Convicted of manslaughter in the fatal stabbing of his playmate, Edward Trogden, 15, of 1409 Barnes Street, on November 13, Walter Parker, 17, of 1047 N. Durham Street, was sentenced, Wednesday to two years in the house of correction.

Witnesses testified that Parker approached the other youth, in a store at Eden and Barnes Street, saying he had something to tell him, and at the same time threw an open pen knife which stuck in the side of Trogden's abdomen.

The injured boy went home and was taken to the Johns Hopkins Hospital where a physician is reported to have said his wound was not serious.

When the boy later developed a fever, he was returned to the hospital by his parents and found to be suffering with a puncture in his intestines. He died three days later as a result of peritonitis.

At the trial it was pointed out that no motive had been established for the stabbing. Parker stated that he was playing and did not know that the weapon would strike his friend.

Testifying that he was forced to leave their home because his wife was constantly intoxicated and wanted to run a bawdy house, Thomas Scott, of 1919 McDonough Street, was granted an absolute divorce from Mrs. Fannie Scott of Philadelphia.

Appearing before a special examiner, Scott stated that he was married on October 8, 1928, and was forced to leave eight months later, July 19, 1930. Mrs. Massie Marron of 33 S. Caroline Street, corroborated his statements.

Slasher Fined $10 After Second Try

Once upon a time, Charles Perry, 36, of 1641 E. Fayette Street, wielded a knife on Miss Laura Corbin, 236 S. Dallas Street and got away with it.

Friday evening he tried the same stunt, she testified, and this time it cost him two fines of $5 and costs, each.

Miss Corbin said she was sitting in the tavern operated by Albert Rosen, 1536 E. Pratt Street when Perry slashed her on the arm and ran. But she took out after him and a police officer, joining the chase, arrested him after a lively sprint.

Killer to Face Grand Jury

Officers who testified at the inquisition stated that the viciousness of Carver's attack was indicated by the many wounds on Hughes's body. Witnesses stated that a dispute that arouse over Miss Mabel Williams.

Hughes was fatally injured during a fight with Carver after the latter berated him for allegedly smacking Miss Williams, who was ill in the Low Street house.

Hughes is said to have attacked Carver when the older man ordered him to leave the house. After knocking Hughes to the floor, Carver inflicted the fatal wounds with the ragged end of a large piece of wood, it was said.

Hall and two alleged accomplices, William Dixon of Philadelphia and Miss Lucy Halcomb, 33, of Richmond, were arrested on Pennsylvania Avenue near Lafayette Market. Police said the trio was waiting for a victim.

Identified by Victim

Mrs. Marshall was called to the station to identify them. She had been duped by the old drop-pocketbook game, drawing money from a branch bank on Pennsylvania Avenue to post as security in the division of a mythical $1000 find.

Detectives said both Miss Halcomb and Dixon are members of Hall's gang and wanted in other cities for similiar crimes.

Dixon was ordered extradited to Washington, where he is wanted in connection with the theft of $200, and picking the pockets of two men.

Miss Halcomb is believed to be wanted in Pittsburgh, Boston and Washington for obtaining several thousand dollars by the drop-pocketbook game.

Slays Man for Alleged Attack

Woman Escapes; Ordered Held by Coroner

An absentee verdict ordering that Miss Isadora Smith, 24, of 939 Shields Place be held for the grand jury on charges of murder in the shooting of Jack James, 38, of 915 Argyle Avenue on Friday was returned by a coroner's jury, Tuesday.

Miss Smith, who has not been apprehended, was ordered held in a disposition signed by Dr. F. L. C. Helm following an inquest. The man was shot, police say, after Miss Smith accused him of criminally abusing her following a New Year's party.

Sergt. Albert Kirwan of the Northwestern district testified that Miss Smith attended a party at James's home, Thursday night, and was put to bed there. When she awoke and found James in the room, she accused him of criminally abusing her.

The woman obtained James's pistol from beneath his pillow and, despite his repeated denials that he had molested her, fired three shots into his body, police said.

Witness Denies Assault

The deceased man's alleged sweetheart, Miss Mary Chalk, of 828 W. Franklin Street, who was in the room at the time of the shooting, notified police.

In her testimony, Miss Chalk denied that James had abused Miss Smith. She gave officers a description of the party and related how she was threatened by Miss Smith following the slaying.

JEALOUS CUTTER IS UNDER $5,000 BOND

Charged with stabbing Walter Marrow of 851 Lemmon Street, during a quarrel caused by jealousy, Miss Edith Palmer, 39, of 128 Jasper Court was ordered held for the grand jury under $5,000 bond, Thursday.

Police stated that Marrow received severe wounds of the head and face. At the hearing in the police court, Miss Palmer refused to testify in her own defense.

Gun Began It

Confronted by statements that he stole a revolver and threatened William Matthews of 1418 Mulberry Street, Frank Derico, 33, of 3055 Parrish Street, was held for the grand jury, Sunday.

Police stated that Derico stole a revolver from his employer, Walter Richwiew, white, of 1811 W. Lexington Street. An hour later while in a tavern, Derico threatened Matthews with the revolver but was unarmed and later beaten by Matthews.

Obtained Warrant

Derico, it was stated, obtained a warrant for Matthews on Christmas charging that he had been beaten. Before Matthews could be arrested, Derico was arrested and committed to jail on charges of disorderly conduct.

In the meantime, Matthews was arrested and explained the circumstances of his altercation with Derico. After an investigation, police obtained warrants accusing Derico of theft and assault and arrested him when released from jail.

Commissioner Explains New License Tag Law

In an effort to clarify the situation caused by the change in time for issuing automobile licenses, Commissioner Walter R. Rudy, white, has requested operators not to obtain their tags before March 15.

The fact that numerous 1937 Maryland license plates are being displayed now Mr. Rudy explained by saying:

"The law permits us to issue 1937 tags prior to March 15 only to owners titling their cars in Maryland for the first time. For instance, if you have moved here from another State and are transferring the title of your car to the Maryland files, you can get the new tags. If you did not own a car in 1936 and buy one now, you can get new tags. If you owned one or more cars in 1936 and had tags for them but now are buying an additional car or cars, you can get new tags for the new car, but must wait until March 15 to get new tags for the old cars."

New Law is Cause

The tag tangle has been precipitated by the new law extending the period for 1936 tags to April 1, 1937. In past years the tag year has changed with the calendar year. The net effect to the motorist is to give him 15 months to drive on his present tags.

The crowds at the Motor Vehicle Commissioner's office have been augmented in the last few days by Marylanders living near the District of Columbia line who used the cheaper District tags in the past, but this year, warned of strict enforcement of the law, are taking out Maryland licenses.

Thanks A MILLION
. . . . and more!
The AFRO-AMERICAN is grateful for the recognition by national and local advertisers which made possible this year the greatest volume of advertising lines in AFRO-AMERICAN history:
1,350,000 LINES!
We believe this is the largest number of display lines ever carried by a colored newspaper publication in the history of Negro journalism in the United States.
We believe that advertisers will spend even more in advertising in the AFRO-AMERICAN in 1937 and here's why we think so.
1. The AFRO serves the richest and most intelligent and most densely populated section of Negroes in America from New York to Virginia.
2. The circulation of the AFRO-AMERICAN is concentrated in four great centers of Negro industry, education and economic advancement, ie: Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia, and New York.
3. The AFRO-AMERICAN is the best read of all colored newspapers. Reader interest begets advertising results.
4. The AFRO-AMERICAN offers a type of merchandising co-operation comparable to that of the leading metropolitan newspapers.
