The testimony of Miss Maggie Maitland, of 623 George Street, who peeped from behind her window shades, identifying John, whom she knew quite well, was the damaging blow.

Howard Asks 20 for G.O.P. Policy Making

Committeeman Not Satisfied with Eight Places

WASHINGTON

Perry W. Howard, national committeeman for Mississippi, this week urged the Republican national committee to name twenty colored persons to its policy-writing committee, instead of eight, as reported from St. Louis.

Mr. Howard telegraphed Chairman John D. M. Hamilton and said that the decision to name sixteen Jews and thirty Catholics made it imperative that colored citizens receive more representation.

Suggests Eleven Names

Mr. Howard suggested the names of eleven persons, one of whom is white, for the committee. The white person is Col. Arthur Little, who served with the old 15th New York Infantry, which was attached to the French Army during the World War.

The others were:

R. R. Church and G. W. Lee of Memphis, Roscoe C. Simmons of Chicago, James A. Cobb, J. Finley Wilson, William C. Hueston, and Henry Lincoln Johnson, Jr., of Washington; Mrs. Sara Pelham Speaks of New York, Dr. J. R. A. Crossland of St. Joseph, Mo., and Edward W. Henry of Philadelphia.

How Capital Will Help Spread Christmas Cheer

By RICHARD ANDREWS

WASHINGTON

As the Yuletide season approaches and the populace of the capital city is busy buying gifts for friends, it is hoped that the more favored group will remember the underprivileged at this season of the year.

The true Christmas spirit consists in helping those who are unable to help themselves.

Washingtonians, as a whole, plan to do everything they can to make Christmas, a joyous season for the less fortunate inhabitants. Charitable organizations such as the Salvation Army, Settlement Houses, and the Community Center will take the load, as usual, in helping needy children and families.

To Give Toys

Aside from its usual Christmas dinner for the homeless and unemployed, the Salvation Army, under the direction of Major Roberts, will distribute 200 baskets, each one containing enough food for seven persons. Three-hundred and seventy-five children will receive toys in accordance with their ages.

Theaters to Give Party

The Lichtman Theaters will hold their annual Christmas party in every city where they are located, on December 27. A special show for children will be given, after which dolls, candy, and other favors will be distributed.

The Southwest, Northwest, and Southeast Settlement Houses will have Christmas trees and parties for the nursery school children, featuring, games, songs, refreshments, and an exchange of presents.

On December 29, the children of the Northwest Settlement House will present programs at the St. Anna Home and the Stoddard Baptist Home. These programs, will be under the direction of Miss A. L. Streets, music director.

Students at Shaw Junior High are learning what the true Christmas spirit means at an early age. Each day, these pupils are bringing in new and old toys for the underprivileged kiddies. These toys will be re-conditioned in the school's shop.

Legionnaires Aid

The Garnet-Patterson Community Center and the James Reese Europe Post, American Legion, are preparing to distribute fuel, clothing and baskets of food to the needy.

Individuals are asked to send articles that might be of use to some one in less fortunate circumstances to Miss Ella Johnson at Garnet-Patterson Junior High School.

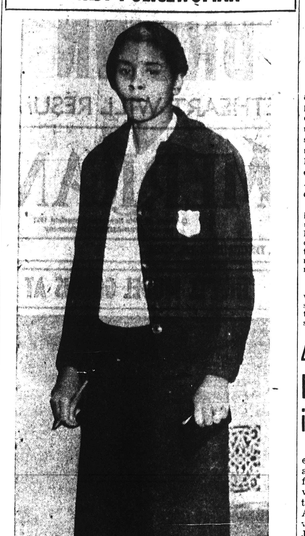
The Crystal Caverns and the Howard Theater have not completed their holiday plans, but in keeping with their custom, these two places of entertainment will make their contributions before the holiday season is over.

Boy Scouts, Too

In addition, the Boy Scouts and cubs of Troop 508 are also collecting toys for distribution to poor children.

Churches, religious organizations and social clubs, will add their collections to that of many persons who will give money and food to the poor, but prefer to withhold their identity.

FIRST POLICEWOMAN



MRS. VIOLET HILL WHYTE, Baltimore, who was appointed last week. She will work from the Northwestern district.

"Interesting," Says Mrs. Whyte of Job

Completing her first week of duty as Baltimore's first colored policewoman, Mrs. Violet Hill Whyte reported satisfactory progress, Monday.

Found busy interviewing clients in her office on the second floor of the Northwestern district police station, Mrs. Whyte paused long enough to tell an AFRO - AMERICAN reporter that, "her work is intensely interesting and very far reaching and that she is catching step in the regular routine."

Has Respect of All

Mrs. Whyte immediately gained the respect and co-operation of her superiors and the officers in the district, and has impressed all with whom she works by her quiet business-like manner.

During her first week Mrs. Whyte made two arrests and straightened out many tangled domestic problems ranging from unruly children to differences between husbands and wives.

At both the morning and afternoon sessions of the magistrate's hearings, she is an interested spectator and is often seen leaving the courtroom to confer with troubled parties.

2 HELD ON WEAPON CHARGE

Joseph Taylor, 19, of 1639 Laitvale Street, was given thirty days in Jail and Jesse Stokes, 31, of 649 Pierce Street was fined $15 and cost when arrested last week for carrying loaded revolvers.

City-Wide Yule Sing Announced

An invitation to all churches and religious organizations to participate in the division of recreation's second annual Christmas carol sing and pageant to be staged on the front of the Cosmopolitan Community Church on December 23, at 8 p.m., has been extended this week, through the AFRO-AMERICAN, which is cooperating in this activity.

The front of the church is being converted into a stage and used as a background for the Nativity scenes, which will include the shepherds watching their flocks; the angelic host, the manger scene, and the three wise men.

Two Santas to Preside

Two decorated Christmas trees with a typical Santa Claus beside each, will be stationed on the next elevation below these scenes. Fifty children from the various sections of Baltimore will take stands on the side steps, to form a background for the 100-voice vested choir.

Costumes, vestments, and all needed properties are nearing completion in the Craft Shoppe, under the direction of Mrs. Hattie B. Smith and her corps of assistants.

Miss Georgeanna McMechen, who has charge of the choir, is conducting rehearsals. "We Three Kings" by the male chorus; "O Holy Night," and the spiritual, "Go Tell It on the Mountain," will be sung in addition to a number of the most familiar carols.

Mr. Kincaid of the Bureau of Public Highways has arranged for the stage, lighting effects, Christmas trees, and various properties needed to add to the pageantry.

Auto Operators Receive Warning

The commissioner of motor vehicles announced this week that the time has almost expired when registration operator's cards can be issued by the department.

According to the announcement, approximately 324,000 out of 450,000 operators have applied for re-registration operators' licenses.

The attorney general's office has advised that it will be impossible for the Governor to grant an extension of time.

All licenses received with postmarks later than midnight December 31, 1937, will be returned to the sender with instructions to appear for the regular examination, and the cost will then be $3.50 instead of $1.

aid and Pyle; toys from Bassetts; candy from the Louise candy shop, and other contributions.

A Christmas tree has been erected in the lobby of the Royal Theatre and will be decorated by the women's auxiliary of the Federal and Walter Green Posts of the American Legion, who will also distribute the gifts at the party.

Five Seeking Donations

Five persons are contacting merchants and individuals for donations, and attending to other duties relative to the work.

In addition to a Western picture, an animated cartoon a few selected acts from the current Black and White review, Mr. Brown, assistant manager of the Royal, told the AFRO on Thursday that several of the members of the Royal Kiddie Club will participate in the entertainment.

The American Oil Company has promised to distribute approximately 2,000 pop guns and stamp albums.

4 Algic Seamen File Demurrer in Mutiny Case

BALTIMORE—A demurrer asking the court to quash an indictment charging fourteen seamen from whom are colored, with mutiny aboard the freighter Algic was held under advisement on Thursday by Judge Calvin Chestnut in Federal Court.

Although the judge held the motion under consideration, he said he probably would overrule the demurrer.

The seamen, who have been released on $500 bail each, were indicted by a Federal grand jury on a charge of endeavoring to make a revolt and conspiracy to make such a revolt on the Algic when she was anchored off Montevideo, Uruguay, last September.

Defense Money Sought

The defense in the Algic Defense Committee of the National Maritime Union of New York City, issued last week, called upon trade unions and liberal organizations to aid in the defense of the accused men.

"This whole barrage of attacks on the maritime unions," the letter also says, "is a smokescreen under cover of which certain legislation limiting the union's right to strike can be railroaded through Congress by ship owners.

"The Algic trial is the spearhead of that attack, it is nothing more nor less than a frame-up."

School Board Fight Taken to Jackson

our association. We also have a large representation of fair-minded white people who are backing us, including churches, organizations and individuals."

Avoid Segregation

When in response to the petition Mayor Jackson said that he would not appoint a colored person simply because he was a colored person, the Rev. Robert G. Leetch, white, chairman of the Interracial Committee of the Council of Churches, pointed out that Baltimore had a segregated school system and that in view of that fact there must be colored representation.

Mrs. Elvira M. Bond, Republican committewoman, stressed the necessity for having a representative on the policy making body of the school system, and Edward S. Lewis, secretary of the Urban League, told of inequalities in the school set-ups and the definite feeling of the colored community that it was not getting equal treatment in branches of the city school system.

A statement from the mayor that the system had a colored assistant superintendent was corrected to show that the position was a director of colored schools, and not an assistant superintendent.

The following persons were present for the conference:

The Rev. A. J. Payne, pastor Enon Baptist Church; Edward S. Lewis, executive secretary, Baltimore Urban League; the Rev. R. Leetch, white, pastor, Second Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Rev Asbury Smith, white, president, Peace Council of the State; Dr. John O. Spencer, president emeritus, Morgan College.

Mesdames Vivian G. Alleyne, social worker, Maryland Children's Aid Society; Marian Cruikshank, white, Women; Milton C. Lang, white, chairman, Race Relations State Council; Mesdames H. Milton Wagner, white, president, Women's Interdenominational Council, and Park Avenue Friends' School; M Edwin Thomas white, board member, Council of Churches, Lowry Hoskeith, vice-president, Association for the Handicapped; S. L. LeCompte, white, secretary, Interdenominational Union; Elvira M. Bond,* State central committee;

Robert W. Coleman, manager, Association for the Handicapped, and Miss Flossie E. White, secretary, Association for the Handicapped.
