MAN FREED IN ALLEGED ATTACK CASE ON CHILD

Arraigned in the Northwestern police station on accusations of Mrs. Helen Combs, that he had criminally attacked her five-year-old daughter, Charlie Williams, 33 years, of 828 Druid Hill Avenue, was dismissed for lack of evidence, Monday.

At the hearing, Mrs. Combs stated that she was committed to the House of Correction for three months after her husband, Frederick Combs, had been fatally shot by Patrolman Neyner. In explaining the commitment, the mother declared that she had been convicted of attacking and striking the officer while he was fighting with her husband.

On being released from the House of Correction on December 29, Mrs. Combs stated, her daughter refused to stay with Williams and his wife, Mrs. Mary Williams. After questioning the child, she was told that Williams had criminally attacked the child.

The child, when placed on the witness stand, stated that she had been attacked by Williams. On cross-examination by Magistrate John Gordon, the child stated that she had been in her statements and declared that she did not know who had attacked her, although she had described the circumstances surrounding the attack in detail.

Wife Aids Mate

The accused man's wife, Mrs. Mary Williams, said that the charges were made against Williams because Mrs. Combs was angry with the family. The witness were manded after Mrs. Combs had accused her of displacing five dresses and three pairs of shoes, when she was committed to the House of Correction. Mrs. Williams stated: The wife added that she had given the child some in bed with Sa man as she was friendly with Mrs. Combs.

The testimony of Dr. Mary Vogelsang, white, police surgeon, stated that there was evidence that an attempt had been made to attack the child by the numerous bruises on her body.

When the girl was brought back to the stand, she admitted that she had spoken of the man (Joe) denied that he had been the man who attacked her.

Stating that it would be a travesty on justice to hold Williams on the evidence presented, Judge Pohlhaus ordered the man discharged.

POLICE RAID MORE HOMES; HUNT LIQUOR

The effort of members of the vice squad to locate houses where intoxicants are sold without license led to the raiding of 20 homes and the arrest of 259 persons on charges of disorderly conduct, this week.

While the officers raided the houses in search of intoxicants during parties, records disclose that in none of the forays did the officers raids prove successful. The raids for the arrests were made, records show after the usual complaints by neighbors or following information to an officer that there was a disturbance.

Those on police dockets were:

POTATOES ARE BLAMED FOR BAR KILLING

A dispute over a quarter-peck of potatoes resulted in the slaying of William Chase, 26, 1416 Prestman Street, it was testified in the Northwestern police court, Tuesday, when Milo Adams, 36 1326 Webster Street was held for the grand jury following a coroner's inquest.

Chase was fatally shot by Adams when the two were in the saloon at 1210 Laurens Street, Saturday night.

Sergeant Edward Hitzelberger who arrested Adams, testified that the accused man had told him that Chase met him on Laurens Street about ten minutes before the shooting. While talking, Chase had grabbed his shopping bag and thrown the contents in the street. While he was retrieving his potatoes, Adams is alleged to have said that Chase stole his pocketbook containing $7 and went into the saloon.

The officer stated that on investigating the killing he found that Adams's statement was true. The officer stated that Adams saw Chase go into the saloon ahead of him and when he obtained his revolver, leaving his shopping bag containing the potatoes.

On entering the saloon, he accused Chase of stealing his potatoes and before the other man could answer, drew his revolver and fired three times. Two took effect in Chase's body, one pierced his abdomen and the other his chest just below the heart.

Had Had Difficulty.

The policeman testified that he also learned from Mrs. Irene Adams that her husband had had difficulty with Chase several weeks before. When questioned concerning the seven dollars. Serg. Hitzelberger quoted the wife as saying that her husband had buy one dollar when he left the house to purchase some vegetables at the time when he stated Chase threw them in the street.

Charles W. Brown, an eye witness to the shooting stated that he met Adams on Laurens Street and the man drew a gun on him and threatened to shoot him for a reason at all. At the point of the revolver Adams forced him to go with him to the saloon. It was only five minutes later that Chase was shot.

After Chase had been shot, one of the patrons in the place struck Adams over the head with a beer bottle as he turned the gun on the crowd and threatened to shoot anyone who attempted to stop his escape.

Alarms previously had informed police in a statement that Chase had drawn a razor on Adams while they were struggling for possession of the weapon it was discovered.

Man, Buried Five Months, Found Guilty of Murder

Despite the fact that he had been dead and buried nearly five months, the late Emanuel Snell, 60, of 403 North Carey Street, is accused of fatally shooting his wife, Mrs. Ruby Snell, 26, on Sunday, Jan. 28, last, by Southwestern police.

The charging of the deceased man with murder was the result of negligence on the part of a police desk sergeant who FAILED to record the charge following the fatal shooting of Mrs. Snell. It was the recent disclosure of police records that the case had not been recorded that led to the dead man being charged with the murder.

Because of the failure of the police officer to record the murder and the consequent coroner's decision to keep the records straight the case was placed on record as charging the dead man with the killing, by Sergeant Edward Rouse, who discovered the discrepancy.

The body of Mrs. Snell was found August 28, lying across the bed of her home in a pool of blood, from four bullet wounds in her body. When taken to Franklin Square Hospital she was pronounced dead, physicians reporting that she had been dead several hours.

Find Gun Lying Together.

Snell was found lying on the floor near his wife's body, with a gunshot wound in the right temple. Police report that he was unconscious when they arrived at the house and died en route to the hospital.

Investigation into the killing and suicide disclosed that the aged man was extremely jealous of his attractive wife and had on numerous occasions, threatened her life. From clues in the room it was apparent that the woman had been trying to go to work when the husband shot his wife and committed suicide.

The deceased man was charged with killing his wife's death. Fifteen minutes later, the decision of Coroner Joseph Reinhardt, who investigated the case, was rendered.

The coroner's verdict read:

"Emanuel Snell, 60, willfully, with malice aforethought, did shoot and thereby murder Ruby Snell, aged 26 years, contrary to the law. Ruby Snell, shot and killed by her husband, who afterward committed suicide.

Dance Halls

By LINDY HOPE

Heigh ho, Everybody!

Believe it or not, spring-like weather has fanned my cheek this last week, aff glory be, if I did not and it darn exhilarating!

Well, it won't be long now, for the next seven or eight weeks will pass quickly.

Dance fans are exhibiting bits of spring fancy even now and I hear the boys talking about their "tuxedos" for Easter. It is wonderful to be able to look ahead, but we must make every step of the way; so here goes for the weekly activities.

BENDER'S DANCE

Did the Benders have a crowd? And how! The Strand was packed. They say the club will have another dance soon. The rain spoiled the crowd on Monday night. We are sure the Wakapas would have had three times as many guests as they did. They called it a "Guest" dance, you know.

"Prophet," "Brother," or "Cousin," whatever you like, had a capacity house at the Albert on Friday night. His "Opportunity" club is quite a success. And, aren't the girlies wild about this new moves? We are all anxious to hear about the Negro Business Code, he and his associates are working on.

And now for the coming events. Next Wednesday night is "Grandma's Night," at the Strand Ballroom. All who come before nine, will receive chocolate candy, forms and whistles will also be a part of the evening's feature. The boys and girls are having a real legiate session will be out in full force to play "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," and all the latest hits. By the way, didn't you have a swell time at the Lonesome Hearts Dance?

Gene Grymes, and his Blue Jays, of Penn Hall, Christian led them standing around. Do you know that the crowd thinks Johnny Cissel, the saxophone player? A Lil Boy Whiteman, that's is, only Johnny can sing and Paul can't. Well, be that as it not, I'm in the "Big Time Town." So don't forget that Wednesday and Thursday 2 is "Grandma's night" rom 8 until 2 am.

TO HOLD

BARN DANCE

Scheduled for Saturday February 7, by popular demand the Wednesday night barn dance will hold its annual Barn Dance. If you read your AFRO of last Friday, you will know that this was selected to be the honored guests.

WALTZ CONTEST

A little in advance but I must tell about the 4th annual waltz contest that Mrs. Reid's class will hold at the New Albert on Wednesday, February 14th. All specialists will have plenty of room to see which is the winner of the waltzers. Thanks to the convenience of a large balcony and boxes! Yes, at last, it's true! The Albert ballroom club is really fine. Look for it in the Strand on Wednesday, January 31, in drugstore windows, and elsewhere.

Have you ever heard of a "Treasure Hunt?" Wednesday from 8 until nine, preceding the dance Valentine lovers will have a chance to search the Albert for love tokens. Gifts of all descriptions will be hidden in every nook for the boys and girls. Remember the hour, from 8 until 9 in the ballroom. The band starts playing. The contest will be divided in six sections. All collegiate and non-collegiate. Here are the entries.

All Collegiates—Elizabeth Combs and William Bethea, Eulene Mosely and Parthenia Pasmiloro. More names will be added to this section next week. The non-Collegiates are Chester Peridel, Carrie Jones, Ulysses Wilson, and Marcella Ford. Calvin Johnson and Catherine Johnson. There will be more names added to this list. The Home Guests, "The 4 F's" and Chaliensers club (officers) will please take the entertainment as final notice for Valentine night.

We could go on telling you more and more about this Waltz contest classic, but you must be surprised, right? Don't forget the New Albert, Wednesday February 14 will be the memorable place of the Wednesday night dancing class.

FOREY NEW CLUB

Maybe we introduce the Pelmars club at this time? They are: William Parker, president; Herman Gallagher, vice president; Calvin Hurth, secretary; Vernon Hawkins, business manager; James Lyles, assistant manager; George Robina, treasurer; Howard Watts, sergeant-at-arms; Milton Colquin, chaplain;

Members: Orange Robinson, Charles Jones, Elmer Thomas, Lee Ford, Lockout, the original Nutty Nuts are getting ready for what? Something else, that we will tell you next week. And so Gentlemen Gets in Your Eyes," and all the latest hits. By the way, didn't you have a swell time at the Lonesday night?

WANTS BEAU BY MAIL

To the Lonesome Hearts Editor:

I have read your column for our column and especially interested in your lonesome hearts.

I am a young girl, age 18. I am tall, fair, brown skin, black hair, good natured, kind hearted, I don't drink, don't smoke or drink, love the church and of a cheerful disposition. I am fond of reading and like to attend a good church and good social.

I would like to correspond with a gentleman between the ages of 25 and 35 years. He must be tall, brown or light skinned, not addicted to smoking or drink, must be nice looking, neat in appearance and a gentleman. He must have a high school education, with good morals and good business ability. I would also be one who will appreciate a decent companion in the right sense of the word. Answer all letters and exchange photos. Hoping to get some mail soon.
