COMMON SENSE AND FARM PROBLEMS

The farm cooperative movement represents an effort to apply simple horse-sense to the problems of agriculture.

Everyone buys as cheaply as he can. and the small seller confronted by the big buyer is in an unhappy position. In the past, the single farmer, attempting to dispose of his products to a great distributing organization, had to take what was offered or go without a sale. The cooperative, handling the products of tens of thousands of individual producers, can bargain with the buyer on equal terms.

We live in a world in which new methods are supplanting old methods in all occupations. The cooperative hires the best farm experts it can find, and does an invaluable work in showing farmers how to produce better products at a lower cost.

Individual farmers, without collective information as to markets or price structures, will overproduce all manner of commodities—with the inevitable result, low prices. The cooperative is doing an essential work in attempting to bring production and consumption into a closer relationship.

The main reason the cooperatives are gaining new members and new support from the general public, is that practical, sensible considerations dictate their activities.

IN MEMORIAM

It was on the 3rd of April that Christ Church, I. U. Parish, lost a valued member when Philip Angier Medford Brooks passed to his reward. For a number of years he acted as vestryman, warden and registrar of the parish and when the occasion arose stepped naturally into leadership. He gave to his services as vestryman and management of the church property his unfailing loyalty and devotion and those who are left will long feel his loss.

As a man he possessed, beside quiet manners and courtesy, all those imponderables—truth, integrity, cheerful perservance and insight—which go to make up an attractipe personality. There was about him a spirit of good humor and buoyancy which made him companionable and those friends he drew around him soon began to look to him for his ready sympathy and comprehension. His love of children was noticeable characteristic. In short he was a gentleman of that fine type that country life in Maryland of perhaps a happier and more leisurely era was fond of producing.

Resolved, That a copy of this tribute be placed on record in the Parish Register and published in the county papers and that another be sent to the family as an expression of our sympathy.

I WOULDN'T RUN A FARM WITHOUT A TELEPHONE!

"My telephone saves me time, labor and money," said one farmer. "I buy, sell and get the markets over the telephone. It has been very useful in calling the veterinarian.

"There's never a day goes by that we don't use the telephone to some advantage."

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car. We like sales, but fair-dealing and the confidence of our customers are desirable too.

For one thing, we refuse to poison any one's mind against another make of car. We know what our car is and what it will do, and we are ready to tell you about that. But to imply defects in another car is not our business.

We have done our utmost to encourage intelligent buying of motor cars by showing purchasers how to protect their own interests. All that a good producer asks is a customer who knows quality when he sees it. An intelligent purchaser will speedily conclude that only a bad product requires bad sales methods.

We refuse to keep dinning in your ears that the Ford V-8 is the best, most economical, lowest priced car. That is claimed for several cars. Obviously it cannot be true of all. There comes a point where claims and adjectives and all advertising hysteria disappears in its own fog. Personally, I prefer facts.

We say the Ford V-8 is the best car we have ever made.

We say that our 8-cylinder car is as economical to operate as any lower number of cylinders.

We say that we have always been known as the makers of good cars and that the many good, well-balanced qualities of our present car place it at the head of our line to date.

Any one wishing to do business with us on these principles will find our word and the quality of our product to be A-1. What we say about economy, operation and durability will stand good anywhere.
