SPORTS

WASHINGTON COLLEGE LOSES TO CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY IN A HARD GRIDIRON BATTLE—P. M. C. TODAY—OTHER SPORTING NOTES

Washington College will be without the star guard, Monahan, who was injured in last Saturday's game about the knee. He will probably be out of the line-up for two weeks or more. Carroll, who was knocked out in a collision with Cavanaugh, W. C.'s crack quarter, is all right again and will be in today's game in fine shape. Carroll is developing into one of the finest ends ever seen at Washington College. Crowe, while somewhat injured about the legs some weeks ago, manages to be in every scrimmage and is a tower of strength, both on the offensive and defensive. Keenan, of course, is the strongest point in the line and, on the offensive, is the point where the W. C. backs hit. Kelly has managed to hold his own or better against all opponents. Scarborough is developing into a football player of real ability and will make a name for himself on the gridiron from all appearances. Flowers is back in the line-up, we are glad to state. Jake is one of the best backfield men, both on the offensive and defensive and Coach Kibler can well use him today. Bankard, the greyhound of the squad, perhaps the fleetest runner who ever attended the college, is back with the team. He was hurt in the St. John's game. He, too, will be in the line-up today. Cavanaugh is persistently appearing in the headlines of the papers who are featuring the Washington College games this year. Washing's quarter-back is a fine general with a team, a marvelous broken field runner and a wicked man when near the opponents' goal. Watch him as the season approaches the end and figure up what he has done. Fiore is fast developing into a crack tackle. He is a natural-born athlete and will make a good football man. Galvin has the hardest drive for a man of his size that we have ever seen. He hits the line hard and sure and nails his man on the defense. Duffy is making good at tackle and has added no uncertain strength to the line. Reiger and Johnston are playing well at end for W. C. Both are small for the job, but their strength and willingness to meet the others' defensive gives considerable promise for the future. Dumschot is doing such good work at halfback that it will be hard to keep him off the regular team. He is about as good a tackler as seen on the field this year and surely is a good broken field runner. Taken altogether, Washington College's football team of 1922 is the best seen here for many years. What the team lacks in weight and experience, they make up in fight, willingness to learn and enthusiasm. It's hard work to beat a bunch of players like them. If you don't believe it, read the accounts of the last three years played and watch for the result of the game today with P. M. C.

The Washington College Scrubs defeated the Chestertown High School team Friday afternoon by the score of 40 to 0. Washington College greatly outweighed their opponents.

One of the hardest fought games of football ever played on Washington Field took place last Friday afternoon between the football team representing Washington College last year and the one representing the college this year. The score was 0-0. The game will go down in the football history of the institution as one well worth remembering.

Washington College football team is all set for the big game at Pennsylvania Military College today. Year after year Washington's team goes to Chester with little or no prospects of winning. This year, however, it is different. Washington expects to win today. Quite a number have made arrangements to attend the game from Chestertown.

Probable result of today's game between W. C. and P. M. C.: Washington 10; P. M. C. 7.

Battlink Siki, conqueror of Georges Carpentier, is matched to fight Joe Beckett, known as the European setup, Nov. 23. If Beckett ever meets a real man like Dempsey, a charge of murder will probably follow the fight.

The Army did not like the famous Notre Dame shift last year, but the game will be played again this year on Nov. 4. This season the Cadets are expected to make a better showing than last, when they were overwhelmed.

Coach Healey's team won again last Sunday against Quantico, 40-0. Coach Healey was mentioned in the city press for having done good work. Killinger and Lightner played half for Coach Healey's team.

Kent County sportsmen are due for one of the biggest hunting seasons in years. Game reports from all sections of the county, with the exception of squirrels, indicate that it will be plentiful. The season for hunting the squirrel will go out for ten days after Nov. 10.

Yale was decisely beaten in their own bowl by Iowa Saturday, 6 to 0. All of which shows that what we have been contending for years—that the Big Three are big in name only—is somewhere near right. Watch for Iowa to come off the Yale schedule next year and Bates or some like institution to replace her.

Salisbury will have as manager of its baseball team next year H. B. Shipley, pilot of this season's Martinsburg club, of the Blue Ridge League.

Baltimore won the Junior World's Series from St. Paul. From a standpoint of real baseball the minor league games are said to have been superior to the major's games.

Washington College journed to Washington, D. C., Saturday and played the Catholic University team. This team expected to win by the score of 40 to 0, but barely managed to squeeze through with a 7-3 victory. Carrol was knocked out at a critical time, which probably cost Washington the game.

It became apparent in the first quarter of the game that the Catholic University would make little impression on the Washington College line. Offensive tactics were changed and on forward passes they managed to get their only score in the third quarter.

Catholic University opened the second quarter with three perfectly executed forward passes, after W. C. had worked the ball to the center of the field by line plunges and one successful run. Catholic University was held for down and Cavanaugh, of W. C., got around right end for a 30-yard run, but lost the ball when tackled. Forward passes were tried by both teams, but were intercepted until Crowe, of W. C., took a long pass for 30 yards. He added 15 more yards by short passes. The next attempt was intercepted by Catholic University and the first half ended with the ball on W. C.'s 30-yard line.

The ball went around Washington's right end for 15 yards in the opening of the second half and it was soon advanced 20 yards more in another quarter. Washington then held for downs, and began to hammer the Catholic University line to pieces, but soon were unable to make the distance and were compelled to kick. The home team made 10 yards on a forward pass and by end runs and forward passes advanced the ball to W. C.'s 10-yard line. At this point occurred the mishap to Carroll and his end was circled for the yards necessary for a touchdown.

Washington hammered Catholic University's line from one end of the field to the other in the last quarter of the game and should have scored a touchdown and tied the score, but a field goal was made when Washington was on the Catholic University's 10-yard line. The remainder of the period saw the ball in the air most of the time, resulting in long, spectacular passes that were intercepted.

Taken altogether Washington played a most creditabel game and, in spite of injuries to several of their players and also being outweighed considerably, they made the Catholic University boys extend themselves to the very limit to register a victory over them.

Queer Feelings

"Some time ago, I was very irregular," writes Mrs. Cora Robie, of Pikeville, Ky. "I suffered a great deal, and knew I must do something for this condition. I suffered mostly with my back and a weakness in my limbs. I would have dreadful headaches. I had hot flashes and very queer feelings, and oh, how my head hurt! I read of and of others, who seemed to have the same troubles I had, being benefited, so I began to use it. I found it most beneficial. I took several bottles . . . . and was made so much better I didn't have any more trouble of this kind. It regulated me."

CARDUI

Cardui has been found very helpful in the correction of many cases of painful female disorders, such as Mrs. Robie mentions above. If you suffer as she did, take Cardui—a purely vegetable, medicinal tonic, in use for more than 40 years. It should help you.
