"Sing a Song of Sixpence, A Pocketful of Rye"
But Who Wants a Mere Pocketful?
Apply GRANULAR 'AERO' CYANAMID to your cover crop and you will get—not a pocketful—but tons of rye or any other cover crop.
At the end of the season—after you have harvested a cash crop—your soil needs additional nitrogen to grow a good cover crop. GRANULAR 'AERO' CYANAMID supplies that needed nitrogen.
'Aero' Cyanamid grows heavier cover crops. And heavier cover crops mean more organic matter to plow under. And more organic matter means richer humus. And richer humus means better crops next spring.
Order Your Supply of GRANULAR 'AERO' CYANAMID From Your Fertilizer Dealer Now, and Apply It Before You Seed Your Cover Crop
