United Front Against Evils Urged by Davis

New Yorker Tells Forum to Press for Full Rights

"Those people who are not ready to become members of the National Negro Congress, nevertheless, should join forces with groups that are prepared to fight the housing situation, civil rights and relief conditions in Baltimore," declared Ben Davis, New York attorney and writer, at the Workers' Forum on Sunday.

Mr. Davis told his audience that there is no city that needs a branch of the congress as badly as Baltimore and a united front of all groups is the only manner in which most of those difficulties will be overcome.

He also stressed the role of the colored people in the struggle against reaction, saying that they will be the ones who will suffer most from its program.

Herndon to Speak

Angelo Herndon is scheduled to speak at the January 9 meeting, and Henry Winston of St. Louis, Mo., will be the guest on January 23.

Housing Group in E. Baltimore Meets

Members of the East Baltimore housing group met at the North Carelina Mutual office, this week and planned a mass meeting early next month for the purpose of making the people in that area housing conscious.

A letter from George B. Murphy, Sr., member of the Baltimore Housing Authority, recently appointed by Mayor Jackson, stated that he would be willing to receive and present claims of the organization and the colored housing committee to the commission as soon as the time was ripe.

Mr. Murphy was one of the Housing Authority in Washing- group which met with the U.S., ton recently.

School 101 Has Christmas Program

A Christmas program for the 2,700 pupils of School 101 was held at two assemblies in the Dunbar Junior High School auditorium, Wednesday.

Carols were sung by the 100-voice chorus, directed by Miss Margaret DeMan, and Mrs. Elizabeth Henderson, vice principal, told the Christmas story to the primary and sight conservation pupils. Mrs. Ariel Brooks also told a story.

Mrs. Mary P. Horsey told the Christmas story to the second assembly and Clarence F. Gross and George F. Bryan rendered vocal solos. Samuel Phillips, instructor, gave a Christmas wish and Elmer A. Henderson, principal, the New Year wish.

The auditorium of school 101, under the direction of Mrs. Lillie Mae Eubanks, was converted into a veritable Santa Land. The pupils of the intermediate grades had brought toys and filled the stage and room with them. The children of Grades 1, 2, and 3 were wide-eyed with delight as they entered the auditorium. Santa was played by John Chappie, who talked to the kiddies, heard their wishes, and accepted their notes and letters.

Tubman Students to Deliver Baskets

Many contributions were made at the Harriet Tubman School 114 to the Christmas baskets annually distributed by the pupils to the poor and needy.

At least one needy family in every class is surprised on Christmas Day as has been the custom here for a number of years. Programs were held by the older primary pupils and the boys and girls of the shop center.
