Aggies Dedicate New Court with Two Wins, Loss

GREENSBORO, N.C. — A new gymnasium was opened at the A. and T. College Wednesday of last week, which the court team proceeded to dedicate by winning from St. Paul and Virginia State and losing to Hampton in thrilling encounters.

St. Paul had the rather dubious honor of being the first game on the court when the home team, before a host of spectators who were regaled with music by the school band between times, struck out and landed a 43-23 victory.

Va. State was the second victim to fall before the dynamic Aggie quint which the Trojans turned in the most exciting contest of the week on Friday.

The score was knotted frequently during the fray, the Aggies leading 16-13 at the half. State, through the efforts of Haley and Mitchell, gained a slight advantage which was promptly wiped out by Coon Biddick, who put the Aggies out in front to win 31-25.

Pirates Break Streak

Hampton Institute's Pirates stole the Aggies' thunder, however, in the Saturday match with a 26-23 nose-out for the laurels.

The home team led for the greater part of the game but in the second half the Pirates began to open up, and with Piper showing the way, soon had a lead that the Aggies couldn't cut.

Trojans Trampled by Strong Bison Quintet, 36-28

PETERSBURG, Va. — A rally after trailing, 20-15, in the first half enabled the Virginia University five on top, 36-28, in a thrilling encounter with the Virginia State cagers, here Friday.

Wee Willie Wynne, captain and forward of the Bisons, was the outstanding figure in the comeback, registering eight double-deckers and a throw from the foul column. Brown, Williams and Hampton also contributed heavily to the cause.

Tatum, State ace, was also well up with the scorers, registering 12 points to tie with Wynne.

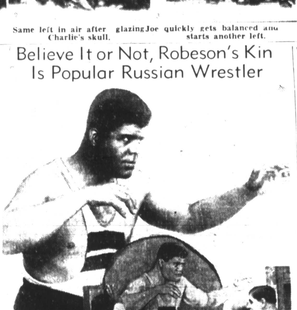
Believe It or Not, Robeson's Kin Is Popular Russian Wrestler



Believe It or Not!
Frank Goode, brother in-law of Paul Robeson, is the Joe Louis of Russian gymnasts.

Poster in Moscow shows how Goode is billed. But the American is not a "pro." Russian wrestling is pure amateur sport and the wrestler must know how to box and do gym stunts too.

MOSCOW, U.S.S.R.—After an extended tour which has taken him thousands of miles through the Soviet Union with a group of Soviet gymnasts, the "Joe Louis" of the Soviet mat, Frank Goode, brother-in-law of Paul Robeson, has arrived in Moscow for a short vacation with his brother, John Goode, who is employed in the Moscow autobus transport system.

Goode remarked that everywhere he had been received with absolute and real welcome and comradeship by men, women and children. "Soviet wrestling," said Goode, "is not a commercial proposition, but is regarded as a form of physical culture. It is beneficial to the masses in a genuine cultural way and is diverted from all commercial viciousness and gambling.

In addition to wrestling, Goode also is often called upon to give a series of exhibitions in various towns, where he is welcomed by members of his group, he also gives exhibitions with the referee and organizer of the group of gymnasts, Feodor Plashick, former champion of the Soviet Union.

A government decree in 1930 declared physical culture training to be a matter of State importance. And since that time the number of Soviet athletes has grown from approximately one million to 8.5 millions in August, 1933.

Way to Beat Joe Discovered; Match Him in "Battle Royal"

(Saiff Correspondence)

CHICAGO STADIUM, — The search for a white hope to put an end to Joe Louis has come to the end of the trail. Boxing promoters have agreed upon the novel as the central character, and with Primo Carnera, Max Baer, Max Schmeling and James J. Braddock as the other participants.

In actual elapsed fighting time, all of the Brown Embalmer's ring foes haven't lasted fifteen rounds against him — the limit set for most fistic engagements.

Carnera, largest of the crop of human targets, lasted incidentally, the longest time — six rounds. Baer and Paolino Uzcudun each lasted four, and the vociferous Kingfish Levinsky, lately lamented, was halted in the initial session.

Raw-boned Charley Retzlaff, the Dakota farmer boy, fell victim to the quickest knockout on the Louis record books. Put them all together and they'd make not only a long horizontal line, but jointly they wouldn't even make for take up the scheduled fighting time of one of his bouts.

Since Joe has whipped them all singly in less than fifteen stanzas it seems only logical, then, that they should be thrown together in the ring with him at one time.

Louis Could Beat Corbett; Jeffries

CHICAGO, Ill.—William A. Brady, white theatrical producer and former manager of Gentleman Jim Corbet and Jim Jeffries both former champions, said that Louis could have beaten Corbett last night and have had trouble with Jeffries.

"Louis is the greatest fighter of the age. He can beat anyone that's known today. Corbett didn't have a punch that would faze him but against Jeffries will, that would be a real scrap. Jeffries would really give Louis an argument," Brady opined.

Important Business for Joe Louis Turns Out to Be a Party in His Honor

CHICAGO STADIUM.—For the end of the semi-final bout between Tiger Al Lewis and Chief Parris, Indian welterweight, who followed the Louis-Retzlaff obsequies, Joe Louis had had his shower and rub-down, dressed completely and was ready for the street.

That's how fast the Brown Bomber is outside of the ring—that is, when he has important business pending.

The "important business" Friday night happened to be attending a party in his honor given at the Twentieth Century Club.

Marva was already there when Joe arrived and they remained until almost 4 a.m. Louis, who likes to dance, had an opportunity to do some of his fancy rug-cutting.

Spying Joe sipping a light-colored fluid from a tall-stemmed glass, one of the celebrants, feeling unusually jubilant as a result of Joe's victory (and a lengthy stay at the cocktail bar), asked whether or not Joe was imbibing champagne.

"It's only ginger ale," a friend replied. "That's the strongest thing he ever drinks."

JOHN HENRY LEWIS

At almost the same time that Joe Louis was rocking Charley Retzlaff to sleep in a Chicago ring, John Henry Lewis, world's light-heavyweight champion, shown above, was knocking out Al Stillman, white, at the St. Louis Municipal Auditorium, Friday night. Stillman, shown on his feet in the third, was unable to answer the bell for the fourth round.

Douglass Owls Top Inter Nos

BALTIMORE—Obtaining a one point margin during a five minute period in the second half, the Douglass High School Owls defeated the Inter Nos cagers 30-29, at the Douglass High School, Thursday, the race dropped a 32-29 decision to the Inter Nos quintet.

The teams, at the close of the regular periods, were tied at 25-25 and the Inter Nos Five had to check, but could do only a period with a 14-9 margin. The newcomers proved to be also marksmen and after the first half matched the Owls, point for point.

Chick Edwards and Sams led the Owls with eleven points each. Johnny Edwards, playing his first game of the season, was a constant and serious threat.

Evon and Isaac led the Saxons with four each, coming with seven each, while Bover and Cissel were consistent in breaking up Commanderet plays.

Saxons Bow to Commandeurs

PHILADELPHIA The Commandeurs extended their Sesquicentennial Cup winning streak when the Saxons, a new team in the Douglass High School, Thursday, the race, dropped a 32-29 decision here. Friday.

The Saxons had a tough time of it, finding the Saxon offense hard to check, but could do only a period with a 14-9 margin. The newcomers proved to be also marksmen and after the first half matched the Cons, point for point.

Atkins High Trounces Charlotte; Teachers Off

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.—Atkins High, runners-up for the Western NC title, trounced Second Ward cagers, of Charlotte, here Friday night, 41-14.

Shaw Topped by Slow State, St. Paul

RALEIGH, N.C.—Shaw University's cagers lost a heart-breaker here Thursday night, when the Virginia Staters caged out the Shaw quintet, 36-35.

Shaw cut down to two points early in the second half and led the Statesmen only to have Tatum drop a shot from the corner as the game ended.

St Paul won in a walk, handing the locals the worst defeat of the season, 53-33 in the game here on Saturday.

The Virginians took advantage of their superior height to capture the ball when it rebounded from the backboard and easily defeated the Shaw team, who seemed to have lost all co-ordination.

Wayne Five Tops Downingtown, but Schoolgirls Win

DOWNINGTOWN, Pa. — The Downes split a bill with the Wayne Hawks and lassies Friday of last week, when the Hawks smacked the boys, 39-21, and the girls whipped the Wayne lassies, 28-4.

The stars of the girls' quintets were Mattie Trice and Mear Labour, of Downingtown, while Ruth Wright scored most of the goals for the Wayne girls.

Downingtown boys, after showing improvement in the Berean and Ranger games, showed a complete reversal of form. Wayne free led the Hawks with 17 points.

St. Aug. Wins in Last Second

RALEIGH, N.C. — A thrilling last-second basket, flipped by Fish Johnson, gave St. Augustine a 24-22 victory over St. Paul for the third straight win in the CIAA here last Friday.

St. Paul trailed 15-19, at the end of the first half but Allen started sharpshooting and the score was tied early in the second half. Neither team could get completely out off.

With a few seconds left to play the score was 22-22 and Johnson made his sensational shot.

Lewis Kayoes Stillman; His Purse Smaller

E-L-A-S-H.

ST. LOUIS—Al Stillman, who met John Henry Lewis, Phoenix, light-heavyweight champion. Friday was taken to the Missouri Baptist hospital as indications of appendicitis were revealed as a result of the terrific body-punishment meted out by Lewis.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 17.—In his second fight here, a non-title contest, John Henry Lewis, Pittsburgh ruler of the light-heavyweight ranks, is still taking the short ends of the purse when it was revealed that Al Stillman, white, his local opponent, received $1488, while the champ took $1482 as his share of the gate, Friday night.

Stillman was floored for the count of nine early in the opening round when Lewis bounced a right off his jaw halfway through the ropes. In the second stanza he went down but failed to take that carried the white boy a count.

Lewis, who meantime had suffered one cut, two hard ones and been working steadily on the Stillman frame, ended it in the third got after a couple of hard blows to the mid-section that brought the St. Louisan to his knees with a grimace of pain.

Stillman Unable to Answer Bell

The round ended as the referee reached the count of four and the Stillman second dragged their man to his corner and worked frantically but to no avail.

Complaining of a pain in his middle, the Missouri lad was conveyed to the hospital where doctors found a fracture.

Lewis's ability was conceded by all as he was concerned everything was okay by him as far as Lewis's ability was connected.

Brother's Sparring Victor

Otis Thomas, Chicago, one of the Brown Bomber's sparring mates, was given the decision over Dutch Weimer, white, in the fifth round. Weimer, who was so badly cut that the referee had tried to stop the fight earlier, was cut to shreds by the Chicagoan before he was saved, against his own wishes perhaps, by the officials.

Two More Fight

Allen Matthews, St. Louis, took a ten round decision from Clarence Reeves, white, who fights under the auspices of the Alabama Kid.

The only sepia knuckle duster who failed to come through was Freddie Wilson. Allentown, Pa., who made Johnny Miles go the limit to stop the division after Wilson had floored him for out in the opening round.

Douglass Niters Sock Washington Red Caps, 38-30

A last half rally, after trailing by a single point in the first period, gave the Douglass Evening High five a win over the Washington Red Caps, 38-30, at the Douglass gym, Thursday night.

The game started off rather slowly, each team apparently trying to draw out a bit before starting hostilities. Douglassbroke the ice when Pegues converted from the 15-foot line. M. Robinson tied with another pair of nearly goals. The quarter ended 2-6 6-6.

Tabbs, Red Cap center, added a few in the next frame to bring the Caps up to 13-13 as the half drew near its end, but Smith and Watkins added a goal apiece in the last minute, and the score stood, 17-16.

Another Deadlock

Another tie was reached at the end of the third period when the count was knotted at 23.

The Niters stepped out then and for five minutes the Caps were unable to touch the ball. At last, with two minutes left, Smith sank a free throw to bring the count to 34-23. N. Robinson got busy and sank a few to bring the count to 38-30 as the game ended.

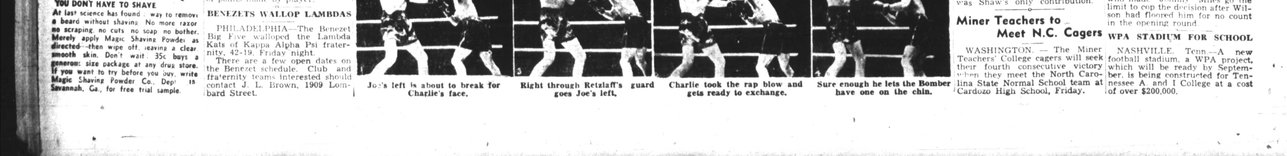
Camera Catches Two Blows Which Retzlaff Landed



Please notice that the fellow in the center of the ring has a left goal tender. A blow received for the foul goal total and the third in a series of offenses committed, NOT the total number of points made by player.

Charlie took the rap blow and gets ready to exchange.

Sure enough he lets the Bomber have one on the chin.

DOUGLASS BLASTS COPPIN

Did Retzlaff Call Joe a Dirty Name?

CHICAGO—A rumor that went in on the West Side and went 'round and 'round the town, and finally came out here—on the South Side, late Saturday—was to the effect that Charley Retzlaff made the fatal mistake of calling Joe Louis a "dirty name" when he came out of his corner after the opening gong.

"You black so-and-so," the farmer boy was quoted as saying, "come out and get it."

While verification of the report was lacking, Sunday, ringside observers were quick to note and comment upon the fact that Joe's bombardment of Retzlaff against the corner ropes after the North Dakotan got up from a count of eight, was the most vicious they had witnessed in any of the Brown Bomber's major engagements.

According to the story, Blackburn, as soon as Joe came to his corner, proceeded to upbraid him.

"What's the idea, Chubby, of taking such foolish chances of wading into a swinger like Retzlaff?" he is said to have thundered.

"How'd you know he wasn't trying to feint you into position so that he could smash you? All the science I taught you, you threw away gamblin' with him."

"But, Chappy, you don't understand," Joe is said to have replied. "Charley called me a dirty name, and you know I couldn't stand for that. I just had to cut loose with everything I had."

"That's different then," the story has Blackburn saying. "Why didn't you tell me that at first?"

While the foregoing yarn may be taken for what it's worth, it is known that one of Blackburn's chief problems and duties is to find something about which to make Joe mad just before every fight.

The physiological reaction on the Bomber is said to be remarkable.

D.C. YMCA Boxers Tie Local Team in Annual Match

In the second annual inter-city matches, the boxers representing the Twelfth Street Branch of Washington tied with the Druid Hill Avenue sluggers at the latter's gym, Tuesday.

The local team gained an early lead when it copped the first three matches by knockouts. The visitors mixed science with slugging to grab the closing bouts.

Seaborne Wins by K.O.

In the opening bout, E. Seaborne, 130 pounds, of Baltimore, knocked out Harold Barkley, 130 pounds, of Washington, in the first round. S. Daniels, 142 pounds, of Baltimore, knocked out C. Thomas, 140 of Washington, with a right to the jaw after thirty-seven seconds of the first round.

Ernest Howard, 109 pounds, of Baltimore, knocked out Ernest Westwood, 111 pounds, of Washington, in the second round. M. May, 147 pounds, of Washington, after jabbing for three rounds, was given the decision over B. Prout, 143 pounds, of Baltimore.

Ingram Stars Early

R. Rogers, 150 pounds, of Baltimore, dropped a close decision to Z. Ingram, 153 pounds of Washington, after three rounds of too close to be exciting. Samuel Harris, 165 pounds of Washington, won the judges' decision over Peter Newberry, 166 pounds, of Baltimore.

In the midget exhibition match, Frank Cooper, 82 pounds, was awarded the decision over Harold Heath, 75 pounds, on a foul in the third round, during a clinch. Heath bit his opponent on the left ear.

Exhibitions Given

Robert Lockett, 175 pounds, knocked out Jesse Wilson, 155 pounds, of Baltimore, in the second round of their exhibition. Robert Ware, 137 pounds, won a decision over Randolph Elzey, 121 pounds in an exhibition.

Mondell Crump and J. Walker gave an exhibition wrestling match for ten minutes. At the close, the match was declared a draw by Bill Matthews who was referee for the bouts.

Ducks Swamp Coppin with 53-35 Score

BALTIMORE— Douglass High School's high scoring machine proved too power ful for the Coppin Normal the five as the teachers were snowed under an avalanche of baskets 53-35, at the Douglass gym Wednesday.

The game, although fast throughout, was marred with periods of rough play when it reminded the frenzied spectators of a football game and evoked cries of "we want a touchdown" and others of the same quality to be hurled from the balcony.

Strawman, with twelve points, led the Ducks on the score sheet, with Greene and Lawson trailing closely with nine each. Pitts and White, both ex-Douglass performers led the Coppin offensive White racked up twelve points to tie with Strawman for top scoring honors and Pitts totaled ten

Ducks Start Reserves

Greene scored the first points as Coach Gibson started the second string men in the struggle In the first minute he scored two double-deckers and a free throw for five points while the Coppinmen were still getting adjusted.

White counted from the foul line when the count reached 4 and, as the quarter ended, Coppin trailed 11-3.

Regulars Enter

The Douglass first team entered the fray at the beginning of the second frame and, after a few minutes ran the count up to 27-10, when the reserves were substituted. The half ended with Douglass out in front 31-14 after Coppin had made a determined spurt.

Pitts and White started a scoring spree in the second half that was short-lived as the Douglass machine again carried the brunt of the battle

Passes that shot like bullets were whipped up and down the court time after time, shots, that looked like sure counters, were blocked. The quarter ended with Coppin only nine points behind, 38-29.

Furious Battle at End

With five minutes left to play the Duck first-stringers came back into the melee and turned on the heat. Passes zipped, shots started the strings and the score mounted steadily.

Pitts was retired via the four-foul route; White did his best to carry on but the pace was too fast, the final count, Douglass 52, Coppin 35.

Douglass scored 25 baskets from the floor, 3 from the foul line, 3 free throw line while the Coppinites made 11 from the floor and five charity baskets.
