CHRISTMAS GREETINGS!

A Merry Christmas To All

For now we think of our friendships
And give thanks where they are due.
And hope, in the light of your favor
To go on serving you.

With best wishes for your Health, Happiness and Good Fortune during the Yuletide and through the coming year.

We hope with your support to continue rendering the same fine, unexcelled Gaddis Funerals in the future as we have in the past.

Baker Brothers Reindicted in Bank Shortage

WASHINGTON — Edward A. Baker and Clarence S. Baker, brothers, formerly cashier and head bookkeeper, respectively, of the Prudential Bank, which was merged with the Industrial Savings Bank, were re-indicted on Friday by the District grand jury on charges of embezzling $7,891.

Two indictments were returned against Edward, one accusing him of five peculations amounting to $4,641, from January 14, 1932, to February 24, 1932. The second charges him with the stealing of a Fourth Liberty Loan bond of $1000, which belonged to the National Association of Colored Women and was in the possession of the bank.

In a separate indictment, Clarence is charged with embezzling $3,250 on five different occasions between December 15, 1931, and January 28, 1932. The new indictments were sought by Leslie C. Garnett, United States attorney, because it was believed that the old indictment against the two was faulty.

Amount Raised $155?

The Baker brother had previously been indicted on charges of embezzlement, grand larceny, and destroying, mutilating and concealing Prudential Bank records in order to defraud the bank. There is no count in the indictments returned on Friday which charges the latter offense. They were charged in the old indictment of embezzling $6,336, or $1555 less than the present charge.

The brothers will probably be arraigned in the criminal division of the District Supreme Court, Friday, and an early trial is expected to follow.

Cost of Pensions for Aged May Be High in Maryland

The large number of colored families reported to be on the relief rolls of Maryland may mean that this state will have to pay an unusually high cost for old-age pensions, members of the committee for the study of legislation for such benefits announced this week.

According to Rabbi Edward L. Israel, white, who is a member of the committee, the normal number of persons at the age when the benefits will be given, which is 65 and over, is 5.7 per cent of the population in states where contributions for insurance for the aged have been made.

All of those states, Rabbi Israel says, are northern, and their colored populations are not as large as Maryland's. For this reason, a Johns Hopkins professor, Rabbi Israel asserts, feels that an entirely new set of computations, with special reference to the colored population, must be used in this state.

Civic Groups Help

With the cooperation of various civic organizations, the committee expects to determine the actual number of colored persons on relief—at or near the age of sixty.

According to plans already formulated, the bill for old-age pensions will call for the payment of one dollar a day to each person of 65 or more years, who is without visible means of support.

Wife Says Hubby Deserted Her on Day Rent Was Due

WASHINGTON.—Through Hover I. Brown, attorney, Mrs. Genevieve Mitchell, 1, 9 ½ Street, northwest, filed suit in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, Tuesday, for separate maintenance from her husband, Samuel Franklin Mitchell, an employee of the National Geographic Society.

In her bill of complaint, Mrs. Mitchell charges that her husband deserted her December 15, leaving unpaid the rent on their apartment, which was due that day. She says he has contributed nothing to her support since.

She states that her only income is about $10 a month, which she earns as the representative of a mail order house dealing in women's wear. The couple was married in Rockville, Md., February 21, 1932.

Lawyer Hands Out Sixteen Divorces

Extends to His Many Clients Whom He Has Been Privileged to Serve, a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

ATTORNEY ROY S. BOND

The coming of Christmas was quite evident in the Divorce Courts of Baltimore City this week, and reminiscences of the season of the year will linger long after the Christmas Bells have proclaimed Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. Mingled with the ringing of the Merry Christmas Bells very probably will be many Wedding Bells, and anniversaries long years after will be remembered by reason of the marriage ceremonies performed around this glad Christmas time.

Attorney Roy S. Bond again assumed the roll of Santa Claus and handed out fifteen decrees to waiting clients in the Divorce Courts of Baltimore. He also extended his work to Prince Georges County and handed out one at Upper Marlboro, and to Anne Arundel County and handed out one at Annapolis. Those receiving decrees through Attorney Bond were as follows:

Katherine Stanton, 528 Hoffman St., vs. Harlem Ave., vs. Rosie Overbey; Marie Stanley Stanton; Eddie Overbey, 1406 Nicholson, 533 N. Carey St., vs. George Nicholson; James Wright, 409 E. 23rd St., vs. Berlha Wright; Emma DeJohnso, 1505 E. Chase St., vs. Columbus DeJohnso; Mary Moore, 717 Central Ave., vs. Carroll Moore; Ethel Holland, Annapolis, Md., vs. Robert W. Holland; Florence Smith, 1537 Monument St., vs. Alexander Smith;

Ethel M. Smith, 3223 Tate St., vs. Paul Smith; Joseph Duckett, 532 Robert St., vs. Annie Duckett; Joseph Jones, 1533 Gilmor St., vs. Mary Jones; Alfred Gross, 1112 Madison Ave., vs. Nellie Gross; Leroy Foster, Upper Marlboro, Md., vs. Pearl Foster; Bertha Coleman, 2032 Bruant St., vs. Joseph Coleman; Thelma Cohiman, 604 W. Spouse Says Wife Made Fatal Leap Without Warning

COATESVILLE, Pa.—A coroner's jury exonerated Ephraim Stanton, last week, after he had been held in connection with the accidental death of his 26-year-old wife.

The wife, Margaret, died in the hospital here December 9, from a fractured skull received when she jumped or was pushed out their speeding car en route from Compass to Honey Brook Township, where they lived.

Had Quarreled

Mr. Stanton, when questioned by West Chester authorities, said that his wife and he had been arguing about his method of driving and that she jumped from the car without warning.

A further investigation proved little as there were no witnesses and Stanton was moved here for the inquest, conducted by Deputy Coroner H. C. Ford. At the inquest, Stanton maintained that his wife jumped unexpectedly.

Many character witnesses were called to testify as to Stanton's standing in the community and on the strength of their testimony he was discharged.

Mrs. Nelson Improves

PHILADELPHIA (AND)—According to an announcement from her husband, Mrs. Alice Dunbar Nelson showed a marked improvement in her illness during the past week.

She is under the care of her personal physician, Dr. Virginia Alexander, and Dr. C. Cr. Rose, heart specialist at the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Nelson believes that her present condition is cumulative and due to her intense activities.

Would-be Burglar Tries Get-Away; Dies in Fall

PHILADELPHIA — Surprised in an attempt to burglarize the home of Mrs. Susie Costello, white, of 1602 Poplar Street, a man, whose identity could not be established for several days, fell to his death, on Monday morning of last week, while trying to scale a fence in the yard.

The man became frightened when Robert Dallas, white, who occupies the second floor, switched on his light at 4 a.m. When he tried to reach the top of the barrier, he fell and struck his head on the frozen ground.

An officer was called and the suspect died four hours later without regaining consciousness.

An investigation showed that the kitchen window had been forced. A bag of burglar tools was found in the yard. The man later identified as Richard A. Chavis, 27, of 1945 North Twenty-fourth Street.

Sneak Thieves Get $300 from Doctor

WASHINGTON. — Dr. William H. Foster, 1901 Seventh Street, northwest, reported to police this week that his office had been entered and a quantity of gold fillings and scraps of gold, valued at $300 had been stolen.

Thieves, according to Dr. Foster, jimmied the door to the reception room and the door to his private office, and made attempts to jimmy the lock on the cabinet in his office, he said.

Last month the dentist was held up at his office by two men who described themselves as patients seeking relief for a supposedly decayed tooth. When Dr. Foster led them to the dental chair, the men flashed guns in his face and robbed him of a ring valued at $180, another ring valued at $90, and a $25 watch, and cash amounting to $150.

Fourth District Wields Influence in Nice New Deal

Election of New Dealer Harry W. Nice, Republican, as governor of Maryland gives the Fourth Legislative District a prominence in politics it has not had for years.

A great deal of this is due to the fact that the Fourth District is the only Republican area in the city and Melvin Fine is Baltimore's only Republican in the state senate.

To be sure, Mr. Fine won out only by a small majority, but in every other Baltimore City legislative district Democrats predominate overwhelmingly.

Last year's gerrymander added more Democratic votes to the Republican Fourth District, but last November's election shows that the number was sufficient only to win the seats in the lower house.

If Republican strategy can regerrymander this district so that it will take in a larger part of the colored voters in Northwest Baltimore, the Fourth District may be changed back into the GOP fold completely.

Governor's Chief Aide

Another reason for the influence of this district in the coming administration is the fact that Harry D. Levin, former Fourth District state senator, is the governor-elect's No. 1 adviser.

It would not be surprising to see Mr. Levin in a post close to the state capital during the next four years.

Coming further down the line in the district, Marse Callaway is chief aide of Mr. Levin, which makes him the Fourth District's No. 1 politician. The combination of Levin and Callaway won victories in the Fourth District so long, that, putting over a big Nice victory in the last election surprised no one.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

I WISH sincerely that your heart will be joyful this Christmas Day and for the days that follow. May the year ahead be prosperous and happy, with success in all your ventures. I thank you for the good will and friendliness that is shown by your continued patronage.

Memories and Song to Cheer Vets' Holiday

The spirit of pre-Armistice Christmas will be revived at the Elks' Hall, McMechen Street and Madison Avenue, Wednesday, December 26, when local war veterans hold a "Memory Night."

One of the highlights of the evening will be a contest of previously during which tall stories, calculated to turn Baron Munchausen green with envy, will be told by former gun-toters.

Yets to Sing

Potato salad, beverages, hot dogs, and sandwiches will be served, and as the pleasures of the night grow less loud the veterans will sing songs of war days. Special attention will be given to "Sweet Adeline," according to Linwood G. Koger, commander of the Walter Green Post.

Short speeches will be given by Ben Wolfson and M. Bonadio, white veterans. The latter is connected with the Federal Reemployment Bureau.

No admission will be charged and veterans will be required to show only their discharge papers or membership cards: of a legion post.

Howard University to Be Scene of Sigma Conclave

WASHINGTON. — According to an announcement by Jesse W. Lewis, chairman of the local committee on arrangements, the sessions of the National Conclave of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity will be held at Howard University. The business sessions will be held in the Lounge Room of Sojourner Truth Hall on Friday and Saturday, December 28 and 29.

On Friday evening the Sigmas will be entertained by Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, along with the Phi Delta Kappa Sorority, which is also holding its convention in Washington, at a dance at the Lincoln Colonnade.

The Inter-Fraternal Smoker, which is an outstanding feature of the meet will be held on Saturday evening, December 29 in the main dining room of the Whitelaw Hotel. All fraternities will participate in this round-table discussion.

Among the speakers who will appear on the program are:

Dr. Charles H. Wesley, general president of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity and Prof. W. L. Hansberry, representing Alpha Phi Alpha; Dr. Montague Cobb and Prof. Sterling Brown, representing Omega Psi Phi; Dr. Charles B. Fisher, representing Chi Delta Mu; Kappa Alpha Psi will be represented by speakers yet to be designated.

On Sunday at 12 noon a sight-seeing tour of the city will be held for the visiting delegates.

At 4 p.m., at Andrew Rankin Chapel at Howard University, the public meeting will be held, at which time Congressman-elect Arthur W. Mitchell will speak, along with other leaders. Immediately following the public meeting the Sigmas will be entertained by the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority.

The reception and dawn dance in honor of the visiting delegates, which will close the conclave activities, will be held at the Masonic Ballroom at 12:01 Monday morning. This affair is expected to be one of the most outstanding of the current social season.

Hampton Men in D.C. Hold Smoker

WASHINGTON—A group of Hampton men of Washington and vicinity held a smoker at the home of C. R. Williford on December 14, at which time addresses were made by C. H. Williams, director of physical education, and Gideon Smith, football coach, Hampton Institute.

Report of the progress being made at Hampton were given by Mr. Williams, and Mr. Smith assured the group that football prospects for another year are most satisfying, and urged Hamptonians to prepare to be with the team at the Pole Grounds in New York for the Thanksgiving game next year, Wesley D. Elam, president of the Washington alumni unit, was toastmaster.

The regular monthly meeting of the unit was held at the Y.W.C.A. Sunday. E. P. Lovett, a graduate addressed the group, urging a serious consideration of present-day social problems on the part of Hamptonians.

The unit is planning its third Founder's Day program to be held the last Sunday in January at the Lincoln Congregational Temple. The next monthly meeting will be held at the Y.W.C.A. on the third Sunday of January, at 5 p.m.
