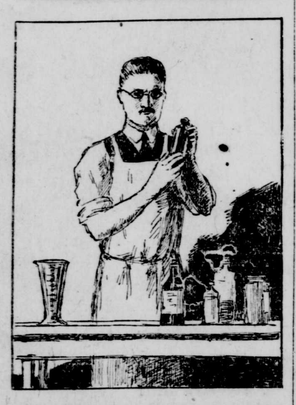
HEARN GASOLINE

Is Uniform and Dependable because it is tested before it is sold

A test to which all Hearn Gasoline is subjected is the Sulphur Test. This is important to every user of Hearn Gasoline.



Equal quantities of Hearn Gasoline and a mixture of distilled water, caustic soda, and litharge are shaken up in a bottle; then the gasoline, which is lighter, rises to the top. Should a light brown ring show between the gasoline and the heavier mixture, it would indicate the presence of a trace of sulphur. Should a dark cloudiness appear in the heavier mixture, it would indicate sulphur in greater quantity.

Sulphur in gasoline corodes certain metal parts with which it comes into contact. Corrosion frequently results in valves not seating properly, it causes the early replacement of valves and other parts.

Hearn Gasoline never has the faintest trace of sulphur. It is always tested for sulphur before it is sold. The name "Hearn" on a filling station assures you of a gasoline that will not injure your motor in any way—because it has been tested and found to measure up to the Hearn specification.

ANOTHER SPECIFICATION, EQUALLY IMPORTANT, TO WHICH ALL HEARN GASOLINE IS SUBJECTED, WILL BE EXPLAINED IN THE NEXT ADVERTISEMENT.

Luck and Lack

Messages to Seekers of Success

Don't trust to luck. Luck is untrustworthy. Systematic, scientific striving for any goal is far more likely to bring you success than any mere faith in your success.

Just as changing a single letter changes "Luck" to "Lack," so will the reverses of a single day change plenty to want. But you can insure yourself against this by building your success on the habit of saving.

Save and Win

Be well dressed. Make friends. Increase your influence in your community. Enjoy the respect of all your associates.

These things do not come to those who trust to luck for them. Systematic saving will win them for you. Systematic saving will accumulate for you a small fortune that can safely and readily be expanded to a large one.

Wrong Numbers

Less than one per cent of the thousands of calls sent over the wires are made to wrong numbers. Even this small percentage is annoying to you and we are constantly working to reduce it.

Wrong numbers are due to mistakes made either by the person calling or by the operator. Users may depend upon their memory instead of looking in the telephone directory; they may speak indistinctly; they may fail to talk directly into the mouthpiece. The operator, with thousands of lines before her, may plug into the wrong line; she may misunderstand the number given or she may repeat it incorrectly to the operator at another office.

In training, supervising and directing our operators WE MAKE EVERY EFFORT TO AVOID THE GIVING OF WRONG NUMBERS. And you will assist us if you will observe the following rules:

1. Always look in the directory for the number.
2. In asking for a number, place your lips close to the telephone and speak slowly and distinctly.
3. Listen to the operator when she repeats the number so that you may correct her if necessary.

An observance of these simple rules will help us to give you better telephone service.
