

LOCAL NOTES

On July 6th Officer G. H. McCauley with some other boys at Belair, Md., filled two toy balloons with gas and tied them together, tied a note on them and let them loose in the air. They went straight up in the air and headed across the bay toward Kent county. A few days ago he received a note from Charles B. Campbell, the finder, stating that he found the note July 8th 1 1/2 miles east of Millington on a farm owned by Mrs. E. Cochran.

Farmers report that numbers of pheasant hens have been found on their eggs longer than usual, indicating that the propagation of this valuable bird is not as successful in this county as was hoped for.

William Cavender, of Earleville, reports to the county authorities that thieves entered his premises during the past few days and carried off his flock of spring chickens.

Capt. Spencer Urie, of Rock Hill, took a party of Baltimore guests to the Pool's Island fishing grounds and in three hours they caught by means of trolling with artificial bait 13 rock weighing from 7 to 17 pounds each.

Miss Ruth Cann, representative of the Swarthmore Chautauqua Association will be in Chestertown on Friday, August 11 to meet Chestertown guarantors. The meeting will take place at Kent County Savings Bank at 8 p. m. All guarantors are urged to be present.

Some extra good wheat yields are reported. Merrick Clements on a 40-acre field averaged 31 bushels per acre and on another 160 acres of land he averaged 24 bushels per acre. Julian Jones, near Chestertown, got about 3800 bushels from 130 acres.

John Anderson, district deputy game warden, is having a consignment of pheasants liberated in various parts of Cecil county.

Owing to a protest made by depositors of the Second National Bank of Elkton, now in the hands of a receiver, of the sale of Charles E. Warburton's home property to J. Wesley McAllister, for $8,000, which was made at private sale during the past week, the sale has been recalled and the property will now be put up at public auction. The wrecked bank holds numerous notes of Mr. Warburton, which the proceeds of this sale will not liquidate.

Miss Gussie Lee, of Chestertown, has a geranium four feet tall and has 57 blooms on it.

Excursionists on the B. S. Ford greatly admire the flowers in Court House yard which James P. Parrott, the superintendent, has so faithfully cared for.

Mrs. C. J. Reichle has a curiosity in the shape of a yellow and red cana growing on same stalk, the bloom being equally divided between the two colors.

John D. Urie, Esq., has rented his Norris farm at Lynch to Neal Wilson, of near Rock Hill.

It is said that retail coal dealers of New York City are predicting coal will be held at high rates during the coming fall and winter—even as high as $25 per ton—as a result of the coal miners' strike. Surely, some means may be adopted to avert such a calamity as coal at any such excessive figures would be. Yet if present conditions in the industry grow worse, instead of better, they will be threatened.

There were few who were able to get automobile chauffeur licenses on Thursday. Several were very nervous while others failed to answer the questions.

Lois Rust while driving down Washington avenue early Sunday morning, lost control of his car, and crashed into the fence in front of the home of Thomas W. Eliason, breaking down several panels. Upon emerging therefrom the steering gear must have been injured because the car ran into Mr. Eliason's fence and broke off ten panels. Mr. Rust said it was purely an accident and asked that the bill for repairing fences be sent to him.

Maryland has a law on its books requiring a report to the Department of Health of the birth of every child. The League of Women Voters, under its Child Welfare Department, has been asked to assist in having 1,000 mothers ask for the registration of their children under five years of age. This in preparation for the Child Hygiene Bureau, which opens this fall, under Dr. J. H. Mason Knox. The Child Hygiene bill was passed at the last legislature, following the Federal passage of the Sheppard-Towner bill. Kent County was fortunate in having its representatives endorse the Hygiene bill. The League is an organization of women who wish to make their votes count for the public good and its slogan is "Every woman an intelligent voter"—is non-partisan and stands for Education, Registration, Legislation.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

BASE BALL NOTES

In one of the most interesting ball games staged on Washington Field this season Easton on Tuesday trounced Chestertown, the score being 5 to 3. Chestertown had the Talbot County League, the score being 5 to 3 to 1 to the ninth, when the Easton batsmen got on the Blackway's shoots and pounded out four hits in a row, scoring four runs. In the home line-up was: Nickerson, 2b; Hill, rf; Perry, 3b; Linwood, cf; Bartley, ss; Armstrong, lf; Ford, 1b; Robinson, c; Blackway, p.

In a loosely played game before a large crowd Chestertown took Oxford into camp Saturday the final count being 13 to 9. Wilson, who started to do mound duty for Chestertown, was, instead, Oxford scoring three runs in the first period. Chestertown, however, solved Sullivan's slants and before being retired had succeeded in sending seven men across the pan. Kennedy, who relieved Wilson, after one man was down in the second stanza, kept the Crabbers' hits well scattered, they being able to score but three runs in the fourth and one in the eighth, Chestertown added two counters in the fourth and four more in the seventh, sewing up the contest.

Centreville and Chestertown locked horns Thursday in their third set in the Tri-County League race. The game was one of the snappiest of the season requiring, but one hour and 20 minutes for the 8-1-3 innings played. At the beginning of the ninth stanza, with the score standing 5 to 3 in Chestertown's favor, Centreville succeeded in finding Robinson for a couple of hits and an error, scoring one man when, with one man down and runners perched on first and third, a foul fly was hit. It was so announced by the umpire. Centreville's players took exception to the decision and refused to finish the contest, leaving the field.

The umpire then gave the game to Chestertown, 9 to 0. When men learn to recognize authority of judges in all affairs of sport, government, etc., then will affairs move in regular order.

Middletown, hitting hard throughout, easily defeated Massey, Saturday at Middletown, by the score of 6 to 1. The hitting of Sharpe, Walker, Gibbs and Nutter were the features of the game.

Daily weather reports may be read at Rote's Jewelry Store. He receives them direct from the Bureau at Washington.

Kent County will send 40 boys and girls to "Club Week" meeting next week at University of Maryland.
