LAUNCH DRIVE TO SAVE WHEAT FROM STRAW PILE

Washington (Special).—Poor threshing has been sending an average of three bushels too much wheat into the strawstack out of every hundred bushels threshed in the United States. In some places in the Central West the loss has been nearly ten per cent., from which large quantities of marketable grain was recovered last fall by rethreshing.

The national loss last year is figured at over 20,000,000 bushels.

The Food Administration announces the creation of a special grain threshing division to head a campaign against such enormous preventable wastage. This division, acting under the Grain Corporation, has already arranged to have county threshing committees carry the educational and mechanical activities planned to every threshing machine owner and operating crew in the United States. A typical county threshing committee will consist of the county Food Administrator, the county Agricultural Agent and a retired threshermen representing the state or local Council of Defense.

Each committee will maintain open headquarters and devote attention to threshing operations within the county, endeavoring through mechanical assistance and emphasis on methods of conservation to secure a high quality of work.

Other activities of the Grain Threshing Division and its branches include plans for insuring prompt repair service, co-opeation with the Department of Labor and with the Fuel Administration for securing adequate amounts of labor and engine fuel. The National Implement and Vehicle Association has already pledged its co-operation and with the hearty response now being received from other branches of industry and agriculture a large saving in food is expected.

SOMETHING ABOUT SOY BEANS.

Soy beans yield more seed per acre and are more cheaply harvested than any other bean, and they are very rarely attacked by weevils. Their fat content is so great that they do not need pork to be cooked with them. Soy beans are the most economical, as well as the most nutritious, wheat substitute on the food list. And they taste fine.

The only reason they are not more widely grown here is that they haven't been; and that shouldn't stop an up-to-date war-winning agriculturist. The Maryland Food Administration is so impressed with the value of the soy beans from both the producer's and the consumer's standpoint that it offers in Class G of its Produce Contest prizes of $25, $15 and $10 for the best average showing made in each county from a tract of not less than two acres. SOW THE SOY!

EVERY GARDEN COUNTS.

Said President Wilson just a year ago, "Everyone who creates or cultivates a garden helps, and helps greatly, to solve the problem of the feeding of the nations." Today that is doubly true. Every pound of food grown and consumed at home liberates its equivalent for overseas. Three or four pounds of potatoes, beans, onions or sweet corn save a pound of beef or a pound of flour. Enter your patch in the Food Administration's contest and share in the $12,000 prizes for war gardens.

If Swift & Company Made No Profit

The cattle raiser would receive only 1/8 cent a pound more for his cattle

So small is Swift & Company's profit on any single transaction that if it were turned over to the cattle raisers of the country, they would receive only 1/8 cent a pound more for cattle than they receive now.

Swift & Company pays for live cattle about 90% of the amount received for dressed meat and by-products. The remaining 10% pays for packing-house expense, freight to market, operation of distributing houses and profit. Swift & Company's actual figures per head for 1917 on over two million cattle were as follows:

 This net profit of $1.29 per head averages 1/8 cent a pound live weight.

And out of this small net profit dividends must be paid to shareholders.
