300 Attend 25th Anniversary of Frank Snowden

BOSTON — Their twenty-fifth anniversary reception was given by Major and Mrs. Frank E. Snowden of 86 Harold Street, Roxbury, on December 30.

In the reception hall as guests entered was a large silver bell, said in the dining-room the chandelier was decorated with silver flowers, from which was suspended a large ring, in the center of which was in silver the number "25."

The guests, numbering about three hundred, began to assemble at 9 p.m., and were entertained by musical selections until the party began its march from the third floor to the tune of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Dolan S. Yates, organist and choir master of St. Mark's Congregational Church. The wedding party, which was led by two ushers, Lt. Henry Sandridge and Lt. Emerson Pierce, consisted of the following in the order named:

Mrs. Carrie Phillips McNorton of Yorktown, N.J., and O. Phillip Snowden; Miss Elaine Hill of Cheyney, Pa., daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Pinckney Hill, president of Cheyney Teachers' College; and Frank M. Snowden, Jr., of Virginia State College, Petersburg, Va., followed by Major and Mrs. Frank M. Snowden.

On entering the living room, they were joined by the Rev. James Mitchell of Saint Boniface's Episcopal Church, who performed a brief ceremony and offered a prayer for the future well-being of Major and Mrs. Snowden.

The party proceeded to the dining-room, this time to the music of Mendelssohn's wedding song, played by Mr. Yates. The formal ceremony was closed with a prayer by the Rev. S. L. Lavisount, of Saint Mark's Congregational Church, Roxbury.

Wine accompanied the wedding, musical selections were given by Mrs. Alfred P. Russell, Jr., soprano, and Irving Hardon, baritone; and a reading by Miss Josephine Washington. The head usher was Edward W. Dixon, who was assisted by Lieutenant Henry Sandridge, and by Krieger, and Emerson Pierce, Mrs. Jonathan Edwards, George P. Monroe, and Dwight Morris. Mrs. Oliver G. Mayo and Mrs. J. H. Brooks presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Bunnie L. Wilkins was the hostess for the reception, assisted by Mrs. Mae Pierce, Mrs. Thomas Rose, Mrs. Lawrence Washington, Mrs. Ethel Bailey, Mrs. Georgiana Bell, Mrs. Julia Dixon, Mrs. Georgiana Bell, and Miss Gertrude Bailey had charge of the registration of guests; and Mrs. Catherine Averett, Mrs. Helen B. Yates, and Mrs. Minnie E. Jones had charge of the gifts.

Conspicuous among the many lovely presents was a silver tea set, presented by about 40 of Major Snowden's office staff, headed by the quartermaster Corps, Fort Jay, who were present. A number of telegrams and cards were received from those who were unable to attend.

Beginning at midnight, those remaining enjoyed an informal dance party given in honor of Frank Snowden, Jr., and Miss Elaine Hill.
