Advertiſement.

THE ſubſcriber begs leave to return his moſt ſincere thanks to the public, and particularly thoſe gentlemen who kindly favored him with their patronage during the time he kept a public houſe at No. 4, ſouth Gay-ſtreet. He has been deceived, inaſmuch as ſeveral perſons whom he viewed as friends have turned out traitors, who were leading him into the moſt deſtructive paths in this world, to the injury of both his character and ſmall property. However, he has found them out, though too late for his good. He is unfortunately a ſtranger in this country, but in a particular manner he is a ſtranger to the laws of this city—and not knowing the decree or decrees of the honorable mayor and city council, he has been obliged to pay and repay fines, occaſioned by certain low, bad intentioned fellows. He therefore gives public notice, that from this day declines keeping a public houſe, and hereafter none but his friends, and gentlemen for their peaceable amuſement, ſhall play at his PRIVATE BILLIARD TABLE. He does promiſe that he will prevent common ſort of perſons from making free as they would at a public houſe.

To pleaſe his friends he will provide news from the north and ſouth, &c. and ſhall do all in his power to accommodate them, and all he aſks in return, is their eſteem and good will.

The public's obedient and humble ſervant,

I. G. SEGERSTROM.*

N. B. All thoſe indebted are requeſted to make payment, as he muſt pay thoſe to whom he is indebted—at leaſt, they will pleaſe to call and make ſettlements to prevent bad conſequences.
