Once Drab Elks' Home Now Gayest of Baltimore's Nite Clubs

By GLENNIS HALL

Gone is the one-time social meeting place of the Elks at 1112 Madison Avenue, and in its stead is now Baltimore's most exclusive pleasure resort the chic Tunaville.

And is it a beauty! One does not need artistic ability to appreciate the beauty of this once drab building. It really seems that a fairy waved her wand and transformed it into a black and silver castle for the night folk to hie thither after a day of work to forget and lose themselves in the glamour and fantasy of the gay and hilarious people from everywhere.

Gracefully posed against a silvery background are nude silhouetted Venuses, which for all the protests against nudist colonies, are admired by the thousands. And yet, a young girl of sixteen as well as the discreet and indiscreet ladies of more older years. The ladies really seem to have a hard time keeping the longer and case-of-their-clothes item wandering too often to these murals.

Amid the tinkling of wine glasses, the haze of smoke, the hubbub of merry voices, the rhythmic sway of dancers on the spacious floor, dreamy tunes float through the enchanted night castle, inspiring young love and awakening old love.

Sipping wines, whiskey, beers and whatnot, the crowd is entertained by sexy ladies telling them how smart "Rhythm Wagon" is, while they demonstrate how it is done. Or, to mean when the husband, who has to stay home again, gets home—then those much talked of twin terrors of the home, jealousy and nagging, are stifled, although publicly denouncing them.

Starred is a very popular and entertaining young man, Joe Smoth-

Dressed in blood-red blouse, form-fitting, blue trousers, white kid shoes, with brunette hair marceled to perfection, every eyebrow carefully put in its proper place, finger nails manicured, this young man, in true soprano, warbles his numbers to the delight of the whole place. Then he swings into his dance routine. Can he shimmy? There's really swing in every twist of his body. No doubt about it, he is the talk of the town.

Service, did I hear you ask? Service that pretty waitresses, adorned in purple uniforms won't even let you worry for a thing.

SOME LOVELY THINGS FOR THE WOMEN

With winter months come the task of keeping the hands fresh and youthful looking, a task, indeed, which so many women overlook for hands are quite as fast as the face and tell a much more tactful story about what care may disguise with gloves.

One of the troublesome things about keeping hands attractive and youthful looking, after the age of 25, which is inclined to get rough and ragged is the cuticle. Cuticle should be massaged into the cuticle to keep it soft and smooth as the petals of a rose. Massaging can be accomplished with bad cuticle in this way.

There is a new cuticle cream that will keep the cuticle nourished, pliable and soft, after the application of a massage is given and then push back the cuticle with the nail with an orange stick wrapped in cotton. The same cosmetic house makes a cuticle softener that will insure the nail but will cause the cuticles cuticle to disappear.

TASTY RECIPES

COLD SLICED MEAT, BARBECUE SAUCE

Slice the cold meat and place it in a frying pan with a small amount of butter, brown very carefully, then pour over it a sauce made by combining—

1 tablespoon ketchup
2 teaspoons Worcestershire
2 teaspoons flour
1 teaspoon vinegar
2 teaspoonful brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Summer the meat slowly with this sauce for 10 minutes, moderate oven for about one-half hour. Add more water if sauce is too thick.

TUNA FISH CROQUETTES

1 cup flaked tuna fish
1 cup crumbled crackers
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 teaspoons vinegar
1 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoonful powder
1 cup slightly broth
Brown butter and add to crackers. Place in a saucepan and add tuna fish. Cook 2 minutes. Remove from fire and add the yolks of two eggs. Cool. Form into croquettes, shape into croquettes, roll in flour, dip in egg and crumbed crackers. Fry in deep fat until a golden brown. Serve with catsup. Twelve croquettes.

CHOCOLATE CELERY

Celery—Cut up with a slice sausages of the final tang, to make a fine dish. Cook 2 cups diced celery in boiling water 10 minutes. Drain and add (second) water) 3 tablespoons butter, 1 onion minced, salt, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon celery salt, 1 tablespoon pepper. Cook 2 minutes, add the cooked celery, 2-3 cup stewed tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon vegetable juice tastes especially good with roast pork.

PEA TIMBALES

Either fresh or canned peas may be used to make these tasty pea timbales. Press the peas through a sieve. To this pulp add 3 eggs slightly beaten, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup thin cream, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon onion juice and a few grains of cayenne. Mix well and season. Fill buttered timbale molds, set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until firm. Unmold on a platter and garnish with thin white sauce. Make sauce by adding 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup milk. Cook 2 minutes. Add 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon onion juice, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon pepper. Serve hot.

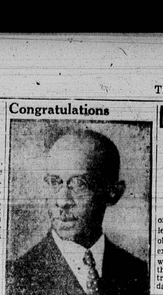
HARD SAUCE

1 tablespoon butter
2 cups confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon concentrated milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter and gradually add sugar and milk, then the vanilla. Keep chilled until ready to serve. Yield: Sufficient for 6 desserts.

Tutti pudding may be made a week ahead and reheated. But it must be served hot.

Congratulations



MARION S. POLLETT, of the Metropolitan Finance Corporation, who will celebrate his birthday, Thursday, January 18.

DOPE BUYER PLEADS GUILTY TO FORGERY

Convicted of forging the name of Dr. W. Tyler Coleman to prescriptions to obtain dope, Joseph Young, 22, ex-jockey, 108 Chesapeake Avenue, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction, which tried in the criminal court, Tuesday.

Young pleaded guilty to the charges which were made against him by the physician and police. Offered as evidence against him was a specimen of his handwriting which had been taken during the hearing in the Northeastern district.

Arrested in Store

At the trial before Judge Robert Stanton, police testified that they were summoned to the drug store at Givens Avenue and Madison Avenue on December 21, 1933 and on the request of Dr. William A. Lanahan, white, arrested Young.

The white physician stated that on December 7, Young gave him a prescription for six one-quarter grain morphine sulphate tablets bearing a signature supposed to have been that of Dr. W. T. Coleman, 2039 McCulloh Street.

The prescription was filled and Young obtained the tablets.

On December 21, the pharmacist became suspicious when Young presented the morphine sulphate tablets a time seeking 20 half grain tablets. Believing that no physician would order such a large quantity at one time, the pharmacist declared he had Young arrested. He called Dr. Coleman on the private telephone.

Took Blanks

Dr. Coleman testified that Young had been working around his office and had easy access to the medical pads which he keeps. The blanks were kept.

Dr. Coleman stated that the papers which were offered as evidence, revealed that Young had been the dupe of a Mrs. Mary Cherry, 2122 Leadenhall Street, who is serving an indeterminate sentence for the murder of a Mrs. Hubert Smith, 43, 609 Sarah Street, was sentenced to four years in the House of Correction, for the murder of a Mrs. Grace Smith, Tuesday.

E. Blanche Smith, 39, 419 W. Lanvale Street, was sentenced to four years in the House of Correction, for the murder of a Mrs. Grace Smith, Tuesday.

Mrs. Smith was shot to death by her husband, Hubert Smith, 43, 609 Sarah Street, when he appeared at her home in a rage, Tuesday, January 16.

At the hearing it developed that the two men engaged in a dispute over money. During the altercation Mrs. Smith was attacked with a knife by Melbourn. While defending himself against the other man's attack Loran cut Melbourn.

At the conclusion of the hearing Magistrate Joseph O'Donnell preferred charges against Melbourn and sentenced him to a term in the House of Correction.

Eternal Triangle

Another eternal triangle was aired in the Eastern police court when Mrs. Marie Angus Jasper was arraigned on charges of slashing Miss Sarah Kinard, 29, 34 S. Bond Street, with a knife when she found her husband, Albert Jasper, in the other woman's home.

At the hearing the wife stated that she had been suspicious for several weeks that her husband was failed to return home she went to the home of Mrs. Kinard and there found the couple. During the altercation that followed she slashed the other woman with a knife. When the wife admitted Judge Joseph Supple sentenced the wife of the husband to a term in the House of Correction.

Edward Carey, 1722 Sharp Street, was held for the action of the grand jury when arraigned on charges of attempting to shoot Buck Jones, 319 S. Greenmount Street, carrying a deadly weapon.

The man is alleged to have fired two shots at Jones. Miss Maud Cherry 922 Leadenhall Street, accused him of stealing her wrist watch. It was alleged that after the shooting took place Carey ran.

JUDGE FREES WIFE WHO CUT HER RIVAL

A sentence of three months in the House of Correction was imposed on Charles Melbourn, 33, 815 Pennsylvania Avenue, when he appeared in the Southern police court to make charges of assault against James Loran, 49, a tenant in his home, Wednesday.

At the hearing it developed that the two men engaged in a dispute over money. During the altercation Mrs. Loran was attacked with a knife by Melbourn. While defending himself against the other man's attack Loran cut Melbourn.

At the conclusion of the hearing Magistrate Joseph O'Donnell preferred charges against Melbourn and sentenced him to a term in the House of Correction.

Put "Backbone" into Your Meringues!

What's the use of telling anyone all about the delicious pie fillings we know how to make if they are going to be completely discounted by without a meringue?

One of the most practical matters of fact area "ex on cookery over the radio last week was surprisingly filled with requests on how to make a good meringue. "Bake 10 minutes" the SECRET of a successful meringue! was the cry from many hundreds of women who were anxious to use this inexpensive and effective form of decoration on puddings and pies.

Here is the actual recipe which she sent to them for the soft meringue, the type of topping which belongs on pies and puddings. For a regular family-size pie:

2 egg whites
4 tablespoons powdered sugar
1 teaspoon Cream of Tartar Baking Powder
Pinch of salt
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Beat the egg whites till stiff. Then gradually add the sugar, sifted with the baking powder, continuing the beating until the mixture is fine-grained and will hold its shape. Spread on the pudding and bake in a slow oven, 300 degrees F., for twenty to thirty minutes. Note the "10 minutes," in a slow oven! That's different from the old days that a meringue needed only a quick hard "bake" to make it just to brown it. And too, this recipe is for the new phosphate baking powder in it. It is the phosphate that is so wonderful in making perfect toppings. It is a fact well worth the attention of every home cook who wants to make a mouth watering dessert to the eye as well as appetizing to the palate. Remember to be kept in mind when spreading a meringue that it must be spread to the edge, it must reach the very edge of the crust, else the weeping of the pie, because it shrinks back a bit in baking.

Here's a delightfully different and delicious way to serve a meringue: Meringued Gingered Apples. Take

6 good sized baking apples
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 teaspoonfuls Candied Ginger
1 teaspoonful Cinnamon

Pare and core the apples. Mix brown sugar and the chopped ginger. Place in the center of each apple, first a small lump of butter, then a generous lump of the mixture of the sugar-ginger mixture. Top with a little more butter, then a small lump of butter. Place all the apples in a pan with an inch of water. Bake in a moderate oven 350 to 375 degrees F. Baste with syrup from the oven, cover each apple with a meringue made of the egg white and the recipe above, but using 3 eggs and 6 tablespoons of powdered sugar and a teaspoon of Rumford Baking Powder. Return the apples to a slow 300 degrees F. oven to finish baking for 20 minutes. Youll find perfectly delicious. Whole pears or even bananas may be used in place of the apples. The baking time will vary, of course. The pears will always allow full 20 minutes in a slow oven for the meringue top.

Business and Industry

By CLARENCE MITCHELL

This column's purpose of the column is to keep the Baltimore business men and women in touch with the business men and women of the city. Business efficiency and cleanliness are the two greatest advertisements of any enterprise. Contributions of new ideas and ventures will serve to make it of interest to the readers.

The three song of recovery has been taken up in a number of Baltimore's forward looking business men and at present a program is on foot to make each local enterprise more efficient and worthy of patronage.

C. Henry Jenkins, of the Metropolitan Finance Corporation, announced this week that the Association for the Promotion of Negro Business is opening its membership with a State-wide convention. All business, professional and trade groups will be taken into the organization. Committees are being made to obtain the names of delegates who will attend the gathering.

The convention will close with a business dinner, the dods of which are to be bought wholly from colored concerns and a monthly "trade week" is expected to be started.

The Housewives' League is now making a survey of Baltimore in an effort to get them ready for a drive which is to begin in April. As stated in this column they are planning an insignia on the window of such members as they join the movement.

The Department of the Association for the Promotion of Negro Business is being created for the purpose of helping the colored business enterprises but this service will be available to members only.

Mr. Jenkins has had great interest in the creation of a race concern doing business and business men, as well, has indicated that it is a great need for elementary principles of business in Baltimore.

In his opinion many of the local business concerns have not been given a larger amount of patronage because they have not been up to par in the matter of business and cleanliness of their establishments.

A formal opening of the new offices of the North Carolina Mutual Insurance Company, on the corner of Pennsylvania Avenue and Druid Hill Street, will take place in the next two weeks, according to Mr. Emmett Coleman, manager of the Baltimore Branch.

Mr. Coleman stated that the program of 1934 called for expansion in the local offices which caused the company to move to its present location. Increased business, clerical service, and healthy conditions are the objectives of the company for the comine year.

FORTUNE HEADS SPEAKERS' BODY IN NEW DRIVE

Jack Nelson Fortune, who aided in the Community Fund Drive, will head the speakers' bureau of the Association for the Handicapped's drive which begins on January 21. W. Emmett Coleman, director of the campaign, announced this week. Blind speakers are expected to aid in raising funds, and the goal has been set at $1,000. At the suggestion of the Rev. Forest C. Bragg, all of the lodges and social clubs of the city will be contacted for assistance.

Personal contacts will be made with many of the ministers by a staff of women workers headed by Mrs. Ellen S. Banks and Mrs. Maude Hall. On special recommendation the Rev. Mrs. Elizabeth Green has been made a captain in the drive. Those present at the meeting were:

The Rev. George F. Bragg, William Langley, Joseph C. Briscoe, J. Nelson Fortune, the Rev. Warner W. Johnson, John Cooper, the Rev. and Mrs. William Brown, Dr. F. M. Wood, the Rev. A. J. Green, Mrs. B. Lillian Jones, Mr. Gorham, Mrs. Vivian Alleyne, Mrs. Mae Mitchell, Mrs. Ella B. Johnson, Mrs. E. Lewis, Mrs. J. Valentine, Mrs. D. F. Nicholas, Mrs. George Mitchell, Mrs. Ella Holbrook, Mrs. Mae Jones, A. J. Payne, the Rev. Daniel Hayes, and Mrs. Lillian Lottier.

Found Lottery Slips

The discovery of lottery slips and money when police raided the house at 535 S. Ann Street, resulted in Edward Wright, 45, of 1749 Jefferson Street, being held for the action of the grand jury under $300 bond Wednesday, in the Northeastern district.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

THE household marketer should find it easy to provide her family with a varied diet and yet keep within her budget these days.

Meats are relatively low in price. Especially low even compared to last year is fowl for frieasses. Fish are not so plentiful nor low priced when the weather is cold or stormy as it is in summer but supplies are adequate.

Vegetables continue to be plentiful and moderate in price. Spinach and string beans offer outstanding values. New cabbage and potatoes are beginning to come into market. Tomatoes are more plentiful than in recent weeks.

Strawberries are here. Grapefruit, oranges and apples have, however, dominate the fruit market.

The Quaker Maid offers these three dinner menus.

WHAT TO WEAR

Three boys Sent to State Reformatory

Three boys, Ernest Jackson, 16, 1416 Mary Street, Charles Allen, 19, 1219 Madison Avenue, and Albert Jackson, 916 Sharp Street, were sentenced to the Maryland Reformatory after arraignment in the Juvenile Court on charges of purse snatching and violating the conditions of their parodes.

WHAT TO WEAR

IN MEDIUM LENGTH

Women have a way of getting what they want, and this is demanded by the dressers in Paris turned out some extremely dashing dinner frocks that are neither low nor short are especially suited to the youthful boyish figure.

The dinner versions include straight, belted or swing models. Some have yokes. Collars are standing, Peter Pan or crushed. Sleeves relate the story that has been going the rounds this year. Pleats or shirring at the shoulders, or below the elbow.

Short-haired furs, such as lamb, shoat and kid are the happiest choices for the fur trotteur that is belted or swagger. Seal and kimmer make handsome straightline finger-tip length coats.

* * *

The off-the-face hat movement is a growing fashion.

The svelte type of frock, if perfectly fitted, is lovely.

Feather printed velvet is a new fabric for evening wear.

Very pale tints are re-appearing and white is again liked for evening gowns.

Flowers dropping along the right shoulder blade is a startling innovation for evening.

Whiter Clothes Than Ever This "No-Work" Way

Millions of women have given up old-fashioned, wash-day methods for good. Rinso, the granulated hard-water laundry soap, makes clothes whiter and brighter than in years so much less time; with much less work.

In tub or machine, Rinso gently loosens dirt and stains. It actually soaks clothes whiter than they can be scrubbed or boiled. Stretches linen, too.

Safe? Of course! You can trust your finest cottons and linens to Rinso. It's easy on the clothes for they don't need to be rubbed and scrubbed threadbare. Even the most soiled cuffs and edges become snowy-white with little or no rubbing.

Saves the hands, also. They're in hot water so much less the Rinso way. And the creamy, lasting Rinso suds keep up in the hardest water. Stand up until the wash is done.

Rinso is all you need on washday—no bar soaps, chips or powders. Just follow the directions on the package for economy and best results. Note, too, that for all household work Rinso is excellent. Especially good for dishes because it contains no grit and because it cuts the grease so quickly.

Phillips Packing Company Executive Studies South American Outlets

CENTREVILLE, Md.—Of general interest to farmers and truck growers throughout the Del-Mar-Va peninsula is the announcement January 4, of the Phillips Packing Company, Cambridge, Md., that Theodore Phillips, one of their executive vice presidents is abroad the United Fruit Line steamer, Peten, en route to Central and South America to make an extensive trade survey.

Favorable conditions would mean an increase of thousands of acres in vegetable crops for truck farmers throughout a wide area along the Atlantic seaboard, but notably in the Del-Mar-Va country, embracing the state of Delaware and the Eastern Shore counties of Maryland and Virginia.

Mr. Phillips arrive in Port Limon, Costa Rico, Jan. 4, from which point he will conduct his investigations into Central America conditions. Later he will sail for South America to continue the survey. The Phillips Packing Company, headed by Col. Albanus Phillips, recently supplied the canned soups and vegetables for the Admiral Byrd Expedition to the South Pole and the Seth Parker sailing expedition.

A FLOWER AND GARDEN GUIDE

From the Garden Almanac

House plants should occupy the attention of the home gardener at this season. They all respond to good treatment. Good care does not mean attempting to utilize all the suggestions that are offered by friends, such as the use of castor oil, insertion of match heads in the soil to combat insects or worms, and fertilization with tea leaves and coffee grounds. Follow the suggested helps. Allowing drafts, over watering, giving too dense shade, and permitting insects are common faults.

* * *

Cold frames containing perennials should be ventilated on all warm and clear days. It is an excellent time to plant seeds of some of the nut trees. These include such desirable kinds as the walnut, hickory, and butternut. Plant them where they are to remain and where there is little likelihood of loss through transplanting. Freezing will break the hard outer shell and enable the seeds to germinate in spring.

Held on Gambling Charge

The offering of numbers slips and money as evidence by Sergeant Thomas Hall, of the Eastern district resulted in James Williams, 22 Bond Street, being held for the action of the grand jury under $500 bond on charges of violating the gambling and lottery laws, Tuesday.

POLICE INVADE HOMES WITHOUT ANY WARRANTS

Officers Enter Twenty Houses and Arrest 346 Persons.

NEED WARRANTS, GAITHER SAYS

But Cops Continue to Make A.M. Raids.

Early morning invasion of homes without warrants being made in some of the police districts are for a showdown exercise in a group of citizens who feel that officers are going too far in this direction. It was learned this week.

In 20 homes raided this past week police arrested a total of 346 on charges of disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace. At some of the hearings the officers testified that they entered the homes of neighbors and people passing along the streets complained of the noise. Some of the houses were entered also, so they said, to conduct searches for unlawful sale or possession of whiskey.

Need Warrants

Some months ago the commissioner Charles Gaither laid down a rule that warrants should be secured before such searches are made. But several of the districts officers are said to be taking advantage of the people are gathered together for social custom to enter homes where social purpose prevails as well as search for illegal whiskey.

Under police regulations used in some parts of the city, a citizen's home is regarded as his castle, and it is necessary for an officer to produce a warrant for any invasion, unless he has reason to conclude a law is being broken. But every week there are a large number of citizens brought into police station and fined on disorderly conduct charges who declare that their only offense has been to attend a party which someone says was noisy.

The fact that the raids and fines are made and imposed weekly without attendance these citizens point out, suggest that their purpose is not confined to good policing. Those arrested this past week include:
