUNT CHESTNUT

NEW YORK CITY. — One night I wended my way to a pleasant home in Hartford, Connecticut. The home was one of the type of thousands of comfortable, happy middle class American homes, that do so much to lay the foundation work for the continuance of the greatness of this country.

The home was not unusual in its material make-up, but the man who was the head of that home, and with whom it was to be my privilege to spend a most interesting evening, was most unusual. He was one of the most colorful and unique athletes; one who in his day and time furnished more copy for the sport pages of two continents than any other mortal had ever done. That man was Howard Drew, now a prominent lawyer, Justice of the Peace, and an active figure in public and political affairs in this New England cradle city of great insurance companies.

Medals And Cups

Soon we naturally drifted to the talk of by-gone sport days. And then it was that the true, simple, unaffected nature of this modest, former, internationally-famed track hero revealed itself. Crowned with all kinds of honors, with hosts of medals and cups, with innumerable press clippings, and surrounded on all sides by trophies and pictures reminiscent of multiple, various and varied triumphs, Drew's pride, fancy and wholesome spirit found fullest satisfaction in the contemplation of the reminiscences and memories surrounding the freshman football picture of the team of the fall of 1906, at Lincoln University, Pennsylvania, of which Howard Drew was a member.

How refreshing! What a relief in these days of modern stridency and blatancy of egotistical, self-aggrandizing parlor orations, what a relief I say to meet with a sincere soul, which, although it had received the athletic homage of two continents, and had been feasted, wined and dined from the Golden Gates of 'Frisco to the turbulent treacherous narrows of New York's Hell Gate, still could "be itself".

Years At Lincoln

There we talked, and for the first time my ignorance was enlightened by the fact that Drew spent some years in school at Lincoln. Best of all too, he said, for he would go back to the picture, this was the first freshman eleven to ever defeat the "Soph" gridders at the Pennsylvania institution.

Then to add to it, he recalled that the late Dr. Percy Johnson, son of Bishop J. Albert Johnson, and one of the "regulars" among the old guard at Lincoln in his day, led the defeated "Sophs". Mystic memory that backs the veil of the past and lets men live over again their happiest times, however simple they be — even to the extent of revamping the dead.

Start In 1905

Howard Drew sprang into prominence as early as 1905, attracting attention throughout the entire East by his unusual sprint performances, when he was a student at the Springfield Hi School, Mass. After hours and during vacations he worked as a Red Cap at the old, low-hung, wooden stations of the Boston and Albany on one side and the Boston and Maine on the other side of the tracks. With their long wooden platforms, and magnificent distances for passengers and bags to cover, Howard had ample exercise to keep fit, with no little of running as a requisite oftimes to snatch a load. The Red Cap job was to Howard's athletic life what the ice man's was to Red Grange.

Drew's greatest scholastic athletic fame came, however, when he was a student at the University of Southern California. Carrying the colors of the West Coast Institution, he became more firmly intrenched than ever within the realms of athletic achievement and recognition.

At the University, he became intimate with Ralph Glaze, white, great Dartmouth end on the football team and pitcher on the baseball nine. He was later a hurler for the Boston Americans. Glaze brought football to Southern California "U", and in later days when at Drake "U" he had Howard Drew there to assist him. Drew also studied law at Drake.

J. B. Taylor An Inspiration

One of Drew's athletic idols was the late Dr. John Baxter Taylor, champion University of Pennsylvania quarter miler, who was at University of Pennsylvania when Drew was a student at Lincoln. Although Drew was man, cLY? filed a "century", 220 and broad jump man, he drew much inspiration from Taylor.

Drew says that it was the failure of Taylor, whose lack of placement in the final race of the Olympic quarter was due to a foul, a source of much dispute, that spurred him on and made him determined to try to nail his race's colors to the mast-head of Olympic achievement, when he ran on the team in 1912. Unfortunately Drew was doomed to disappointment. He won his heat and his semi-final, but the last cost him a pulled tendon, and so ended his Olympic hopes.

AS SPORTS EDITOR

The great sprinter also had some experience in the literary and news field. He was Sports Editor of the University of Southern California school paper, wrote features for the Los Angeles Express, a big daily, and also scribbled for the Los Angeles Mercury, a monthly publication. Two evidences of his popularity and esteem on the Coast were his election to "Skull and Dagger", an exclusive society of Southern California "U", and membership in the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

AT PENN RELAYS

One of Drew's grittiest performance on the cinder path was at the Penn. Relays on Old Franklin Field, 1914. With his leg bandaged, suffering from a weak tendon, he nevertheless ran and won the "century" and broad jump. Again in 1916, pulling a tendon on the Thursday of the week of the meet, he defeated such men as Don Wheeler of Princeton, Morris of Penn., and Charlie Porter of Syracuse to win the "century" in 10 seconds, including the running of the 809th Pioneer Infantry in France during the World War. He was active also in helping to train the army track team at Headquarters for his division and was with the team at the meetin Nice, France. His rank was that of Top Sergeant.

For nine months Drew served with 3 heats.

INDUSTRIAL TRAINING

Drew made this pertinent observation to your scribe on the training of Race athletes. Said he. "Our colored athletes are naturally keyed up, especially for track work. Many bad trainers would drive them and put them through the same rigid regimen applicable to white track prospects. This is bad training.

"Race athletes will wit and go stale under such a program. What trainers need is that rare insight had by the late Mike Murphy, who coached the great Dr. John B. Taylor, now deceased. They must have not only theoretical knowledge but also human knowledge of how to get the last ounce out of a man as an individual."

Reception

Despite all his great receptions and public acclaims, Drew looks back with fondest recollection to the reception tendered him at the Hofbrau in New York City, March 10, 1916. The three men most largely responsible for this tribute have some years since gone into the great beyond: Ed. Warren, Phil Peyton, and Jim Europe. Your scribe calls them by the names those who loved them used.

Howard Drew has been married twice. From the first union there are two children: Henry David, now about 20, and Barbara Drew, about 18. His second wife, formerly Miss Dora Newcome, Des Moines, is a graduate of the University of Iowa. From this marriage there are 2 young children.

Drew is a democrat in politics. He has been elected Justice of Peace and to County Office. He is also a member of the Colored Voters' League of his home city. A man of achievement, a substantial, helpful citizen, an asset to his country and a credit to his race, but withal modest, Howard Drew is an excellent example of the cultivation of the spirit of "Noblesse Oblige" through athletic experience.

Drew, Dan Kelly and Charles Paddock, the last two white, hold jointly the world's amateur and professional records for the 100 yard dash.

For seven years he also held the world's record for the 130 yard run—time 12 4-5 seconds, November 22, 1913, as well as the 220 yard record—time 21 1-5 seconds, made February, 1914.

ATHENIANS HUMBLED BY SEWICKLEY, 23-19

Loose Defensive Play In First Half Spells Defeat For Greeks

WYATT MAINSTAY

Play D. C. Elks Here Friday Night

CORAOPOLIS, Pa.—In a fast and furious game, featured by the almost uncanny shooting of "Chink" Wyatt, the Baltimore Athenians lost to the Sewickley "Y" team, here Friday night, by a score of 23 to 19.

Taking advantage of some loose defense on the part of the visitors in the first half, the Sewickley tossers garnered 19 points in the first stanza, while holding the Athenians to 14 points, 12 of which were accounted for by the eagle-eyed "Chink".

Fouls Beat Greeks

Completely reversing their defensive tactics in the second half the Athenians blanked the Sewickley team, but four successful tries from the foul line gave their opponents their margin of victory. Wyatt and Jackson played best for the Athenians and Anderson and Dugger starred for the winners.

Play Elks Friday

After playing in Cleveland, Wednesday, the Greeks will return home to take on the strong team of Washington Elks, who are bent on breaking the Athenians' home winning streak. The probable line-ups are:

Fan Disagrees With Taylor's Star Team

As is to expected in the case of any "all-star" selection, this department is in receipt of communications from baseball fans differing with Ben Taylor on the all-star team that was published in the AFRO for January 21st.

Harry Gilbert, a regular fan, writes in as follows:

To the Editor:

As we all know, selecting an all-star in any line of sports is difficult, yet I may say I do not agree with Manager Ben Taylor's all-star team, regarding outfield positions. In my opinion, I believe Dihigo would be the first consideration on any team.

He, perhaps, is one of the few all-around athletes in baseball. I would put him in place of Washington of the Black Sox, as he is a better hitter, and his other qualifications are as good as those of Washington.

Taylor's selection of Charleston is O. K. In right field I would suggest "Pats" Jenkins and Dixon of Harrisburg, or Oms of the Cubans. With these changes I believe the team better in every department and perhaps capable of coping with any major league outfit.

Yours for better baseball,
HARRY GILBERT

Suggs To Box Fuller For N. England Title

BOSTON, Mass.—"Chick" Suggs and Sammy Fuller, white local boxer, have been signed for a bout here February 13, to determine the featherweight championship of New England. Both boxers are now the leading candidates in the 126 pound division. Suggs, who has just completed a highly successful tour in the midwest, won in Scranton, Buffalo, Toledo, Detroit, and Cleveland, and will fight Lew Hurley, Saturday night at the Olympia A. C. in New York.

Al Brown, Home From Europe, Seeks Bouts

NEW YORK. — Al Brown, bantam champion, after a four-month sojourn in Europe, arrived in this city, Thursday, and immediately went up to see Jess McMahon about arranging a bout with some of the bantam powers that be.

Due to the lack of little men in Europe, Al declares that he often had to box featherweights and lightweights in order to get something to do. Boxing in Europe, he said, is very slow at this season.

Jess is said to have told Brown that he will match him some time next month, having as his opponent Archie Bell, Kid Francis of Taylor.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The Kansas City League of Colored Semi-Pro baseball clubs at its annual reorganization meeting Wednesday night, announced that six or eight clubs will be accepted for the 1928 season. The league was founded last season by R. H. Barber, with four teams and passed a very successful season.

GANS' TRAINER DEAD

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. — D. F. (Molly) McDonnell, 56, who years ago trained Joe Gans, of Baltimore, and many other prominent boxers, died at his home here Monday.

SPORT EDITORIAL

The Southeastern Athletic Conference, if it had done nothing else, furnished proof positive that it is possible for schools to get together without any great ado, and settle definitely upon the matter of limiting participation of athletes.

The substance of their ruling regardnig this problem, as recorded in these pages last week, is to the effect that a "preparatory student can play two years on a conference team and not have that two years counted against him in case he should enter the collegiate department of a conference institution; but in case he plays more than two years, each year after the second is subtracted from his four years."

This, in brief, means that a student may play six years, all told. We believe that if twelve schools can reach such an amicable agreement as the foregoing, Howard and the C. I. A. A. might well benefit by the precedent. And we also prophesy that academies will be in vogue at some of our institutions for a number of years to come.

Seashore Youth Is All Around Star

Ernest Perkins, crack end of the Atlantic City High School football team, made a brilliant record during the past season, and is given a great deal of the credit by the coaching staff for bringing the South Jersey championship to the City-By-the Sea.

Ernest Perkins

Perkins played in every game of the season. At present he is bringing further glory to his school by his stellar playing at center on the school basketball team. His work at this position ranks him one of the best in the state. He expects to add a third letter on the cinder path in the spring. This is his last year at A. C. H. S., and he expects to enter Lincoln University in the fall. He is a big crapping six-footer and his gentlemanly manner both on and off the athletic fields commands the respect and admiration of all his fellow students.

NO SOCCER TEAMS

NEW YORK.—Herr Norbert Salter, one of the leading booking agents in Germany, who was here in conference with Al White, manager of the All Southern Collegians Football team, in an effort to get a colored soccer team to take back with him, gave up the venture on the grounds that the teams available would be entirely outclassed by their European opponents.

VIOLET GRIDDER IS PERFECT IN CALCULUS

NEW YORK CITY.—Dave Myers New York University star athlete, has carried on his victories into the field of scholarship, according to announcements from the university office.

Dave Meyers

The Violet gridder earned the only 100 per cent grade given in the final examinations in sophomore calculus.

This record set by Dave in scoring the lone perfect marking out of all the classes in the subject at University Heights, was said by members of the faculty to be a most remarkable and unusual achievement. The difficulty of the subject, plus the fact that Meyers' classmates were practically all engineers of good scholastic standing without any record of participation in athletics, were points stressed in comments made.

Meyers, a 175-pound line star of "Chick" Meekan's wonder Violet eleven, and one of the best quarter-milers to ever wear a spiked shoe under Coach Emil Von Elling, entered N. Y. U. from Stuyvesant High School, where he also won laurels in football and on the cinder path.
