MAKE IT NATION WIDE

Daily we read of grade crossing accidents with the inevitable death list.

Warning devices, gates, flagmen and even approaching trains which are in plain sight fail to deter many drivers in their mad attempts to cross tracks without hesitating a few seconds.

In their determination to eliminate railroad crossing accidents, the cities of North Chicago, Illinois and Waukegan, Wisconsin, have passed ordinances which provide that all vehicles, automobiles, trucks and other conveyances propllled by animal or other power and used in, and upon the streets and public highways within the citiy limits, shall, when approaching a railroad crossing, be brought to a full stop ten feet therefrom and the driver ascertain if the way is clear before proceeding to cross.

Penalty for violating the ordiance is a fine of not less than $5 or more than $200 for each offense. Similar city ordinances or state laws throughout the country would reduce to a minimum the grade crossing death toll which runs between 10,000 and 15,000 persons annually.

Such a law which saves life would be, instead of an expense to the taxpayers, a money-maker through fines collected for law breaking.
