THE LITTLE HOUSES

(By Mary Alicia Owen, in the Twilight Hour)

I love the little houses
On a newly opened street,
Where rosy wives with a child or two
Their homing husbands greet.

Where toys are on the new front steps
And a baby cart chokes the hall,
Where velocipedes are the only cars,
And like birds the children call.

The little house is a house of hope
And of love and faith also;
There's a busy hum in it all day long
And the hours like moments go.

The stately house has all achieved,
It is dull and weary, too;
But the little house is aglow with dreams
That may, perchance, come true.

Reported Murderers Near Chestertown

The Baltimore newspapers of Tuesday afternoon created quite a stir in this section when they reported a big auto, believed to have contained the Norris murderers, being seen near this town Sunday afternoon. The car is said to have contained two men and two women and was headed in the direction of Crumpton, where, the paper said, the bandits "might" be hiding.

The papers said: "On Sunday afternoon W. C. Feehley, of Elkton, was walking along the Crumpton road toward Chestertown. His attention was attracted by a large touring car bearing the license number 35-065, the number of the murder car. On the front seat were two men answering the description of Jack Hart, New York gunman, and Walter Sactalow. On the rear seat were two women, believed to have been Catherine Cavanaugh and a friend. Between the two women was a large piece of burlap, which appeared to be covering a fifth person."

All of the above may be the "gospel truth," but it looks to us like the Baltimore papers have had another nightmare.
