Miss Catherine Johnson Is Bride of James Franklin Lee

Delicate ferns and stately palms turned the chancel of Mt. Olive into a lovely setting for the marriage ceremony uniting James Franklin Lee and Miss Catherine Johnson, last week.

While guests were assembling, W. Howard played the bridal chorus and before the ceremony was performed Miss Beatrice Gwynn sang "O Promise Me."

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Edward Johnson, wore white lace over satin, with long veil, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses.

Her attendants included:

Mrs. Bessie Goins, an aunt, who wore rust-colored velvet with slippers and hat to match and carried fall flowers; Mrs. Ellen Coston, green velvet with matching accessories; Miss Alva Ballard, plum velvet; Miss Margaret Sembly, green velvet, all with hats and slippers matching and bouquets of fall flowers.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Florence Mathews, wore a frock of brown sequins and carried chrysanthemums, while Miss Ruth Johnson, sister of the bride, and her maid of honor, wore raspberry lace over satin and accessories and carried chrysanthemums. Ann Fields and Mary Effie Anderson were flower girls, and Amos Fields, ring-bearer.

Mr. Lee was attended by Samuel Williams.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. N. H. Toyer.

Serving as ushers were Goldy Goins, Clifton Austin, West Hall, Samuel Matthews, Armstead Powell, Louis Frazier and Maxwell Beard.

A reception, given by the mother of the bride, Mrs. Maggie Young, was attended by two hundred guests. Mrs. Young wore black satin with a jacket of sequins.

Gadabout-ing in Baltimore

With LULA JONES GARRETT

AWAKE BE TIMES to stare with pensive eye at the blank facets of sky and to wonder if there is a bit of snow in the air with which to rhyme our jingling bells, without which I'm feeling I'll lose my Christmas spirit. Let everybody trust hope for the merriest of Christmases and peace through all the New Year.

We recently wed Dr. and Mrs. Louis Harmon were feted at a grand cocktail party at the Tuxedo Club, Saturday evening, which Mrs. G. T. Hill and Miss Gertrude Jones in the role of hostesses.

Later in the evening the guests meandered to the Comedy Club, where they continued the celebration.

With weddings completely monopolizing the Christmas gayety calendar, one naturally turns to the building of brides. But, this week Miss Erma George, daughter of Mr. George Bailey, left to become the bride of Theodore Chaubiney. Christmas evening, at six o'clock, at her parents' home.

Wearing white satin with a veil of illusion, she will carry a shower bouquet of bridal roses and will be given away by her cousin, J. Morris Butler. Her only attendant will be Miss Wahseeda Male, who will wear pale green satin, with gown in the Grecian manner, who will carry an arm bouquet of pink roses. Small Jean Ann James, in abbreviated pink frock, and with a basket of blossoms, will make a picture flower girl.

Thomas Warrington will attend the bridegroom.

While the guests are assembling, Mrs. Margaret Jones will preside at the piano and Miss Georgia Lawrence will sing the nuptial hymn.

The couple will leave on a wedding trip following the reception, at which Mrs. Butler will head the receiving line, wearing black lace with marigold transparent velvet flower trim, and a corsage of the following guests have been invited:

Messrs. and Mesdames William Paul, Walter Burton, Egbert Aumble, Clarence Roy, Harry Smith, Edward Edmond, Dorsie Hampton, John Hill, Maurice Butler, Harley Wilson, James Barrett, P. E. Brisson and daughter, Elizabeth, of Washington; Dr. and Mrs. Edward Harris;
