HOG CHOLERA IN KENT COUNTY

Federal Authorities Report Widespread Outbreaks In Several Localities

Kent County is now experiencing one of the worst outbreaks of hog cholera in years. According to Dr. W. H. Wright, Government Veterinary, in Elkton, the disease is now raging in the vicinity of Rock Hall, Tolchester, Galena and Massey, and is causing serious losses to farmers in these neighborhoods.

While most people believe that hog cholera is a disease which appears very mysteriously and unaccountably, Dr. Wright reports that there is nothing strange about the manner of its coming to Kent County. An investigation shows that the original or primary outbreak of the disease in each of these neighborhoods was caused by infection introduced in garbage or kitchen scraps fed to the hogs, in spite of the fact that the federal authorities have frequently warned hog raisers against this practice.

Unfortunately, some parties concerned in these cases had very little regard for their neighbors' interests and failed to make proper disposition of the dead animals. The disease was thus spread by dogs and buzzards while in other instances it was carried by persons visitng back and forth and by water. One man carried the infection home on his shoes after visiting a farm where the hogs were sick and introduced it into a community four miles from any outbreak.

Dr. Wright states that this is a noticeable lack of interest on the part of farmers in regard to the disease and that the spread of infection from the primary cases is due almost entirely to carelessness. All farmers in the neighborhood of these outbreaks were warned of their existence and had ample time to have their herds treated with anti-hog cholera serum, the only known preventative for the disease, but few availed themselves of this protection.

The federal authorities believe that it is for farmers in the vicinity of these cases to determine whether they are to be victims of the hig cholera germ or whether they are to save their winter's supply of meat. If they are willing to bury dead animals, tie up their dogs, stay away from infected premises, keep strangers away from their hog lots and treat their herds with anti-hog cholera serum, there is some hope that the disease can be kept under control. Otherwise, swine raisers can continue to look for widespread outbreaks of cholera in Kent County.

There is no better time than right now—just before the busiest season on the farm—to go over your machines carefully, make a list of repairs you are likely to need and send it to us. With this list in our hands, we can order our stock so as to be prepared to meet every call promptly.

Repair part service is a necessary part of our business. We realize what it means to you in time and money to get what you need at once. Help us to help you by making up your list now and sending it in to us.

Severe Indigestion

"I had very severe attacks of indigestion," writes Mr. M. H. Wade, a farmer, of R. F. D. 1, Weir, Miss. "I would suffer for months at a time. All I dared eat was a little bread and butter. . . consequently I suffered from weakness. I would try to eat, then the terrible suffering in my stomach! I took medicines, but did not get any better. The druggist recommended and I decided to try it, for, as I say, I had tried others for two or more years without any improvement in my health. I soon found the Black-Draught was acting on my liver and easing the terrible pain.

"In two or three weeks, I found I could go back to eating. I only weighed 123. Now I weigh 147—eat anything I want to, and by taking Black-Draught I do not suffer."

Have you tried Thedford's Black-Draught? If not, do so today.
