OFAY TEACHERS GET $1 IN CWA; COLORED, 60C

(By Wire to the AFRO)

HOUSTON, Texas—Blatant discrimination in the local administration of CWA funds is charged by a committee here which has been investigating the matter, with W. L. Turner as chairman.

Colored teachers employed as survey workers are paid 40 cents an hour, while whites doing the same work receive one dollar an hour. When the work first began, colored teachers were paid 60 cents.

In a program of retrenchment, the colored were reduced 20 cents an hour, the dollar figure.

The CWA educational project provides for 110 teachers and 105 survey workers, divided as follows: 50 white teachers for 1,800 students, at one dollar an hour; 60 colored teachers for 4,400 students, at 60 cents an hour; 20 colored survey workers and 85 white survey workers, at 40 cents an hour.

Despite a published statement by W. W. Kemmerer, local director, that "those employed in the survey work 30 hours a week for $12, and the teachers work 20 hours a week for $20," all colored teachers are limited to 12 hours a week at 60 cents an hour.

Although both white and colored workers and teachers must possess the same qualifications, colored teachers have never been paid more than $12 a week.

COURT MAY AWARD HOUSE TO VALET

WASHINGTON—Because his former white employer had, in 1923, promised to buy for him a house at 540 24th Street, northwest, Leon Howard was given reason Thursday to hope his Justice Jesse P. Adkins would grant his petition to be awarded title to the property.

Howard was promised the house by G. Bryan Pitts, which in its turn for Howard's consenting to leave his Florida home and come to this city as Pitts's valet. The house was valued at $3,650.

Pitts paid $250 down for Howard. The valet paid off a second trust for $1,650 and Pitts paid the remainder of the first trust, the white man is now serving a 14-year prison sentence. Howard asked that the first trust be canceled, giving him title. Justice Adkins indicated that he would do this.

M.P.'S FORCE 10 PASTORS OUT

WASHINGTON—At the midyear conference of the Methodist Protestant Church of the Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, Washington and Pennsylvania districts, which met here last month, ten ministers were dropped from the conference, as well as ten others never officially recognized by the body.

In his address, the president the Rev. E. N. D. Clarke, said that of 36 ordained ministers of the denomination, not one could read the Bible properly enough to stop the congregations and children from "frowning at their pronunciation."

President Clarke gave as reason "unprepared men posting themselves as leaders, giving and selling orders of the ministry to dissatisfied members of other churches who came in at the side door of our church."

Following are the recognized churches and pastors in good standing: St. Johns, Washington, the Rev. H. T. Dent; St. James, Washington, the Rev. C. W. Williams; St. James, Washington, the Rev. J. A. Williams; St. Paul's, Eastern Maryland, the Rev. J. H. Brooks; Trinity, Lonerville, Maryland, not equipped; St. Andrew's, Baltimore, the Rev. N. T. Bell.

Imitating Mae West Taming Lions, Girl is Critically Shot

Shot while attempting to imitate Mae West's portrayal of taming a lion, 11 year-old Eva Washington, 1827 East Eager Street, is in Johns Hopkins Hospital in a critical condition, with a bullet wound in her chest.

An investigation into the shooting of the girl by Northeastern district police revealed that she was playing in the bedroom of her mother with her cousin, Minnie Wells, 13. The children had been playing for some time, imitating Mae West's actions in "I'm No Angel," screen play.

According to the boy, the girl picked up a .22-calibre rifle which had been given him as a Christmas present. When he grabbed the rifle, the girl attempted to recover it.

As she grabbed the gun, the magazine slid back and the gun discharged a bullet that was in it. The boy told officers that he was unaware that it was loaded.

The girl was taken to the hospital where her condition is reported to be critical.

HUBBY'S MONEY GOES ON DIGITS, SAYS SUING WIFE

WASHINGTON. — Her husband, Solomon A. Reid, a tailor, 1603 U Street, northwest, plays from $2 to $3 every day on the numbers, Mrs. Addie L. Reid, 1718 U Street, northwest, tells the court in her petition for separate maintenance filed in the District Supreme Court last Tuesday.

Mrs. Reid charges her husband with cruelty, desertion and failure to provide for her. She says he is an addict of playing the numbers.

She alleges that on January 16 he ordered her from the U Street address, where he runs a tailor shop. She says she took refuge with friends, who are giving her food and shelter.

She charges that he threatened to "split open" her head. She states that he would buy food for himself and his sister, but would fail to buy anything for her. He often came home in a drunken condition, she asserts.

Reid earns about $300 a month from his business, his wife says.

The couple were married in Athens, Georgia, January 15, 1913. J. Franklin Wilson, attorney, represents Mrs. Reid.

MRS. TERRELL GETS CWA JOB

WASHINGTON.—In a statement to the AFRO this week, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Hoopes, white, director of community center work in the District, stated that Mrs. Mary Church Terrell and Dr. Amanda Grey Hilyer, prominent in civic and club life here, were appointed to CWA jobs this week.

Mrs. Terrell, who will be drama leader in the various colored schools is the widow of the late Judge Robert H. Terrell, former Municipal Court judge here. She is president emeritus of the National Association of Colored Women, and a nationally known publicist. She lives at 1615 S Street northwest.

Dr. Hilyer, who will be in charge of field work for Garnet-Patterson Community Center is a widow of the late A. F. Hilyer, former clerk in the Treasury Department. She established and ran a drug store at the corner of Twelfth and U streets, northwest, in connection with her husband, Arthur S. Gray.

Numbers Bankers Reap Harvest in Washington

By ELMER TRAVIS

WASHINGTON—"What's the figure?" is one phrase that is used more than any other phrase in the English language—in the District.

"What's the number?" school children shrill it. Some of the very best church members whisper it. And doctors, lawyers, school teachers, and their wives, friends, sons and daughters daily ask:

"What's the digits?"

"Oh, Lordy, if I had only combinated it!" wails the washer-woman.

"And when I got back it was too late—and I've been playing that number six months!" complains the housewife who had to run down downtown to do some shopping.

"Had a Dream"

"I dreamed it only last week—if I had only played it!" is heard daily in thousands of District homes.

"What is the figures?"

Bolaji question No. 1,999,999. Every school child knows what that means. Hasn't mamma told her that she had to play her Numbers—when she got asked her for milk?

Chinese have their lan-tan, and Spaniards have their lottery. But no game of chance the world has ever known has the wide-spread appeal that Numbers has.

That is a broad assertion, but it is a fact known to more than one person. A mother gives her young hopeful ten cents to buy his lunch at school. But he has been carrying a number in his mind for several days. That number was inspired by the roll of bills he saw Billy Smith with the previous week. Billy having taken a chance and hit for a pretty combination, was regarded by every kid in the school as a financial wizard. So, our young hopeful is going to show the lads that Billy Smith isn't any smarter than he is.

Spend Lunch Money

And that is how it happens that more than a thousand kids in the District of Columbia, are spending their lunch money for Numbers—those elusive figures that have a maddening way of coming out in some other combination when you play them straight.

It is said that $20,000 is the daily Number take in the District. I am of the opinion—after six months on the fringe of the racket—that $40,000 would be a better guess.

It is a paying game for the backers—and you don't have to pay a license to operate.

Roughly speaking the player has one chance to win in a thousand. Yet, so great is the dope to win that 600 to 1, not one in ten thousand players ever stops to figure how slim his chance of winning is. So the school children's pennies, the washwoman's nickels, the house-wife's dimes, the domestic's quarters, and the professional's dollars continue to roll into those bottomless coffers, daily.

Get 25 Per Cent

Every neighborhood has several characters who are known to everyone in that particular neighborhood. That man, or woman, usually has an aversion to work, at least he or she is never seen to work. And, why should that particular person work when he, or she, knows several hundred persons who religiously play from five cents to a quarter on the numbers daily?

The backers allow the writer 25 per cent of what he writes—and in the event a player on his book hits, he gets another ten per cent of the amount "hit" for. It is a very profitable business.

Negroes aren't the only ones who play the numbers. This writer made the rounds with a runner whose business was confined to ritzy apartment houses. In every instance the janitor was working for his apartment. That is, the apartment house owner gave him a small apartment in the basement—in exchange for his service as janitor. We entered the basement apartments of nine different janitors and the average "take" was $25.00 per apartment house.

The split was 15 per cent to the janitor and ten to the runner. That is why this particular runner drives the latest model Dodge.

At a certain address on Seventh Street you can play the numbers every hour in the day—if you can worm your way in.

The backer has a layout on a pool table. A large chart that contains all the numbers from "000 to 999" is has a set of red, white and blue dice—each of which has ten faces. He will give you a play for any amount from five cents to a hundred dollars. The red, white and blue dice are in a regular chuck-o-lucy case.

You lay your money on the numbers you wish to play, either straight or in combination. The backer writes the cage and if your numbers are up when the dice fall, he pays off on the spot.

HUSBAND DEPRIEST PUTS A $20,000 TAG ON HOWARD FUNDS

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The Interior Department appropriation bill before its passage by the House last Friday was amended so as to provide a reduction of $20,000 in the items for Howard University, if the Board of Trustees should carry out its plan to abolish the school of engineering at the close of the present school year.

Rep. DePriest

The amendment was offered by Representative Oscar DePriest, Republican, of Illinois to the item appropriating $405,000 for payment in full or part of salaries of officers, faculty members and employees of the university.

H.U. Has Only Engineers

In offering the amendment Mr. DePriest stated that Howard University is the only university in America of those of my group that teaches engineering. I understand from private sources that there is a movement on foot to abolish the engineering school in this university. The amendment that I have offered is to protect the engineering school. And I hope that it will be agreed to.

Representative Edward T. Taylor, Democrat, of Colorado, who had charge of the Interior Department bill while it was under consideration in the House, said he thought the amendment will be very beneficial." He accepted it on behalf of the appropriations committee, and the House agreed to it.

HALL—In loving memory of my dear mother, Annie V., who died January 24, 1931:

Though suffering, she breathed not a murmur,
For the Comforter stood by her side,
And whispered, "Fear not, I am with thee;
With Me shalt thou ever abide."

On the river a pale boatman hastened,
She heard the soft dip of his oar;
Then from earth and sorrow He bore her
Across to that beautiful shore.
