"Do-It-Now League" Has 20,000 Members; Draws No Color Line

No Dues Necessary to Join Camden Librarian's Good Organization.

CAMDEN, N.J.—A movement to spread kindly thoughts and deeds, without organization, officers, dues or other expenses, is the aim of William H. Ketler, white, public librarian of Camden, N.J.

Proud of his heritage as the son of active participants in the "Underground Railroad," Mr. Ketler is known to the colored people of his home town as an outspoken and fearless friend of the our race, and author of a locally-produced "Pageant of Negro History in America." He is now asking people throughout the country to get signers for his "Do-It-Now League, and by means of the little card of membership in the league to demonstrate that every good impulse heeded is a good habit started or strengthened. He offers a supply of the cards free to any sincere applicant.

The card, or folder, has four pages. One page bears the certificate of membership, which anyone, having witnessed any kind person sign the triple pledge, may sign as "registrar."

The second page bears the first pledge, which reads as follows:

My Purpose

I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good, therefore, that I can do, or any kindness that I can show, or any fellow creature, LET ME DO IT NOW. Let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again.

The third page bears the second pledge, as follows:

My Daily Prayer

O Thou, Great Source of life and all love, let love, be born today and every day, to reverence all Thy creation; help me today and every day, to be kind and merciful, to be loving and conscious being. Grant me to part in bringing to an end the long, dang nightly of greed, selfishness and unprofitable cruelty to all Thy creatures. Amen!

The final pledge is given on page four of the membership card, as follows:

My Practice

The League member will always stop and help the distressed, especially those who cannot speak for themselves, namely the birds and the birds. Neglect is always equivalent to cruelty.

Cards are delivered immediately upon being signed, and, with the record of names and addresses of signers is required, accurate reports of the number of signers will be appreciated.

The league has now nearly twenty-thousand members and is growing daily months old. There is no age limit and children are especially welcome.

Those interested in obtaining cards are invited to write William H. Ketler, Box 169, Camden, N.J.
