NOTICE TO REGISTRANTS AND ASSISTANTS TO THE LEGAL ADVISORY BOARD OF KENT COUNTY.

1680 men have been enrolled as subject to draft in Kent county. The first Questionnaires were sent out Sept. 18th and 68 will be sent out each day from those between 19 and 36. Questionnaires must be filled out and returned to the Local Board within seven days of their date.

All members of the Bar of the county and all citizens whose services as assistants in filling Questionnaires have been requested by the Legal Advisory Board as well as any others able and willing to assist in this work are requested to be present at the Court House, in Chestertown, on Monday, Sept. 23rd, at 9.30 a. m., and each day thereafter at the same hour until all are filled.

Without constant and prompt attendance of at least twenty competent men for this purpose, it will not be possible to complete this work within the time expected by the Government.

It is hoped that the citizens will not allow the county to be in default in meeting this expectation.

JAMES A. PEARCE,
Chairman of Legal Advisory Board for Kent County.

HOW TO AVOID BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Told by Mrs. Lynch From Own Experience.

Providence, R. I.—"I was all run down in health, was nervous, had headaches, my back ached all the time. I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backache and headaches disappeared. I gained in weight and feel fine, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is suffering as I was."—Mrs. ADELINE B. LYNCH, 100 Plain St., Providence, R. I.

Backache and nervousness are symptoms or nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment.

Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but profit by Mrs. Lynch's experience, and try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and for special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

What is the difference between an OCULIST and an OPTOMETRIST?
The Oculist treats diseased eyes and fits glasses according to the laws of optics. The Optometrist uses the same means for detecting any disease, but does not treat, but refers to the Oculist or family Physician. The Optometrist fits glasses according to the laws of optics just the same as the Oculist, but without drugs or drops.

THERE'S ONLY ONE BUSINESS TODAY

Chairman of Liberty Loan Committee Sends A Message to The People Of This Community.

WHERE'S YOUR BADGE?

Every Man, Woman and Child Should Be Wearing the Button That Stands For Loyalty to the Nation In This Time of Stress.

"The hour has struck for every man, woman and child in the State of Maryland to turn in and work for the Liberty Loan. We've made an excellent start. But what we want is an excellent finish, and such results as will do credit to the State of Maryland and to the patriotic spirit of our people cannot be achieved until the whole people of this commonwealth get busy with this business of all businesses."

This is the message that former Governor Phillips Lee Goldsborough, chairman of the Liberty Loan Committee of Maryland, sends to the people of this community.

"This is no one man's job," continues the ex-Governor. "This is no one committee's job. This is no job for any collection of committees. It is a whole people's job, and everybody's job. We have a fine organization of workers, but they will not be able to put this loan over without the active co-operation of every individual in the State.

"We've got at headquarters in Baltimore a poster, which reads:

The Fourth
LIBERTY LOAN BUTTON
is the badge of every
RED BLOODED
AMERICAN
WHERE'S YOUR BADGE?

"There's the keynote of action for every one in the State who wants something to do. Buy bonds. Go out and sell bonds. Talk bonds to every one you meet. And then see that every one has a button. Ask the man or the woman you meet, "Where's your badge?" If he or she hasn't a badge some explanation is due, and there is no earthly or heavenly explanation that can excuse any individual from supporting his Government in this critical stage of the country's history. Any explanation offered must be born of the lower regions.

"Where's your badge? Let the question ring in the ears of every one of our people. Let it ring in their ears until it burns into their hearts and opens their pocketbooks. Don't be afraid to ask the same person twice, or thrice. Don't be afraid to keep on asking until the badge of American citizenship; the badge of loyalty and devotion to our country; the badge of faithfulness to the boys who are spilling their blood overseas—until that badge is displayed by every person in your community.

"Where's your badge? Start now and keep it up until this grand old State that has never failed before shall go over the top with a spurt that will be as grand and gratifying as was the spurt with which the loan was inaugurated."

WINTER RULES.

Protect your animals from the cold. This will make them more comfortable, and will save you feed.

Stop the holes in your barn.

Board in your tie-up.

An old horse, especially, like an old man, feels the cold.

Blanket your horses on frosty nights in the fall, when their coats are short.

Give your horses and cattle a good bed. Bedding is cheap.

Water your horses at least three times a day. The stomach of the horse is very small.

Punctuality in feeding and watering the stock is very important. They will worry and lose flesh if kept waiting beyond the regular time.

A good grooming costs no money, and is equal to two quarts of oats.

A horse cannot thrive on hay alone. He needs oats or corn for strength; and grass, bran or potatoes to keep his bowels right.

Keep your horse's feet soft, and have him shod often. More feet are ruined in the stable than on the road.

Do not degrade your family by using a lame horse.

Kill the worn-out or incurably lame horse. If you sell him, the money that you receive is blood money.—Boston Work Horse Relief Association.

King Names British Premier.

The premier or prime minister of Great Britain is nominated by the reigning sovereign, to form a cabinet and organize the government. The appointment of a premier does not have to be confirmed by parliament, but no prime minister could carry on the government of the country for any length of time who did not possess the confidence of the house of commons. He selects his colleagues or other members of the cabinet, and his resignation dissolves the ministry. Members of the British house of lords hold their seats by virtue of hereditary rank and titles, some of which were conferred by sovereigns hundreds of years ago. Canada has no representative in the British parliament. It has a parliament and government of its own with a governor general, appointed by the king of Great Britain.

TWO TONS OF FREIGHT SPACE KEEP A SOLDIER IN FRANCE

One of the most important of all military necessities is transportation in all forms. Every inch of space in cars and ships has a direct military significance. Our success on the battle front from now on depends very largely upon the number of men we can put in the trenches. The number of men possible to put in the trenches depends almost entirely upon our ability to feed and maintain them after they are there.

Statisticians tell us that for every man in France we must set aside continuously for his maintenance and equipment as a fighter, shipping facilities amounting to two tons until the war is over. It is easy to translate these figures into millions, and it is apparent at a glance what this tremendous task means to the railroads.

It is the duty of every housewife to bear these facts in mind at all times. These are days when every non-essential must be cut off and every purchase made with a direct thought as to its significance on the battle front. "Am I helping or hindering the war?" must be continuously in our minds.

It should be a matter of pride to the American women to maintain their households as nearly as possible upon food purchased in the surrounding communities. This not only conserves our precious transportation facilities, but also tends to conserve food because it promotes a more complete utilization of foodstuffs produced.

Warfare today is a scientific battle. It is not being fought altogether on the Western Front but in the stores, in the kitchens, in the factories, on the farms and in the hearts of our people. Get the war consciousness. Every thing you do helps your Government or helps the enemy. Analyze your actions and see which you are doing.

Save the Fruit Crop: Do not forget that you are entitled to a sufficient amount of sugar for canning in addition to your two-pound ration per month for ordinary household use.

Every effort should be made to save the fruit by canning and preserving. Lay up a supply for next winter so that the commercial pack may be reserved entirely for our rapidly growing army in Europe.

Wind blown apples which sometimes are rather tasteless may be utilized by making apple clove jelly. The jelly is made in the usual way except that a small bag of ground cloves is put into the jelly while it is boiling. The flavor given is most delicious.

FRENCH CHEFS AND NATIVE COOKS.

The war is improving a lot of things—and not the least of these is American cooking. In many kitchens there used to be not cooks but can-openers. The Food Administration in its efforts to produce culinary economy studied the methods of famous chefs who turned out all manner of tasty dishes and earned their high salaries by the savings of food they effected. The tastiest on the menus of the nation's most celebrated hostelries, it has been discovered, were made from left-overs and odd scraps that the average housewife used to tumble into her garbage can. The methods they adopted and the recipes they used have for a twelvemonth or more been brought to the attention of the general public and as a result, if the quantity is reduced a little, yet in the quality of the food it gets the American people are beginning to live like princes—or at least such of them into whose homes the messages of the Food Administration have penetrated. Not everywhere are soups made of chickens' feet or entrees from the lung of a duck; but the standard of American cooking has risen to a point where a French chef is no longer regarded as an inimitable magician who can create banquets out of nothing. The necessity of war has made great changes and never again will wide-awake homes content themselves with meals cooked, served, or eaten with the recklessness of a lumber camp.

America must literally feed the world during the war and at the same time prepare to rebuild the world's food supplies when victory brings peace.

Red Cross wants nut shells for gas masks.

Every Allied child who is stunted for lack of proper nourishment will grow up a reproach to every American housewife who is a hoarder or a waster.

SWEET APPLE INDIAN.
(Official Recipe.)

Cook one quart of sliced sweet apples for half an hour with a very little water. Add one cupful of molasses, one tablespoonful of chopped suet, and one tablespoonful of mixed spices. Let simmer while you heat three cupfuls of milk and thicken it with one cupful of corn-meal. Combine the two mixtures, stir in three cupfuls of cold milk, and bake in a large, covered pudding-dish in a slow oven for at least four hours. The success of an Indian pudding lies in the slow, prolonged cooking. It is all the better for reheatings, more cold milk being added as needed.

SHUN THE SUGAR SNEAKS.

The other day a woman boasted that she had bought six pounds of sugar by going to each of the three stores near her home. "But if I didn't use it, someone else would," she said cheerfully.

That's just the point!

She has kept that sugar from some one who really needed it. She might as well have left it on a high wall, out of reach of the people below who struggled in vain to get it.

The person who takes more than his share from the nation's sugar bowl, is more than a slacker; he is a traitor to his countrymen.
