Baptist Clerics Veto Idea of Formal Worship

Declaring that many church services were too littered with hodgepodge and that worship was drowned in a mass of absurdities and sacrilege the Rev. J. H. Waller retired minister, urged the Baptist ministers to adopt a more formal matter of worship, at their meeting Monday.

That some type of formal liturgy in the Baptist church would not be acceptable to the ministers was pointed out by the Rev. Mr. Allen pastor of the Leadenhall Baptist Church, who said that the lessones in organization was an advantage that allowed a Baptist minister to swing to whatever appeal was necessary in his services.

Reject "Canned" Religion

The Rev. F. W. White of Provident Church told the group that he believed the church had gained rather than lost in not having a cut and dried liturgy. Too formal, set form of worship is like "canned" religion, and comparatively stale. he said. Our success must be counted in results. "It is because of the refreshing changeableness of our services that we have grown faster than any of the other denominations. Winning souls to Christ and not exhibiting formality of service is our task," he said.

Enviroment Determines

The type of service is determined by the type of people who are members of a church, the Rev. J. R. Butler pastor of Union Baptist Church No. 2 said. "While we do have more members than any other denomination except the Roman Catholic, we are doing less than other denominations in putting over a constructive program," he said.

There will never be uniformity of worship in the Baptist Church because of temperamental differences, the Rev. Timothy Boddie, pastor of Union Baptist Church said. The type of worship will vary with the type of people and type of talent the people have who attend the individual church, he said.

The Rev. Junius Gray and the Rev. Simon Williamson who also spoke told the group that the form of worship did not count so much as did the conversion of the people.

REJECT BIASED LITERATURE, M. E. PREACHERS URGED BY REV. MR. HAYES

The Rev. D. W. Hayes, guest speaker at the M.E. ministers' meeting on Wednesday, advised his fellow-preachers to reject vile publications from white authors clothed with prejudice.

Speaking on the subject, "The Need of Spread of Good Literature through the Agency of the Preacher," he said: "It is to be regretted that so much literature in various forms, printed and put into circulation by white authors is warped by prejudice when treating matters pertaining to our group. We should promptly reject such publication."

To Encourage Manliness

He told his audience that the literature needed today, is that type that will encourage true manliness, purity, courage, justice and hope.

"Experience has shown that the most effective way to curtail the circulation and stamp out bad character-blasting literature is by striving earnestly to install good literature in its place.

"We should see to it that the homes and church schools under our supervision, both in the cities and in the country, are supplied with literature that is known to be wholesome and character building," he said.

Criticizes Group

The Rev. Edgar A. Love, district superintendent of the Washington Conference, said that some of the ministers read true story and other secular magazines and do not subscribe to the church publications as they should.

"We have ministers who convives for contamination of the minds of the younger set who pay most attention to the nude pictures on periodicals.

Church papers are not permitted to take in all forms of advertising and cost more than order of a similar class, he declared.

Names Mentioned

Among those who were cited by the preachers' meeting as personages who have contributed to their respective fields were: Poets — Paul Laurence Dunbar, James Weldon Johnson, Countee Cullen, Langston Hughes, and William Stanley Braithwaite; news editors —Carl Murphy, P. B. Young, T. M. Fortune, Robert N. Brooks, and R. R. Wright; and writers — Booker T. Washington, Kelly Miller, T. D. Brown and E. A. Haynes.

Railroad Cars in the Far South Are Called Dirty

CHICAGO —(ANP)— Recently returned from a trip through the South, Dr. Harry F. Waring, former president of the National Association of Colored Women and editor of the National Women's Magazine, this week urged continuation of the fight against Jim Crow practices in the South. She said:

"The practice of having separate coaches, waiting rooms and eating houses is so needless that in some places it is laughable. Along the road in Mississippi and nearby states the waiting room is often a wooden pen of twin stalls by the roadside with 'colored' painted on one rail and 'white' on another.

"Restaurants frequently have two front doors, one for white, the other for colored. One counter running to the back of the lunchroom. Separate service to both white and colored from the same coffee urn, cake stand, etc. Now what effect has it? Is it conducive to better citizenship?

"The railroad takes advantage of the attitude toward Negroes and frequently uses worn-out coaches, dirty, dilapidated seats although the same fare is paid. What can be done about it? We will protest and insist on coaches without torn, worn out seats; on white men, even trainmen, not occupying a part of the coach, on civil answers to questions, etc. So many unlawful things have been added lately, this might well be a part of the National recovery program."

20-Day Convocation for Churches of God

Bishop C. H. Mason is the founder and senior Bishop of this church, which has more than 200,000 members in the U.S. and many foreign countries.

"Warm Away" the tightness of your CHEST COLD
Everyone knows the soothing comfort of the hot cloth, the hot water bottle, the electric pad! Each generation has its favorite method of applying heat to the body to relieve congestion and discomfort.
Today—the modern way to "warm away" tightness and pressure of your chest cold is with Penetro, the super-medicated, mutton-suet base family salve.
When a chest cold brings you that "congested feeling," rub on Penetro and feel quick, comforting relief. Because Penetro is super-medicated with 113% to 227% more medication than any other nationally sold cold salve, it creates thorough counter-irritant action to increase blood flow and stimulate greater body heat. That's why Penetro makes your cold discomfort feel so much easier.
Not only does Penetro help to create this increased body heat but because it is made with an animal fat base of mutton suet, it helps to "hold in" this heat by conserving and concentrating it. The aromatic vapors of Penetro are inhaled into nasal passages to open up stuffy noses, make breathing easier. Trial size, 10c. Economy size jars, 35c, 60c and $1.

Virginia Union Singers Give Varied Program

An audience which filled all but the balcony of the Sharon Baptist Church assembled Monday evening to hear the Virginia Union University Choral Club of which Mrs. Aldena Windham Davis is director in a program sponsored by the college's Baltimore alumni.

Rounds of genuine applause greeted the chorus's renditions which ranged from such ambitious numbers as Bach's "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring" to the more simple folk melodies of the spirituals, most of which were Dett arrangements.

A Cappella was Feature

All of the numbers were rendered a cappella except the Bach selection for which Robert B. Johnson, a member of the Union faculty was accompanist. Mr. Johnson also played a piano solo, Schubert's Minuet in B Minor.

A highlight of the program was the interlude of solos sung by Miss Mildred E. James of the chorus, which included "Whither?" by Schubert; "My Queen" by Brahms; "Spond 'Th Ma Chaisis, and "The Little Sandman" by Brahms. Mr. Johnson was Miss James's accompanist.

Four Tchaikovsky pieces were given by the group most outstanding of which were "Hymn to the Trinity" and "O, Praise Ye God." Dett's arrangement of the spiritual, "I'm Never Turn Back No More" also received much tribute as did "Angelic choir" by Goldbeck-Aschenbrenner, particularly noteworthy for the unusual sequence which gave the effect of a stringed instrument.

Other numbers were "A Legend" and "Cherubim Song (No. 3)" Tschaikowsky; "Don't You Weep No More Mary" by Dett; "As by Streams of Babylon," Campion-Dett; "I Am Seeking for a City," Dett; "Let Us Cheer the Weary Traveler," Dett; "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," Huntley; and "Better Be Ready," Dett.

Chevrolet Hints Used Car as an All-Family Gift

A custom which has been gaining popularity during recent years is that of giving automobiles as Christmas presents.

Automobile dealers throughout the country have done much to encourage the practice and Chevrolet reports that its dealers will gladly extend the same courtesy on used cars, which thousands of thrifty buyers will be giving for Christmas this year.

Gift for Entire Family

"There are many reasons for the popularity of giving automobiles for Christmas," said a company official this week. "They are sure to be appreciated by the whole family. If the car is a second car, made necessary as more and more members of the family learn to drive, the greater freedom of movement which it provides will be welcome all round.

"A car that has recently been checked over to make sure it is in good shape—one with battery fully charged, electrical system in order, and everything properly lubricated—should prove to be a good investment. And that is what the buyer gets when he selects a Chevrolet dealer's OK used car," he said.
